Major Commands at Camp Pendleton

I MARINE EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

I Marine Expeditionary Force (I MEF) was activated in Okinawa, Nov. 8, 1969, and was reassigned to Camp Pendleton April 14, 1971.

I MEF is composed of I Marine Expeditionary Force, Headquarters Group, 1st Marine Expeditionary Brigade, 1st Marine Division, 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, 1st Marine Logistics Group and the 11th, 13th and 15th Marine Expeditionary Units.

I MEF is expeditionary in nature, planning for and conducting worldwide missions across the entire spectrum of conflict, from humanitarian assistance to direct combat operations and major theater warfare. This versatility makes I MEF one of the premier forces in readiness in the United States military. The I MEF staff plans for, conducts and supervises the training of Marine Air/Ground Task Force elements as required to meet these contingency tasking. Furthermore, I MEF is charged with developing standing operating procedures for all aspects of Marine Air/Ground Task Force operations and for the promulgation of contingency and war plans.

In 2004, I MEF commanded 43,000 U.S. and United Kingdom Forces in Iraq and Kuwait during Operation Iraqi Freedom II. In 2003, I MEF commanded more than 80,000 U.S. and U.K. forces in Iraq and Kuwait during Operation Iraqi Freedom. In addition, I MEF supported Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan in 2002, participated in Operation Restore Hope in Somalia in 1993 and participated in operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm in Southwest Asia from 1990 to 1991.

Recently, I MEF has participated in Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm in Southwest Asia from 1990 to 1991, Operation Restore Hope in Somalia in 1993 and most recently Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom.

Today, as a formidable organization within Marine Air/Ground Task Force concept, I MEF task organizes 45,000 Marines and sailors to conduct worldwide operations.

1ST MARINE DIVISION

The 1st Marine Division was activated aboard the battleship USS Texas, Feb. 1, 1941. It is the oldest and most decorated division-sized unit in the United States Marine Corps. Division regiments were in existence as early as March 8, 1911, when the 1st Marine Regiment was formed at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. It saw action in Haiti in 1915, in the Dominican Republic in 1916 and throughout the Caribbean during World War I.

The 5th Marine Regiment was created at Vera Cruz, Mexico on July 13, 1914. It served in Santo Domingo in 1925 and participated in 15 major engagements during World War I. These included Belleau Wood, Chateau and

MAJOR COMMANDS

Chiercy Mihiel. On Aug. 11, 1917, 7th Marines was activated in Philadelphia, Penn. It spent the duration of World War I in Cuba and was disbanded after the war. It was reactivated in 1941.

The 11th Marine Regiment was formed in January 1918 at Quantico, Va., as a light artillery regiment. The regiment went to France as an infantry unit, providing a machine gun company and a guard company. Decommissioned and reactivated twice between world wars, the regiment again served as an infantry unit in Nicaragua. Re-formed in 1940 as a full-fledged artillery unit, 11th Marines joined 1st Marine Division.

Guadalcanal was the first major American offensive of World War II. Launched Aug. 7, 1942, this operation won the Division its first of three World War II Presidential Unit Citations. The following citations were won at Peleliu and Okinawa.

“The Old Breed” was the unit chosen to land at Inchon, Korea, Sept. 15, 1950, adding another PUC to its list of decorations. A fifth PUC was for the Division’s “Attack in the opposite direction,” fighting its way out of the Chosin Reservoir against seven Communist Chinese divisions. The Chinese suffered an estimated 37,500 casualties trying to stop the Marines’ march out of the “Frozen Chosin.” Battles between April and September earned the division its sixth PUC.

The 2nd Battalion, 1st Marines returned to Guantanamo Bay for two months in 1962 during the Cuban Missile Crisis. More than 11,000 Marines of the 5th Marine Expeditionary Brigade participated in the naval blockade, which forced the withdrawal of the missiles from Cuba.

Less than three years later, the Division was again on the move. In 1965, 7th Marines participated in Operations Starlight and Piranha, the first major engagements for American ground troops in South Vietnam.

Mach 1966 saw 1st Marine Division Headquarters established at Chu Lai. By June, the entire Division was in South Vietnam, its zone of operation—the southern two provinces of I Corps—Quang Tin and Quang Ngai.

Between March and October 1966 to May 1967, the Division conducted 44 named operations. Major engagements included Operations Hastings and Union I and II. In these operations, 1st Marine Division units decisively defeated the enemy.

During the 1968 Tet Offensive, the division was involved in fierce fighting with both Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Army elements. It was successful in beating back enemy assaults in its operation areas.

After six hard years of combat, 1st Marine Division returned home to Camp Pendleton in 1971, closing another chapter of dedicated service to Corps and country.

In 1975, the Division supported the evacuation of Saigon by providing food and temporary shelter at Camp Pendleton for Vietnamese refugees as they arrived in the United States.

In 1990, 1st Marine Division formed the nucleus of the massive force sent to Southwest Asia in response to Iraq’s invasion of Kuwait. During Operation Desert Shield, the Division supported the 1 Marine Expeditionary Force in the defense of Saudi Arabia from the Iraqi threat. In 1991, the Division went on the offensive with the rest of Coalition Forces in Operation Desert Storm. In 100 hours of ground offensive combat, 1st Marine Division helped to liberate Kuwait, smashing the Iraqi Army in the process.

Immediately following the Persian Gulf conflict, the Division sent units to assist in relief efforts following a typhoon in Bangladesh (Operation Sea Angel) and a volcanic eruption in the Philippines (Operation Fiery Vigil).

In December 1992, Operation Restore Hope, bringing relief to famine-stricken Somalia, kicked off with the early morning amphibious landing of Marines from the Camp Pendleton-based 15th Marine Expeditionary Unit, which was supported by Battalion Landing Team, 2nd Battalion, 9th Marines. More than 15,000 metric tons of food was successfully distributed from 398 different food sites in the city during the operation. The final phase of the operation involved the transition from a U.S. peacemaking force to a United Nations peacekeeping force. U.S. Marine involvement in Operation Restore Hope officially ended April 27, 1993, when the humanitarian relief sector of Mogadishu was handed over to Pakistani forces.

