Multicultural Center

About the Center

The UNT Multicultural Center was established with the goal that it would be a place where students and community members could experience the cultural wealth of the University, with a central purpose to teach culture through student involvement. Programs and activities sponsored by the Multicultural Center are developed with the intention of increasing the level of awareness, understanding, and consciousness regarding the under-represented cultures and histories of people of African, Hispanic/Latino, Asian/Pacific Islander, and Native American descents.

The Multicultural Center is responsible for planning University-wide activities during Hispanic Heritage Month, Native American Month, Black History Month, Asian/Pacific Heritage Month, and assists in the planning of Women's History Month, International Week, and many other cultural programs.

In addition to working closely with a number of student organizations, the Multicultural Center has established the Alton and Renay Scales Ethnic Studies Library, which maintains a basic collection of works relevant to the experiences of African, Hispanic/Latino, Asian, and Native American Peoples. These resources are available to all university students, faculty, and staff for research or general information purposes.

The Center also features a lounge area for students, computers and printers for students' use, and a photocopying service for student organizations. Please come by the Center today-relax between classes, visit with friends, or catch up on the latest "cultural news".

Welcome to Counseling and Testing Services

We consist of two inter-related parts: The Student Counseling Center (SCC) and Testing Services. We exist to serve the students and community of UNT in support of the mission of the University.

Through our Student Counseling Center services, we strive to support the academic success and general well-being of UNT students through professional counseling, career counseling, consultation, mental-health screenings, educational programs and self-help resources as well as a referral services. We offer to consult with Students, Parents, Faculty and Staff who may be concerned about a UNT student (while still respecting the confidentiality of our clients). With client permission, we often work closely with physicians and psychiatrists, the Career Center, Office of Disability Accommodation, and many other helpful resources in order to provide the best overall care. We value diversity and students can expect to be treated in a respectful and accepting manner.

Testing Services provides a wide range of services including traditional admissions testing, computer-based testing, career testing, and other tests. Please peruse the Counseling and Testing Services site to learn more about the specifics of our services, our privacy policy, how to access each service we offer and how to get the most from them. If you have questions, please call (940) 565-2735.

WHAT CAN I DO AS A PARENT?

Anticipate that your son/daughter will have new ideas about the world.

It's a sign you've done your job well!

Expect they may be worried about sharing these new concepts with you.

They just want you to be proud of them.

Provide a safe space for your son/daughter to express themselves.

Listen to the reasoning behind their new ideas, if you still disagree with them.

Communicate ability to agree to disagree.

Respect their view while maintaining your own.
