

February 22, 1962

Today has been a truly significant one for me! It is my understanding that this remembered event gave to me the real privilege of being the second West Virginian serving in the United States Senate, to have read Washington's Farewell Address.

It was so wonderful to have my son, Frank, in the Gallery and to have my coworkers in our Office Staff in attendance.

I shall never forget the words "Citizens, by birth, or choice, of a common Country, that Country has a right to concentrate your affections" in the Address. They are so meaningful!

James Randolph - U.S. of C. 02.