The 1st Marine Division participated in Operation Enduring Freedom after the attacks of Sept. 11, 2001. In March 2003, the Marines brought freedom to the oppressed people of Iraq during Operation Iraqi Freedom. The Division was the tip of the spear during the combat phase of the operations.

Today the 1st Marine Division is a multi-role, expeditionary ground combat force. The Division is employed as the ground combat element (GCE) of I MEF or may provide task-organized forces for assault operations and such operations as may be directed. The 1st Marine Division must be able to provide the ground amphibious forcible entry capability to the naval expeditionary force (NEF) and to conduct subsequent land operations in any operational environment. The 1st Marine Division is currently composed of 1st, 5th, 7th and 11th Marines; Headquarters Battalion; 3rd Assault Amphibian Battalion; 1st and 3rd Light Armored Reconnaissance Battalions; 1st Combat Engineer Battalion; 1st Tank Battalion;

MAJOR COMMANDS

Within the battalion are a Headquarters and Service Company, Military Police Company, Communications Company and Truck Company. The Division headquarters is located in the 11 Area, while the Headquarters Battalion and its companies are located in the 33 Area.

The 1st, 5th and 7th Marines each consist of one headquarters company and four infantry battalions, with one battalion deployed outside the continental United States at all times. The infantry battalions are the basic tactical units that the regiment uses to accomplish its mission of locating, closing with and destroying the enemy by fire and close combat. The 1st and 5th Regiments are located in the 53 and 62 Areas, respectively. The 7th Marines are located in Twentynine Palms, Calif.

The 11th Marine Regiment consists of a headquarters battery and four artillery battalions. 11th Marines is the primary source of fire support for the 1st Marine Division in amphibious assault and subsequent operations ashore. It provides direct and general fire support to frontline units as required by the infantry commanders. The 11th Marine Regiment organic weapon is the 155 mm howitzer (M198 towed howitzers). The Las Pulgas (43) Area is home to the 11th Marines, 1/11 and 2/11. Las Flores (41) Area is home to 5/11 and 3/11 is located at Twentynine Palms.

1st Tank Battalion was activated Nov. 1, 1941 and is located at Twentynine Palms, Calif. Its mission is to provide combat power to 1st Marine Division in the form of amphibious and/or Maritime Preposition Forces; conduct operations ashore utilizing the enemy. As a separate battalion, 1st Tank Battalion is responsible for providing armored assets as well as anti-armor systems and staff expertise in their employment. The 1st Tank Battalion is equipped with the M1A1 Abrams Battle Tank.

The 1st Combat Engineer Battalion performs many specific functions, while fulfilling its mission of providing both tactical and logistical engineer support to 1st Marine Division. The battalion shares San Mateo (62) Area with 5th Marines.

The mission of the 3rd Assault Amphibian Battalion is to transport the surface assault elements of the landing force from amphibious shipping to inland objectives during the amphibious assault and to provide support to mechanized operations ashore. The amphibious assault vehicles are primarily used to transport personnel in tactical operations. The battalion is located in Camp Del Mar (21) Area.

The Division has two light armored reconnaissance battalions. The mission of an LAR battalion is to conduct reconnaissance, security and economy of force operations, and within its capabilities, limited offensive or delaying operations that exploit the unit's mobility and firepower. 1st LAR Battalion was activated May 31, 1985 and is located at Las Flores (41) Area. The 3rd LAR Battalion was activated on Sept. 11, 1986, and is located at Twenty-nine Palms.

The Division reactivated the 1st Reconnaissance Battalion on June 8, 2000, but the battalion was originally activated on March 1, 1937. It now calls the Margarita (33) Area home. Before 1944, Marine Recon was primarily composed of scout/sniper units. In April 1944, a two-company amphibious reconnaissance battalion was formed with the mission of conducting beach reconnaissance and hydrographic survey. Today, the battalion performs a wide variety of tactical and special operation in support of the Division.

1ST MARINE LOGISTICS GROUP

The 1st Marine Logistics Group was activated on July 1, 1947 at Pearl Harbor, territory of Hawaii, as the 1st Combat Service Group.

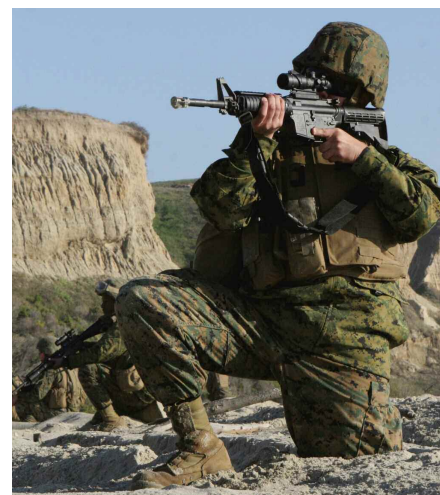

On March 30, 1976, the logistics unit was reconfigured as the 1st Force Service Support Group.

On Oct. 21, 2005, the 1st FSSG was re-designated as the 1st Marine Logistics Group.

In August 1950, the 1st MLG was deployed to Kobe, Japan. In September 1950, the unit was redeployed to Inchon, Korea, and assigned to the 1st Marine Division. The 1st MLF participated in the Korean War, operating in many key battles during the war.

The unit was deployed in February 1967 to the Republic of Vietnam. The unit participated in the war in Vietnam from February 1967 until April 1971, operating from Da Nang.

The 1st MLG participated in numerous training exercised throughout the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s. The unit was next deployed during Operation Desert Shield and Desert Storm, from September 1990 through April 1991; and then again for Operation Restore Hope in Somalia from December 1992 to February 1993.

