

Sally G. Belshaw
Deputy Comptroller Large Banks

Sally G. Belshaw is Deputy Comptroller for Large Banks in the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC).

In this position, Ms. Belshaw is one of two deputy comptrollers overseeing the OCC's large bank portfolio. She assumed these duties in December 2010.

Previously, Ms. Belshaw served as Examiner-in-Charge for HSBC's national banks (New York), Bank One (Chicago), and Huntington National Bank (Columbus, Ohio). She has held various positions with the OCC in Ohio, Illinois, and New York.

In 2005, Ms. Belshaw became the first woman to receive the Senior National Bank Examiner designation.

Ms. Belshaw graduated from Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, in 1980 and joined the OCC as Assistant National Bank Examiner in Cincinnati, Ohio.

