SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) From 2014 through 2018, the United States and nations around the world will mark the centennial of World War I, including the entry of the United States into the war in April 1917.

(2) America's support of Great Britain, France, Belgium, and its other allies in World War I marked the first time in United States history that American soldiers went abroad in defense of liberty against foreign aggression, and it marked the true beginning of the "American century".

(3) Although World War I was at the time called "the war to end all wars", in fact the United States would commit its troops to the defense of foreign lands 3 more times in the 20th century.

(4) More than 4,000,000 men and women from the United States served in uniform during World War I, among them 2 future presidents, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower. Two million individuals from the United States served overseas during World War I, including 200,000 naval personnel who served on the seas. The United States suffered 375,000 casualties during World War I, including 116,516 deaths.

(5) The events of 1914 through 1918 shaped the world, the United States, and the lives of millions of people.

(6) The centennial of World War I offers an opportunity for people in the United States to learn about and commemorate the sacrifices of their predecessors.

(7) Commemorative programs, activities, and sites allow people in the United States to learn about the history of World War I, the United States involvement in that war, and the war's effects on the remainder of the 20th century, and to commemorate and honor the participation of the United States and its citizens in the war effort.

(8) While the other great conflicts of the 20th century, World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War, have national memorials on the Mall in Washington, DC, there currently exists no national memorial honoring the service of the United States and its citizens in World War I.

(9) In 1921, the people of Kansas City, Missouri, dedicated a site in that city for a memorial to the service of Americans in World War I, a ceremony attended by General John J. Pershing and military leaders of Great Britain, France, Belgium, and Italy. In 1924, the cornerstone of the 217-foot Liberty Memorial Tower was laid. On Armistice Day 1926, President Calvin Coolidge delivered the key note address at the Memorial's dedication ceremony. The Memorial and surrounding grounds were completed in 1938, with an inscription that reads "In Honor of Those Who Served in the World War in Defense of Liberty and Our Country."

(10) The 106th Congress recognized the Liberty Memorial as a national symbol of World War I.

(11) The 108th Congress designated the museum at the base of the Liberty Memorial as "America's National World War I Museum". The museum preserves the story of World War I, and educates and enlightens people about this significant event.

SEC. 11. PROHIBITION ON OBLIGATION OF FEDERAL FUNDS.

Amend the title so as to read:

A bill to establish a commission to ensure a suitable observance of the centennial of World War I, to provide for the designation of memorials to the service of members of the United States Armed Forces in World War I, and for other purposes.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of H.R. 6364, as ordered reported, is to establish a commission to ensure a suitable observance of the centennial of World War I, and to provide for the designation of memorials to the service of members of the United States Armed Forces in World War I.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

From 1914 to 1918, World War I (WWI) took 116,516 American lives. To commemorate those lives, the people of Kansas City, Missouri, created a memorial with a 217 foot tower in 1938. The 106th Congress recognized the memorial as a national symbol of WWI.

The District of Columbia War Memorial was dedicated in 1931 in memory of the 499 D.C. residents who died in WWI. Although situated among the World War II Memorial, Korean War, and Vietnam Memorials, the D.C. War Memorial is not a national memorial.

The legislation designates the Kansas City work as the “National World War I Museum and Memorial” in an effort to raise its visibility as the centennial approaches.

Rather than redesignating the D.C. WWI Memorial as a national memorial, H.R. 6364 authorizes the World War I Memorial Foundation to create a commemorative work, such as a sculpture, to be placed on federal lands in the District of Columbia. The legislation further authorizes that the new memorial may be placed on the “reserve” of the National Mall, an area that was placed off-limits to new construction by the 108th Congress. However, the inclusion of the WWI work will complete the memorials to those who served in the great wars of the 20th century and will set a high standard beyond what the Committee foresees as attainable for other additions to the reserve. This narrow exemption does not reflect the Committee’s intent to authorize commemorative works on the National Mall in the future.

The legislation also creates a 12 member commission that would be charged with organizing activities to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the war. The commissioners would serve without pay and federal funds are prohibited for any project authorized by the legislation.

During Full Committee markup, an amendment offered by Congressman Rob Bishop (R-UT) was adopted to reduce the authorized footprint of the WWI Memorial from 1.5 acres to .5. While H.R. 6364 directed that the WWI Memorial be placed in the vicinity of Constitution Gardens on the National Mall, the amendment authorizes the Foundation to consider additional federal lands in the District of Columbia, and on the National Mall, including the reserve.

COMMITTEE ACTION

H.R. 6364 was introduced on September 10, 2012, by Congressman Ted Poe (R-TX). The bill was referred to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, and in addition to the Committee on Natural Resources. Within the Resources Committee, the bill was referred to the Subcommittee on National Parks, Forests and Public Lands. On September 11, 2012, the Subcommittee held a hearing on the bill. On December 5, 2012, the Full Natural Resources Committee met to consider the bill. The Subcommittee on National Parks, Forests and Public Lands was discharged by unanimous consent. Congressman Rob Bishop (R-UT) offered amendment designated .084 to the bill; the amendment was approved by unanimous consent. The bill, as amended, was then adopted and ordered favorably reported to the House of Representatives by unanimous consent.

COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Regarding clause 2(b)(1) of rule X and clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Natural Resources' oversight findings and recommendations are reflected in the body of this report.

COMPLIANCE WITH HOUSE RULE XIII

1. Cost of Legislation. Clause 3(d)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires an estimate and a comparison by the Committee of the costs which would be incurred in carrying out this bill. However, clause 3(d)(2)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the Committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974. Under clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 403 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received the following cost estimate for this bill from the Director of the Congressional Budget Office:

H.R. 6364—Frank Buckles World War I Memorial Act

H.R. 6364 would establish a commission to plan, develop, and execute programs, projects, and activities to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the First World War. The 12-member commission would be required to submit various reports to the Congress on its activities and recommendations for commemorating the event. The commission would terminate July 28, 2019. All commission members would serve without pay but would be reimbursed for travel expenses. In addition, the commission could hire staff and use personnel detailed from other federal agencies to complete its work.

In addition, the legislation would authorize the World War I Memorial Foundation to establish a National World War I Memorial in Washington, D.C., without federal funds, and it would designate the Liberty Memorial in Kansas City, Kansas, as the "National World War I Museum and Memorial."

Based on the costs of similar commissions and commemorative projects, CBO estimates that H.R. 6364 would cost about $4 million over the 2013–2017 period, subject to appropriation of the necessary amounts. Those funds would be used to plan, develop, and carry out activities and to prepare reports. Enacting H.R. 6364 would affect direct spending because it would authorize the commission to accept and spend monetary gifts, and the World War I Foundation would be required to provide funds to maintain the memorial authorized for Washington, D.C. Therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. However, CBO estimates that the net effect on direct spending would be insignificant. Enacting H.R. 6364 would not affect revenues.

H.R. 6364 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. The estimate was approved by Theresa Gullo, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

2. Section 308(a) of Congressional Budget Act. As required by clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, this bill does not contain any new budget authority, credit authority, or an increase or decrease in revenues or tax expenditures. Based on the costs of similar commissions and commemorative projects, CBO estimates that H.R. 6364 would cost about $4 million over the 2013–2017 period, subject to appropriation of the necessary amounts. Those funds would be used to plan, develop, and carry out activities and to prepare reports. Enacting H.R. 6364 would affect direct spending because it would authorize the commission to accept and spend monetary gifts, and the World War I Foundation would be required to provide funds to maintain the memorial authorized for Washington, D.C. Therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. However, CBO estimates that the net effect on direct spending would be insignificant.

3. General Performance Goals and Objectives. As required by clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII, the general performance goal or objective of this bill, as ordered reported, is to establish a commission to ensure a suitable observance of the centennial of World War I, and to provide for the designation of memorials to the service of members of the United States Armed Forces in World War I.

EARMARK STATEMENT

This bill does not contain any Congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined under clause 9(e), 9(f), and 9(g) of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives.

COMPLIANCE WITH PUBLIC LAW 104–4

This bill contains no unfunded mandates.

PREEMPTION OF STATE, LOCAL OR TRIBAL LAW

This bill is not intended to preempt any State, local or tribal law.

CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW

If enacted, this bill would make no changes in existing law.

DISSENTING VIEWS

The Majority has taken an honorable idea, commemorating those who fought in America's First Great War, and needlessly complicated the memorialization process by overriding important protections for the National Mall embodied in the Commemorative Works Act.

Section 8908 of the Commemorative Works Act prohibits development of new memorials within a reserved area generally represented by the cross-axis extending from the U.S. Capitol to the Lincoln Memorial and the White House to the Jefferson Memorial. Since 2003, it has been the view of both Republican and Democratic Congresses that the Reserve is a completed work of civic art within which no more development is to take place, including new memorials.

H.R. 6364, as amended, requires the World War I Memorial Foundation to work with the National Park Service, Fine Arts Commission, and the National Capitol Planning Commission to find an acceptable site and design for a memorial honoring World War I veterans. However, H.R. 6364 allows, for the first time in a decade, the potential for the development of a new memorial within the Reserve. While we are confident that the artistic and architectural experts involved in the process will find a suitable location elsewhere, this is a troubling precedent that we oppose.

We are not alone in our objections. The National Park Service expressed "serious concerns about the placement of any new commemorative work in the Reserve." They further noted that an existing national memorial to World War I veterans already exists in Washington, D.C. in Pershing Park. This location, on Pennsylvania Avenue between 14th and 15th Streets, could be enhanced to recognize an important era in American history.

Those who served and lost their lives in World War I should be honored. However, even the contemplation of additional development within the Reserve sends the wrong signals to proponents of this and other future memorials.