Most recently, the 1st MLG has deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom, where it formed the largest MLG ever assembled in Marine Corps history, reaching approximately 15,000 Marines and sailors. The combat Marine Logistics Group overcame long lines of sustainment, stretching nearly 500 miles from Kuwait to Baghdad.

It is a versatile, multi-faceted combat service support organization. The 1st MLG provides combat service support for the 1 Marine Expeditionary Force, while troops are in garrison, employed separately or as part of Marine Air/Ground Task Force operations.

The 1st MLG consists of Headquarters and Service Battalion, 1st Supply Battalion, 1st Transportation Support Battalion, 7th Engineer Support Battalion, 1st Medical Battalion, 1st Dental Battalion, Marine Expeditionary Unit Marine Logistics Groups 11, 13 and 15, Brigade Marine Logistics Group 1, Combat Marine Logistics Group 1 at MCAGCC, Twentynine Palms, Intermediate Maintenance Activity Detachment (IMA Det) at MCAS Miramar, and Combat Service Support Detachment at MCAS Yuma. The group headquarters is located in the 14 Area, with elements of the group situated throughout Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton.

In addition to providing the group headquarters, Headquarters and Service Battalion provides disbursing, postal and military police support to the Fleet Marine Force and communications support for the group.

Brigade Service Support Group 1 is located in the 14 Area and is the combat service support element of 1st Marine Expeditionary Brigade. It also serves as the 1st MLG Forward Headquarters. It contains a full-time nucleus staff that, for exercises and operations, is augmented with personnel and equipment from each of 1st MLG's battalions.

Combat Logistics Battalion 1 was created on Dec. 18, 1998, as the 1st Transportation Support Battalion (TSB). It resulted from the merger of 7th Motor Transport Battalion and 1st Landing Support Battalion. CLB-1's mission is to provide thorough put and distribution of supplies, personnel and equipment, as well as medium and heavy motor transport support to I MEF. This is accomplished through operational and tactical application of shore party, helicopter support teams, air delivery and airfield control groups. The battalion is located in the 14 and 21 Areas.

The 1st Maintenance Battalion provides intermediate level maintenance support for Marine Corps-furnished tactical communications/electronics, engineer, general support, motor transport and ordnance equipment. Maintenance facilities are located in Las Pulgas (43), Del Mar (21) and Chappo (22) Areas.

The 1st Supply Battalion supplies all classes of supply, except bulk fuel, required by I MEF. The Supply Activity Support System Management Unit, the heart of this operation, is located with the other functional areas in the warehouse complex in Chappo (22) Area.

The 7th Engineer Support Battalion is organized to provide general engineer support to MEF. Its services include bath and laundry, water supply, mobile electric power, storage and distribution of bulk fuel and explosive ordnance disposal support. The battalion is located in the 14 Area.

In the late 1990s, 7th Motor Transport Battalion and 1st Landing Support Battalion combined to form 1st Transportation Support Battalion. On Oct. 21, 2005, 1st TSB was redesignated as Combat Logistics Battalion 1.

The 1st Medical Battalion is organized to provide collection, emergency treatment, temporary hospitalization, specialized surgery and evacuation of battle injuries. The battalion also coordinates preventive measure for control of disease. The battalion is located in Chappo (22) Area.

The 1st Dental Battalion is charged with the dental health of I MEF personnel and provides specialized care for casualties. The 1st Dental Company, located in the 22 Area, provides dental services through the 13 Area Dental Facility.

Combat Logistics Regiment 1 provides combat service support to I MEF units based at Marine Air Ground Task Force Training Command (MAGTFTC), and provides combat service support to MAGTFTC and other units as directed by the Commanding General, 1st MLG. The maintenance facility is located in Building 2000.

Combat Service Support Detachment 16 provides combat service support units stationed or training in the vicinity is Yuma, Ariz., and direct support to MAWTS-1 during the semi-annual Weapons and Tactics Instructor courses. CSSD-16 provides intermediate supply support and maintenance support for engineer, motor transport and ordnance equipment.

The Intermediate Maintenance Activity Detachment at MCAS Miramar provides supply and maintenance support to I MEF units stationed there.

Marine Expeditionary Unit Marine Logistics Groups 11, 13 and 15 provide the same type of combat support on a smaller scale to their respective MEUs as is provided by 1st MLG to I MEF.

MARINE CORPS AIR STATION CAMP PENDLETON

Marine Corps Air Station (MCAS) Camp Pendleton maintains and operates facilities to support flight operations of tenant units of a Marine Aircraft Wing, a Marine Reserve Aircraft Wing, a Marine Expeditionary Force component and commands in training in the Camp Pendleton air-ground complex. Its primary mission is to provide facilities and services to support flight operations to prepare Marines for combat. The MCAS is a subordinate air station under Commander, Marine Corps Air Bases Western Area. Functionally, MCAS Camp Pendleton serves as an important part of the MCB air-ground training complex.

The primary tenant unit of MCAS Camp Pendleton is Marine Aircraft Group 39 (MAG-39). The air station's tasks include providing air traffic control services and facilities, aircraft fire-fighting and rescue services, weather service support to MCAS and MCB and hot and cold refueling and defueling. MCAS provides limited services to transient aircraft and maintains flight line security in coordination with the base provost marshal.

MCAS encompasses 410 acres, more than 50 structures, a 6,000-foot runway, taxiways, parking aprons, roads and parking areas and some utility systems.

MCAS Camp Pendleton is also known as Munn Field, name after Lt. Gen. Toby C. Munn. Munn was a Marine aviator whose distinguished service from 1927 to 1964 included assignments as commanding general, MCB Camp Pendleton and Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps.

MAINE AIRCRAFT GROUP 39

Marine Aircraft Group 39 was reactivated at Camp Pendleton on Sept. 1, 1978, and operates in support of I Marine Expeditionary Force and its major subordinate units (3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, 1st Marine Division and Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton).

Units of MAG-39 are tasked to provide aerial support for operations in support of Fleet Marine Forces and other air operations as may be directed.

