Dear Parents:

McGruff® the Crime Dog and his nephew Scruff® appear in this comic-activity book to help your children learn how to make themselves safer.

We know that children trust and love McGruff (an adult figure). Children trust McGruff as an adult who cares about them and offers helpful advice. Scruff, who is a child figure, gets into situations children may have encountered or worried about, involving alcohol and other drugs, gangs, and weapons. By remembering his uncle's good advice, Scruff is better able to handle these problems.

In addition, the book invites children to be part of the story—to complete drawing, coloring, word, and problem-solving games that relate to the messages in the text.

How can you build on the book's messages? Invite your child to read the book aloud to you—and to younger children in the family or on the reservation. Teach your child about your own reservation or community—places to go for help, places to avoid, ways to resist peer pressure, what to do if a weapon or drugs turn up, and how to turn to adults for help.

Talk with others in your community about what you can do together to help protect your children.

Hey Kids! I'm McGruff the Crime Dog and this is my nephew Scruff—you may already know us. Sometimes Scruff gets into trouble, maybe just like you.

Let us show you what we mean. Look what happened when Scruff and his buddy Johnny were playing in Johnny's house. Watch!

Where's your video game, Johnny?

In my room. But first let me show you something in here.

Yikes!

This is where my Dad keeps his pistol and rifle. Want to hold one?

Come on Scruff. It won't bite you. Here, just hold it.

No...not really.

It's not loaded.

OK kids, Scruff has three choices here. Turn the page to see the consequences of those choices.

CHOICE 1:

Wow! This is cool.

CHOICE 2:

Put it back, Johnny. Let's play with something else.

CHOICE 3:

No thanks, Johnny. Besides, I just remembered I promised my uncle I'd help him chase parked cars!

CONSEQUENCE #1

Oops!

Uh-oh!

BLAM

We could have been killed!

Uh...I guess it was loaded.

CONSEQUENCE #2

Johnny's dad is really mad.

I told you never to touch my pistol or rifle. Someone might get hurt or even killed.

Scruff, I'm glad you didn't take the gun. Johnny, you're grounded. We'll talk about this later.

CONSEQUENCE #3

Yeah...well, see you later, Scruff.

Maybe Scruff's right. This could be dangerous. I'll tell my dad to lock up these guns.

Kids, in Choice 1, Johnny and Scruff shouldn't have been playing with the gun. Someone could have been killed.

In Choice 2, Johnny was wrong to play with the gun. Scruff was right in telling him to put it away, but Scruff should have done more. Scruff should also have left and told a grown-up.

In Choice 3, Scruff did the best thing. He said no to Johnny, got out of there fast, and went to talk to an adult.

Sometimes you find dangerous things where you least expect them.

Let's see how long we can stay upside down.

This is crazy! My hands hurt.

Uh-oh! What's this?

Drugs and pills, they can kill!

What will we do with them?

Let's take them to the police.

Let's not. Let's be smart and remember what my uncle told us to do if we find something dangerous.

Yeah!

What's the advice kids?

S- Stop and move away.

C- Careful, don't touch.

R- Run real fast and get a trusted adult, like an elder or a police officer.

U- Unsafe things like drugs or weapons could mess up your future.

F- Follow these rules to be safe and healthy.

F- Friends should be safe too.

And look what it spells.
S-C-R-U-F-F
SCRUFF!

Kids! What's wrong with the picture below? Find the ten things that are dangerous for kids. Draw a red "no" symbol (⊘) over the dangerous objects. Then color in the things that are safe and healthy. Have an adult check your work.

You know, just when I think Scruff is learning, he goes and does something not so smart. Look what happens when Scruff takes a short cut through the arcade.

Hey! Here's a short cut to the community center.

Wouldn't go in there, even on a dare.

No, it isn't safe.

Come on. I've gone this way lots of times.

It's not like it used to be. Now there are gangs.

Bad things like drug deals go on in there.

It looks okay. Let's go.

I'm not taking a chance, Lance.

Me either. We're outta here.

Well, well. Hello, Dog Face! Come to give us your sneakers?

Uh-oh!

Now what, Scruff? You got yourself into a mess. So it's time to start using your head.

Um...You guys really don't want my sneakers.

And why not?

Because I have a very contagious foot infection.

Whoa, don't get near us. We could catch it.

In fact, it's spreading all over my body.

I don't feel so good!

What's going on here?

Don't get near him. He's outrageous.

He's what?

Ummm...contagious. We were just leaving!

Yeah. Fast!

Well you coughed your way out of that one, Scruffo. You did a good job of tricking that gang. Your friends also helped you by getting an adult. Remember to stick with friends who do the right thing.

