

University of North Texas College of Music
Announcement of Faculty Position
Assistant Professor in Composition

- Duties Teach composition lessons and related courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Courses will include orchestration, composition seminar, and may also include courses in other areas within the candidate's specialization. Maintain a public profile as a composer and participate in academic activities.
- Qualifications An active composer of concert music with an established career of national note, or evidence of potential for such recognition, such as major prizes or awards. Teaching experience at an advanced level is required. The candidate must hold an earned doctorate at the time of appointment, or must have established a record of performances by top-tier performing ensembles sufficient for it to be considered in lieu of earned doctorate.
- Rank, Salary Full-time, tenure-track position, at the rank of Assistant Professor; salary commensurate with qualifications and experience
- Starting Date August 28, 2013
- Materials All applicants must apply online at facultyjobs.unt.edu. Upload cover letter, curriculum vitae, up to four representative scores (in pdf format as "Sample Publications" or "Other Document"), statements of creative/research interests and teaching philosophy, and contact information for three references. Audio and video recordings may not be uploaded to this website, but should be posted on a personal/professional website or sent to Dr. Joseph Klein at the address below. Electronic submission of recordings and scores is strongly encouraged.
- Application All applicants must apply online at facultyjobs.unt.edu; questions about the online application procedure may be directed to vpaa@unt.edu.