MAG-39 operates a mix of helicopter gunships (AH-1W) and utility light helicopters (UH-1N).

Marine Aviation Logistics Squadron 39 provides intermediate maintenance and aviation supply support for MAG-39.

Tenant Organizations

MARINE CORPS TACTICAL SUPPORT SYSTEMS ACTIVITY

The Marine Corps Tactical Support Systems Activity (MCTSSA), located in the 31 Area, provides technical support to the Operating Forces by operating the Operating Forces Tactical Systems Support Center and by deploying on-site technical teams tailored to the needs of requesting units. Recently MCTSSA deployed a Forward Support Team to assist I MEF HQ and its major subordinate commands in standing up and supporting C4I systems for Operation Iraqi Freedom II. We also supported USMC exercises Desert Scimitar, Lucky Sentinel, Swift Hammer, Cobra Gold, Combined Endeavor, Infinite Moonlight, and most other major MEF-level exercises around the world. Our C4I Operating Forces support center can be reached at (800) 808-7634; DSN 365-0533 and COMMERCIAL (760) 725-0533.

MCTSSA provides USMC decision makers with objective interoperability and integration assessments of Command, Control, Computer, Communications, Intelligence, Reconnaissance and Surveillance (C4ISR) systems. MCTSSA supports the Deputy Commander for C4I Integration at MARCORSYSCOM with the System of Systems, Federation of Systems, and Joint Distributed Engineering Plant (JDEP) tests. Results of these tests will be used to validate and fine-tune the current and future C4I architecture of the USMC. MCTSSA also supports numerous tests of fielded system upgrades and is accredited by the Marine Corps Operational Test and Evaluation Activity (MCOTEA) to perform testing on the Unit Operations Center (UOC) and the Expeditionary Fighting Vehicle (EFV).

MCTSSA operates a Systems Integration Facility that is a "VII MEF" for the Marine Corps. Its instruments, realistic, flexible, Marine Air-Ground Task Force (MAGTF) C4I architecture allows the Marine Corps to: ensure system compliance with standards and protocols, replicate and solve Operating Forces problems, assess integration of systems and evaluate interoperability.

MCTSSA supports the Commanding General, MARCORSYSCOM and his Program Managers in acquiring, developing, testing, fielding, and maintaining C4ISR systems. MCTSSA Technical Support Officers, project engineers, configuration managers, and quality assurance personnel perform systems engineering, software engineering, validation and verification tasks for the Program Managers and their project officers on ground command and control (C2), air C2, tactical communications, intelligence, sensors, fire support programs, and several joint programs.

ASSAULT CRAFT UNIT 5 "THE SWIFT INTRUDERS"

Assault Craft Unit 5 is the West Coast home of the Navy's newest amphibious assault craft, the Landing Craft Air Cushion (LCAC). This unique craft is supported above land or surface of the water by a cushion of air contained within its flexible rubber skirt system. Air cushion technology makes the MCAC the Navy's only true amphibious landing craft.

An LCAC is capable of carrying a 75 ton payload at speeds in excess of 40 knots. Launching from naval ships located over the horizon, an LCAC has range of 200 nautical miles and can land troops and equipment on more than 70 percent of the world's beaches. The ACU-5 base facility compliments the LCAC's high-tech design with state-of-the-art repair and maintenance capabilities.

ACU-5's location of on Camp Pendleton is in keeping with the unique relationship enjoyed by the Navy-Marine Corps amphibious team. ACU-5 supports a compliment of 36 LCACs and employs more than 600 naval personnel. ACU-5 is a U.S. Pacific Fleet unit under the direct command of Commander, Naval Beach Group One, located in Coronado, Calif.

U.S. ARMY RESERVE CENTER

The U.S. Army Reserve Center provides facilities and logistical support for the training of Army Reserve personnel and units. Units assigned to the reserve center consists of a deployment Brigade, water purification and distribution company, terminal service company, diving detachment and water desalination detachment. The USAR Center is located at the Del Mar boat basin and can be reached at (760) 725-2416/763-0448.

WEAPONS AND FIELD TRAINING BATTALION, MCRD

It is a self-contained complex containing rifle and pistol ranges, field training areas, classrooms, mess hall, PX, billeting, medical and administration facilities. WFTBN provides Phase II Marine Recruit Training (boot camp) instruction to approximately 20,000 recruits a year in marksmanship, individual combat skills and the Crucible. It also conducts primary marksmanship instructor and range coach's school. Edson Range was named after Major Gen. Merrit A. "Red Mike" Edson, a WWII Medal of Honor winner and a distinguished small arms marksman proponent.

Formal Schools

ASSAULT AMPHIBIAN SCHOOL BATTALION

The Assault Amphibian School Battalion (Building 210568) is located by the Del Mar Boat Basin, facing the Del Mar Beach in the 21 Area. The battalion is composed of two companies, Support Company and Schools Company. The battalion commander is also the 21 Area commander for Camp Del Mar, Camp Pendleton.

The battalion is the formal school for Assault Amphibian Vehicle training in the Marine Corps. It is chartered to instruct eight formal courses of instruction. The Officer Course (MOS 1803) provides training for officers to become assault amphibian platoon commanders and is 54 training days long. The Assault Amphibian Crewman Course (MOS 1833) presents entry-level instruction in basic crewman operations of an AAV and is 46 training days long. The Assault Amphibian Intermediate Maintenance Course (MOS 2141) is a repairman skills progression course for NCOs and SNCOs. It is 63 training days long. The Basic Repairman Course is an entry-level training course, producing repairmen capable of performing 1st- and 2nd-echelon maintenance on the assault amphibian vehicle. It is 70 training days long. The Assault Amphibian Unit Leader course provides selected NCOs and Staff NCOs with advanced leadership and tactical skills necessary to become a Section Leader in an Assault Amphibian Battalion. The course is 39 training days long.