I'll do that Unc!

Kids, start at the bottom of this maze and help Scruff and his friends get to the community center. Do not cross any lines or go through any dangerous objects. Remember, in real life you should avoid dangerous places. Always walk with a friend rather than alone.

CHURCH

PLAZA

ELDER

Kids, I want to talk about something that's very serious. Sometimes children are touched by adults in ways that make them feel uncomfortable. The adult may be someone in the family or someone outside of the family—a friend or a stranger.

If someone touches your private parts—your body parts that are covered by your bathing suit—say "No!" and get away quickly. Tell an adult you trust. If that person doesn't believe you, keep telling until someone believes you.

You have a right to be safe. Other people don't have a right to hurt you or touch your body without your permission.

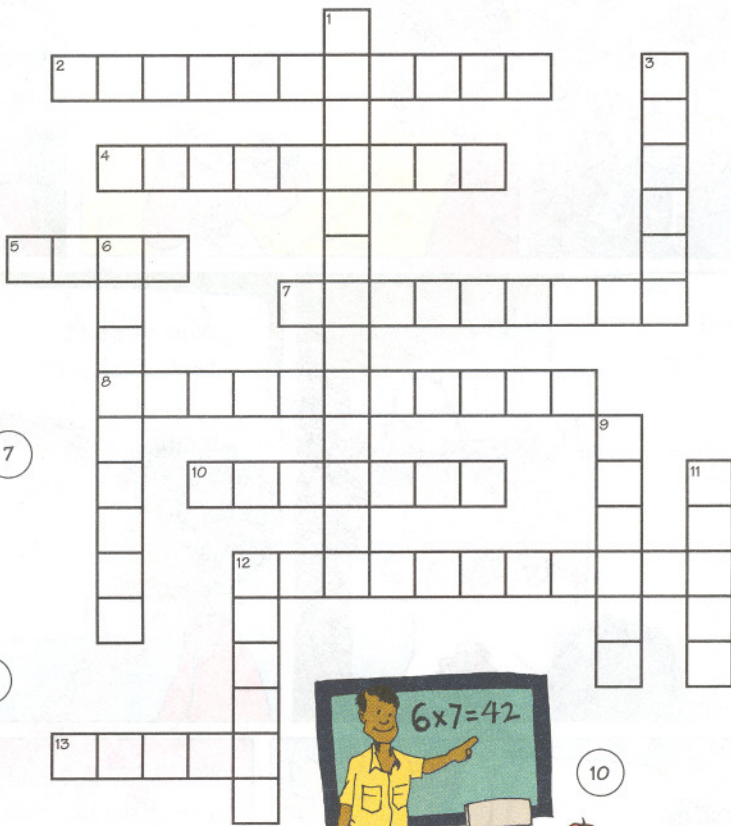

It's okay for kids to ask for help if something scary or bad is happening. They should ask for help even if the adult says to keep it a secret.

What's happening isn't your fault. You are not to blame.

Remember that you are not alone. Lots of children just like you have gotten help. So talk to an adult who can help.

Kids! Below are pictures of grown-ups on your reservation or in your community that you can go to for help with any kind of problem. Fill in the puzzle with the correct names of the people below.

Answers: 1) Police Officer 2) Grandmother 3) Mother 4) Principal 5) Aunt 6) Neighbors 7) Counselor 8) Grandfather 9) Doctor 10) Teacher 11) Nurse 12 across) Firefighter 12 down) Father 13) Uncle

Come on Johnny. Let's see if we can jump over this ditch.

That's easy.

Watch this.

OOOOOPS

SLIP

Wow! Johnny does it again.

Gross! Trouble seems to follow me everywhere!

What do you mean?

Like, today a big kid I know wanted me to drink some beer with him.

Uh-oh! Something bad could happen.

You mean I could get caught?

Yeah. But lots of other bad things could happen too. Alcohol makes your brain work differently. It can make you do dumb things. You can start to do badly in school. You can even hurt your family and friends. Besides, most kids don't think drinking is cool.

Who doesn't think it's cool?

Me, that's who!

Great!

That's why I said no. Then I asked my grandpa for advice on what to do next time.

Well, that's great! Johnny and Scruff are thinking smart. Remember kids, alcohol, tobacco (cigars, cigarettes, and chewing tobacco), and other drugs can start a habit that's bad for you and hard to stop. Don't start. Say no to anyone who pressures you to drink alcohol or use other drugs.

Kids, here is a hidden picture. But first you must do the math in each space to figure it out. If the answer is 9, color those spaces brown. If the answer is 12, color those spaces yellow. Color all other spaces green.

What is the hidden picture?