In direct support of the Fleet Marine Force, the battalion provides a Mobile Training Team to conduct instruction in the operation and maintenance of the MK154 Linear Mine Clearance Kit. The course is 10 training days long.

For the Marine Corps Reserve, the battalion provides the Reserve Gunnery Course. This is a high tempo, 13-training-day course that reserve SNCOs and senior NCOs undergo. The eight course the school provides is the Reserve Crewman's Course. It is also 13 training days long, and it provides training for Marines as basic vehicle crewmen. The school trains more than 1,000 Marines each year.

The Assault Amphibian School Battalion is home to the WWII/Korea LVT Museum. On display are the six amphibious tractors (Landing Vehicle Tracked) utilized by the Marine Corps during WWII and Korea. In addition to the vehicle displays there are displays of artifacts and personal memorabilia.

THE CORPORAL'S COURSE

Marine Corps Base, 1st Marine Division, 1st Force Service Support Group and 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing provide the majority of 100 non-commissioned officers in each of the 15 classes a year. Camp Pendleton tenant units and all other West Coast commands also contribute students for the classes held yearly. The chief instructor may be reached at (760) 725-2752. Operations is at (760) 725-2074/2906. The fax number is (760) 725-2671.

SCHOOL OF INFANTRY

Since 1942, Camp Pendleton has been the U.S. Marine Corps' primary location for teaching Marines how to fight and win on the battlefield. Young Marines who learned the fundamentals of infantry weapons and tactics at Camp Pendleton are the same Marine heroes who raised the flag at Iwo Jima, landed at Inchon, made valiant sacrifices in Vietnam and liberated Iraq.

Today, the School of Infantry (SOI), located in the San Onofre area, continues the tradition by providing training that follows the Commandant's guidance of "every Marine, regardless of occupational specialty, being capable of serving effectively in a rifle squad in offensive and defensive combat, being able to participate in security and ambush patrols, and being able to employ medium and heavy machine guns."

This Marine Combat Training (MCT) is a continuation of the Basic Warrior Training, started in boot camp. Following recruit graduation and a 10-day leave period, every Marine, except those with infantry MOSs, attend this course.

Military Occupational Specialties are assigned during the 28-day course. All infantry specialties bypass the 24-day MCT and report to Infantry Training Battalion to complete one of six basic-infantry courses, to receive the infantry MOS.

Basic infantry training courses are designed to qualify Marines in one of six MOSs prior to assignment to their first permanent duty station.

These specialties include rifleman (MOS 0311), machine gunner (MOS 0331), mortarman (MOS 0341), anti-tank assaultman (MOS 0351), anti-tank assault guided missileman (MOS 0352) and light armored vehicle crewman (MOS 0313).

Courses are eight to 10 weeks in length. SOI graduates a class of 150-320 new infantrymen every three weeks, year round. Graduates are assigned to duty stations throughout the world, including Fleet Marine Force and Marine Corps Security Forces. Reserve Marines complete initial active duty and return to their reserve units.

The School of Infantry also conducts advanced infantry training for 260 squad leaders and 156 platoon sergeants each year. These seven and 11-week courses provide key, small-unit leaders with weapons and tactical expertise to function effectively on the battlefield. Additionally, SOI provides officer and SNCO LAV leaders training to 60 LAV company commanders, platoon commanders and platoon sergeants annually.

SOI has 50 officers and 690 enlisted permanent personnel. Four subordinate commands provide the organizational framework for instructor and support functions within the school. Collectively, SOI's formal courses of instruction trained more than 15,000 Marines in fiscal year 1998.

FIELD MEDICAL SERVICE SCHOOL

The Field Medical Service School, located in the Del Mar (21) area, is a Marine Corps formal school whose mission is to educate and train members of the Naval Medical Department for duty with FMF: the primary course offered is a physically demanding, five-week course for hospital corpsmen and dental technicians to earn the HM8404 and DT8707 Navy Enlisted Classification (NEC) codes, respectively.

The course emphasizes combat casualty care, battlefield survival, basic proficiency in emergency medical techniques, casualty evacuation, field sanitation, preventive medicine procedures, personal protective measures, basic tactics and the use of weapons for self-defense.

History

Spanish explorer Don Gasper de Portola first scouted the area where Camp Pendleton is located in 1769. He named the Santa Margarita Valley in honor of St. Margaret of Antioch, after sighting it July 20, St. Margaret's Day.

The Spanish land grants, the Rancho Santa Margarita Y Las Flores Y San Onofre came in existence. Custody of these lands was originally held by the Mission San Luis Rey de Francia, located southeast of Pendleton, and eventually came into the private ownership of Pio Pico and his brother Andre, in 1841.

Pio Pico was a lavish entertainer and a politician who later became the last governor of Alto California. By contrast, his brother Andre, took the business of taming the new land more seriously and protecting it from the aggressive forces, namely the "Americanos." While Andre was fighting the Americans, Pio was busily engaged in entertaining guests, political maneuvering and gambling. His continual extravagances soon forced him to borrow funds from loan sharks.

A dashing businesslike Englishman, John Forster, who has recently arrived in the sleepy little town of Los Angeles, entered the picture, wooing and winning the hand of Ysidora Pico, the sister of the rancho brothers. Just as the land-grubbers were about to foreclose on the ranch, young Forster stepped forward and offered to pick up the tab from Pio. He assumed the title Don Juan Forster and, as such, turned the rancho into a profitable business.

When Forster died in 1882, James Flood of San Francisco purchased the rancho for $450,000. His friend, Richard O'Neill, managed the rancho, and after 24 years of service was given half ownership.

O'Neill built a dam to form the lake that now bears his name and introduced irrigation. Under his supervision, the ranch prospered; its beef and crops were known throughout the nation.

The O'Neill and Flood families' 181,000-acre holding occupied a sizeable portion of North San Diego County and extended into Orange County. The government purchased 125,000 acres in San Diego County at the cost of $4,239,062 in 1942.

The Marine Corps' role in Camp Pendleton history dates from Sept. 25, 1942, when the former rancho was dedicated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and named in honor of Major Gen. Joseph H. Pendleton.

The Santa Margarita Ranch was then transformed into one of the largest military camp in the United States as a West Coast base for combat training of Marines and preservation of California's resources.

The Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton logo is featured throughout the base, yet few know that the O and T logo originated as a cattle brand.

Before this vast expanse of hills and valleys became the property of the U.S. Government, it was a thriving cattle ranch known as the Santa Margarita y Las Flores, and the cattle roaming the hills sporting the O and T brand. When the Marine Corps acquired the property in 1942, it was given permission to use the brand of the Camp Pendleton logo, hence retaining a visible tie to the past. One of the former owners of the rancho, John J. Baumgart, Jr., kept the brand and used it on his ranch in San Juan Bautista, Calif., until his recent death.

INTRODUCTION

On the eve of World War II, as the Marine Corps doctrine of amphibious warfare was being refined and tested, the training of Marines was limited to Quantico and Parris Island on the East Coast, and San Diego on the West Coast. When the expansion of all U.S. Armed Forces was authorized by Franklin D. Roosevelt's proclamation of unlimited national emergency on May 27, 1941, there was an immediate need for additional training areas on both coasts. The creation of Camp Lejeune in North Carolina filled the critical need for training facilities along the Atlantic Coast.

Continued expansion and increased concentration of Marine activities on the West Coast, especially after it became apparent that the Marine Corps would have primary responsibility for Pacific operations, necessitated additional land for training purposes. The Marine Corps base at San Diego has become the center for all activities in the Pacific. Nearby Camp Elliot provided the only area for small unit training, but there was no training facility for the large, division-sized units that would be fighting the upcoming island campaigns against the Japanese.

On March 10, 1942, the Navy Department announced the purchase of approximately 130,000 acres, the "Rancho Santa Margarita y Las Flores," located between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Construction of the base started on March 13, 1942, with the awarding of a contract for the construction of training facilities for amphibious forces.

Under the command of future commandant, Col. Lemuel Sheppard, 9th Marines and 1st Bn., 12th Marines, had just completed a four-day march from Camp Elliot in San Diego to be the first troops to occupy the newly acquired West Coast training base, later known as Camp Joseph H. Pendleton. The time was September 1942, building activity aboard the new base was continuing at a frenzied pace to transform a peaceful cattle ranch into a fast-paced, military installation capable of training and transporting a large number of Marine to the Pacific.

Throughout the war years, thousands of Marines and three divisions passed through the camp on their way to the bloody battles in the Pacific, living in rapidly constructed tent camps throughout the sprawling hills. Training areas were constructed to provide realistic preparation for combat. Pillboxes were built exactly like those found in the Pacific. Also during these early days, one of the famed Raider Battalions was formed and trained here under Lt. Col. James Roosevelt, the son of the president.

Combat Marines were not the only people to populate Camp Pendleton. Women Marine reservists arrived here in 1943 and were able to keep the administration of the base running smoothly. The Ranch House Chapel was restored and opened primarily for their use. Wars inevitably produce heroes, and Camp Pendleton eagerly recognized one of its own. Basilone Road, a familiar landmark on the base, was named for Gunnery Sgt. John Basilone, who earned a Medal of Honor at Guadalcanal in 1943 and the Navy Cross posthumously at Iwo Jima in 1945. Following the war, Camp Pendleton was inundated with troops returning from the Pacific and the deserted tent camps were once again bursting with activity. Working overtime, the Redistribution Regiment was able to discharge about 200 Marines a day, and before leaving, each man was issued a discharge emblem to be sewn on his uniform as a badge of honor.

Camp Pendleton was declared a permanent installation in October 1944, and in 1946 Gen. Vandegrift stated the base's future role was to be the center of all West Coast Marine activities and the home of 1st Marine Division, the peacetime strength of which would be 12,500. It was during this period of peacetime that Maj. Gen. Graves Erskine, commander of the base, known then as Marine Barracks, Camp Pendleton, was determined to develop the base into "the finest post in the world." Tent camps were torn down and Quonset huts put in their places, 17 area barracks were renovated into officers' quarters, a $130,000 Spanish beach club was opened at San Onofre and a commissary opened in 1948. The base library opened in 1950 in a small frame building across from Division headquarters.

During the war, Pendleton became known as “Hollywood South.” Movies were filmed on the base and morale was boosted by watching Hollywood Marines vanquish Hollywood Japanese. Following the war, moviemakers continued to seek out Pendleton’s brown hills for movies such as “Battle Cry,” “Sands of Iwo Jima,” “The Flying Leathernecks,” and in later years “Retreat Hell” and “Heartbreak Ridge.”

Relations with surrounding communities have not always been cordial. In 1947, Maj. Gen. Erskine was embroiled in a bitter dispute with the Oceanside School District over his right to operate a separate school for children of Marines. The “Little Red School” was built in the 17 Area and operated for two years until finally turned over to Oceanside in 1950.

Water was at the root of another controversy that resulted in a long and complicated legal battle involving Camp Pendleton and Fallbrook area residents who felt entitled to use the water flowing from the Santa Margarita River, flowing through base. The water rights trial became the longest in history, in which the two groups are currently working together to find solutions to both of their water problems.

Peacetime activities came to an abrupt halt in 1950 with the outbreak of the Korean War. Reservists crowded into Camp Pendleton, headed for the front faster than the base could process them. Throughout the war years, replacements were hurriedly trained and sent to the Far East. The training, however hurried, was tough and realistic. A combat town was constructed to simulate a North Korean Village where troops were exposed to as much realism as possible.

Cold weather training was moved from Idyllwild to Pickel Meadows in the high Sierras because Idyllwild wasn’t tough enough. Cold weather training was definitely survival training for those soon to be sent to Korea. Camp Pendleton’s role as Training and Replacement Command was reflected in the nearly 200,000 Marines that passed through the base on their way to the Far East.