And why is it behind a warning sign?

Answer: The hidden picture is a bottle of beer. It is against the law for children to drink beer and other kinds of alcohol.

Here's trouble. Scruff and Wilma are headed to the playground to meet their friends. They run into some tough guys sniffing.

Trouble ahead, we could be dead.

Those guys look baaad! I smell trouble.

What should we do, Scruff?

We could go to...a store or...a relative's house.

But there's none around.

Looks tough! Let's remember what your Uncle McGruff says.

Stand up straight, look confident, and walk by them.

That gang will think you're not scared so they won't bother you.

It's working.

Keep walking!

Ulp!

Double Ulp! Let's walk.

Way to go, you figured out what to do.

We made it!

Hooray!

Remember, kids, when you sense trouble with bullies or gangs, try to find a safe place to go. But if there's no place to go, stand up straight and walk tall. Chances are the bullies will leave you alone. Scruff knew those guys were extra trouble because they were using dangerous chemical fumes to get high. Huffing or sniffing is bad news. It can hurt your lungs and damage your brain. It can even kill you!

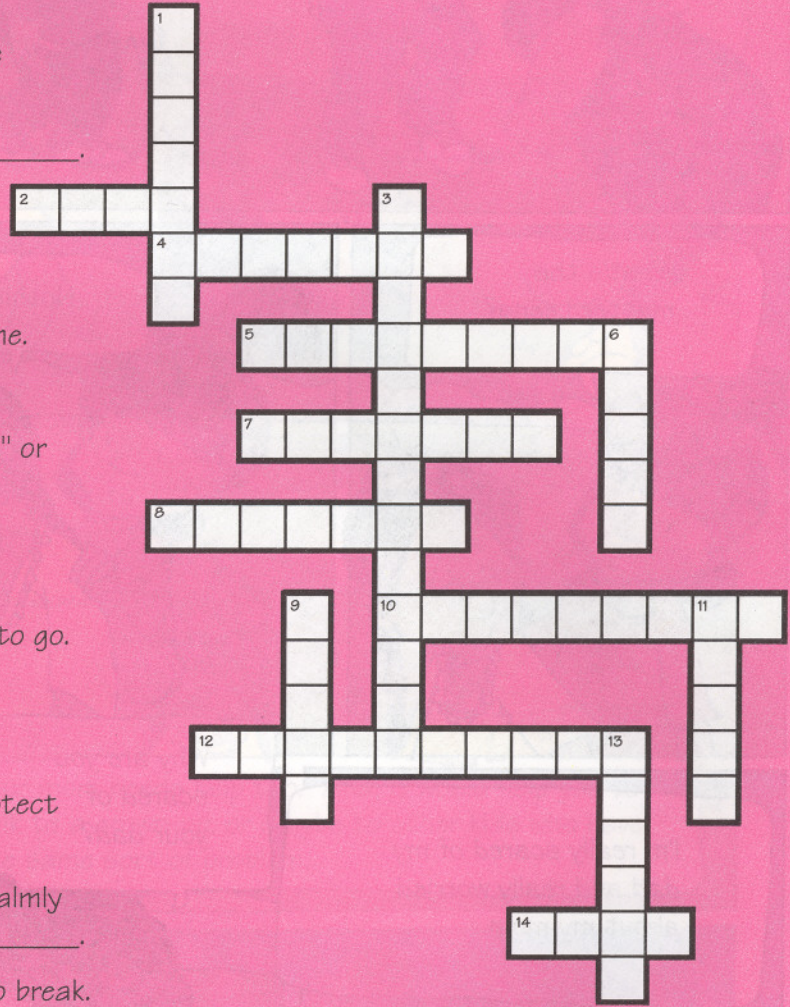

Kids, get out your pencils and try your best with this crossword puzzle. Use the word bank clues to fill in the puzzle. Have an adult check your work when you are done.

Maybe it would help if you talk to a grown-up about what's going on.

I'm afraid Dad will get more angry and really hurt Mom or me.

Why don't you talk to your teacher or another grown-up you trust?

You could talk to your Aunt Iris.

Or your Grandma.

Your dad needs help.

Your mom needs help too. And, it would help you to talk to a grown-up, or maybe to other kids who have the same sort of problem.

Aunt Iris will know what to do. I'll go talk to her now.

Kids, here's your chance to show us what you've learned. In the space below, draw a picture of what you would do if:

Someone pressures you to use alcohol or other drugs

OR

Someone pressures you to sniff inhalants

OR

You are approached by bullies or gang members

OR

You find a gun.

The next time you have a problem remember our advice. That's how you can help us

"Take A Bite Out Of Crime!"

See you soon.