Those same hills and valets beckoned to Camp Pendleton’s civilian neighbors who wanted pieces of the base for their own use. Leases were granted for a California State Beach and a nuclear power plant at the northern edge of the base, but developers eyeing the land for an airstrip and private housing were forced to look elsewhere. At one point, the city of Oceanside even attempted to annex the base to become part of their city’s tax base. The purpose for Camp Pendleton’s existence has not changed; it was first and foremost a training base, continuing to mold young men and women into the country’s finest fighting force.

The Vietnam years again saw a buildup of men and machines bound for Indochina. The movement of the 1st Marine Division to the Far East occurred more gradually than in Korea or World War II. Replacements were rotated in and out of combat zones through Staging Battalion, which took a Marine arriving at the camp and gave him 15 intensive training days before sending him to Vietnam. The Korea combat village became the Vietnamese jungle village, complete with deadly booby traps. The combat environment and training methods had changed over the years, but the purpose remained constant: train Marines to fight and get them to battle.

Unlike their World War II counterparts, Marines discharged from the Vietnamese conflict did not receive badges of honor, but could still hold their heads high, as they had fought bravely and honorably in the highest Marine Corps tradition. Camp Pendleton continues its proud tradition of training top-quality Marines and maintaining its combat readiness while it prepares itself to face the 21st century.

The Corps broadened its mission capabilities in the 1980s as “amphibious” became “expeditionary.” Marines combined infantry, armor, supply and air power according to the task at hand, then demonstrated the effectiveness of the air-ground team in Granada, Panama and the Persian Gulf. The rapid projection of self-sustaining military power was clearly shown when Camp Pendleton forces and their equipment were deployed halfway around the globe in days. Operation Desert Shield, Desert Storm and Enduring Freedom are the latest in a 230-year history of unequalled national service, and it was training here at Camp Pendleton that made those successes possible.

DEVELOPMENT

In 1942, along with a base headquarters, three Marine Regiments were developed in tent camps at the Las Pulgas, San Onofre and Cristianitos areas. The intent was that troops using these areas would live under field conditions, carrying with them their tents and other equipment.

Each tent camp had its own combat and qualification range. The ranges were laid out for rifle, machine gun and mortar firing, and were situated to facilitate training in small arms combat, the use of grenades and bayonets, and other infantry tactics. During this period the expeditionary airfield (now Marine Corps Air Station) was built, and the boat basin at Del Mar was completed just north of Oceanside to provide a sheltered berthing area.

After the assault on Tarawa in November 1943, training in amphibious operations became a top priority for the Marine Corps. The amphibious training facilities at Camp Pendleton were expanded to 10 times their earlier capacities.

In 1946, Camp Pendleton would become the center of all Marine Corps activities on the West Coast, and home to the 1st Marine Division. Quonset huts and hastily erected temporary wooden structures, many still in use, housed Marines here.

With the outbreak of the Korean conflict in 1950, $20 million was spent on Camp Pendleton to expand and upgrade existing facilities, including the construction of Camp Horn. In 1955, the initial Las Flores tank park and maintenance facilities were constructed with more added in 1965.

Between 1958 and 1961, permanent messing, billeting, administrative and training facilities were constructed at Del Mar (21) Area. The Edson Range rifle qualification complex, an annex of Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, was constructed in two increments on land that had been in agricultural use (Stuart Mesa). All facilities required to support groups of recruits for two weeks of training were provided at this site. In 1972, a special research and development complex was developed west of Interstate 5 across from Edson Range for the Marine Corps Tactical Systems Support Activity (MCTSSA).

During the 1970s, dispensaries and dental clinics were upgraded; a modern correctional center and a shopping center at the north end of the base were constructed.

Camp Pendleton's improvements now include more than 5,000 buildings and structures, more than 500 miles of roads and 952 miles of utility lines. The estimated total value of lands and improvements, including housing, is more than $1.7 billion.

NAMES IN HISTORY

Marines get an "at home" feeling at most bases when they see streets and locations named in honor of well-known Marines or battles. Names such as Tarawa, Bougainville and Lejeune are seen on street signs or in housing areas throughout Marine Corps installations. Camp Pendleton, however, may confound and confuse many Marines with such unfamiliar names as Pulgas or Horno. Remaining true to the heritage of this historic Land, officials of this vast training base decided in 1942 to keep the names given to geographic locations by Spanish explorers and the descendants.

It was common practice for Catholic missionaries to name a point of arrival or a rest stop for the patron saint whose holy day coincides with time they arrive. Thus, a majority of Camp Pendleton locations can be traced to Spanish padres and explorers who traveled Southern California in the late 18th Century. Examples include:

Cristianitos: Spanish priests of the Portola-Serra expedition as they made their northward trek through the base in 1769 to northern California named this area. The site of their encampment was named after St. Apollinaris, but due to the fact that the priests conducted California's first Christian baptisms for two dying Indian infants, the Soldiers referred to it as "Los Cristianitos" or the little Christians. The baptismal site is today a California Historical Site.

Las Pulgas: On July 21, 1769, Father Crespi with the Portola-Serra expedition camped at the site where Las Pulgas is located today. Admiring the wild Castilian roses which grew in the canyon, he named the place La Canada de los Rosales (Rose Canyon). The name didn't stick, however, because years later, Soldiers accompanying a survey party for the San Luis Rey Mission, camped in the same location and were constantly bothered by fleas (las pulgas).

The tiny pests made a stronger impression than the physical beauty of the area.

Las Flores: The way station or asistencia to Mission San Luis Rey was established in 1827 near what is today the Las Pulgas exit to Interstate 5. Seeing wild roses and flowers at the mouth of the canyon and remembering the name given by Father Crespi years earlier, the name Las Flores, meaning "the flowers," was given to the area.

Chappo: The name is believed to be derived from the word Chapala that was the thick undergrowth found in the area.

Horno: This is the Spanish word for the clay oven or kiln used by early settlers. Camp Horno is nestled below the coastal mountains, which block the cooling ocean breezes. As any Marine stationed there can attest, it can get hot as an oven in the summer.

San Onofre: (The grammatical accent is on the "no"). In keeping with the Padres' tradition of naming areas after patron saints, this area was named after the obscure Egyptians, Saint Onophrius.

San Mateo: Saint Matthew - a saint whose name was a favorite with the Catholic missionaries.

DeLuz: An Englishman by the name of Luce kept a corral of horses in the area north of the village of Fallbrook. The Spanish-speaking neighbors knew it as Coral de Luz, which was later shortened to the name we use today.

Lake O'Neil: This is a man-made lake created for the irrigation of the fields on Rancho Santa Margarita in the late 1800s. It is named for Richard O'Neil who managed the ranch and later became part owner.

Vado Del Rio: At one time the Margarita River was much deeper and wider. Small trading boats actually sailed up the river from the ocean to trade goods behind the Ranch House. A bridge was constructed so that travelers could easily cross the river, thus Vado Del Rio means "river crossing" since it overlooks the bridge over Basillone Road.

PENDLETON

Other names around base were selected in the traditional Marine Corps manner, honoring well known Marines or battles. Following the purchase of the vast rancho, the new West Coast Marine Corps training base would be named Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, in honor Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Pendleton. He pioneered Marine Corps activities in the San Diego area during his 46-year career from 1878-1924.

Born in Rochester, Pa., June 2, 1860, "Uncle Joe" Pendleton, as he would later be known, graduated from the U.S Naval Academy and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine corps July 11, 1884.

Major Gen. Pendleton's distinguished service career included duty in the jungles of Nicaragua, Santa Domingo, Guam and the Philippines, in addition to several stateside and ship tours. In 1914, the 4th Marine Regiment was reactivated and Pendleton was ordered to organize and command this expeditionary force. Major Gen. Pendleton and his regiment served on board the USS South Dakota and Jupiter, when it withdrew to land at Camp Howard, North Island, San Diego, July 10, 1914.

With the arrival of Major Gen. Pendleton's regiment in San Diego, his love affair with the area began. He immediately recognized the value of San Diego with its good weather and harbor as an ideal choice for the Marine Corps' Advance Base Force to be stationed on the West Coast. Major Gen. Pendleton openly advocated a major Marine Corps installation in San Diego from his first stay on North Island until after his retirement ten years later. Between July 1914 and June 1916, Major Gen. Pendleton and his regiment improved facilities at North Island while the Marines made a favorable impression on the San Diego community. Meanwhile visits of high-ranking dignitaries to various expositions during this period helped to win government approval for a large Marine Corps base at San Diego. Major Gen. Pendleton himself bought a house in Coronado near the harbor and became active in civic affairs in the city. He served as mayor of Coronado from 1928 to 1930.

Married to the former Mary Helen Fay, he died in San Diego at the age of 91.

VANDEGRIFT

General Alexander Archer Vandegrift earned the Medal of Honor in World War I, and served as the 18th Commandant of the Marine Corps.

The General was born March 13, 1887, in Charlottesville, Va., and was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1909.

He commanded the 1st Marine Division, Reinforced, in the battle for Guadalcanal, and the 1st Marine Amphibious Corps in the landing at Empress Augusta Bay, Bougainville, during World War II.

For outstanding service as the commanding general of 1st Marine Division, Reinforced, during the attack on Guadalcanal, Tulagi, and Gavutu in the Solomon Islands on Aug. 7, 1942, he was awarded the Navy Cross. For the subsequent occupation and defense from Aug. 7 to Dec. 9, 1942, he was awarded the Medal of Honor. His citation for the latter reads in part:

With the adverse factors of weather, terrain, and disease making his task a difficult and hazardous undertaking, and with his command eventually including sea, land and air forces of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Major Gen. Vandegrift achieved marked success in commanding the initial landing of the United States Forces in the Solomon Islands and their subsequent occupation.

"His tenacity, courage and resourcefulness prevailed against a strong, determined and experienced enemy and the gallant fighting spirit of the men under his inspired leadership enabled them to withstand aerial, land and sea bombardment, to surmount all obstacles and leave a disorganized and ravaged enemy."

General Vandegrift declared in October 1944 that Camp Pendleton would be a permanent installation. During his visit to the base in July 1946, he outlined the base's future role. It was to remain the center of all Marine Corps activities on the West Coast. It was also to be permanently maintained as the home of the 1st Marine Division.

The general died at the age of 86. The main east-west road is named Vandegrift Boulevard in his honor.

BASILONE

At Guadalcanal at 9:30 p.m., Oct. 24, 1942, thousands of Japanese attacked 600 Marines of 1st Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment, shouting at the Americans, yelling in English, "Blood for the Emperor! Marine, you die."

The order came for Col. Lewis B. Chesty Puller "Commence firing." It was an order that was to be obeyed almost non-stop for 72 hours.

The extraordinary bravery and tenacity shown by the American troops, who in that weekend defeated an estimated 15,000 Japanese Soldiers, changed the course of World War II. It might not have happened but for the heroism of GySgt. John Basilone.

As Japanese plans for their offensive matured, U.S. leaders judged that the main thrust of the enemy ground attack would come against "Bloody Ridge" where Basilone and his gunners anchored the main line of resistance.

They were right. The enemy came in waves, each attack lasting some 15 minutes, sometimes several attacks in an hour. Again and again a report reached Basilone that the right flank, similarly manned, had been hit. Both guns were out; five of the seven men were killed or disabled. Taking one of the guns from the left flank Basilone pushed his agonizing way through wet undergrowth to the right flank, about 40 yards.

On the way he encountered and killed eight Japanese. Grabbing a disabled gun, he disassembled it in complete darkness, discovered the problem and fixed it. He then, reassembled the weapon, set it up and began to fire.

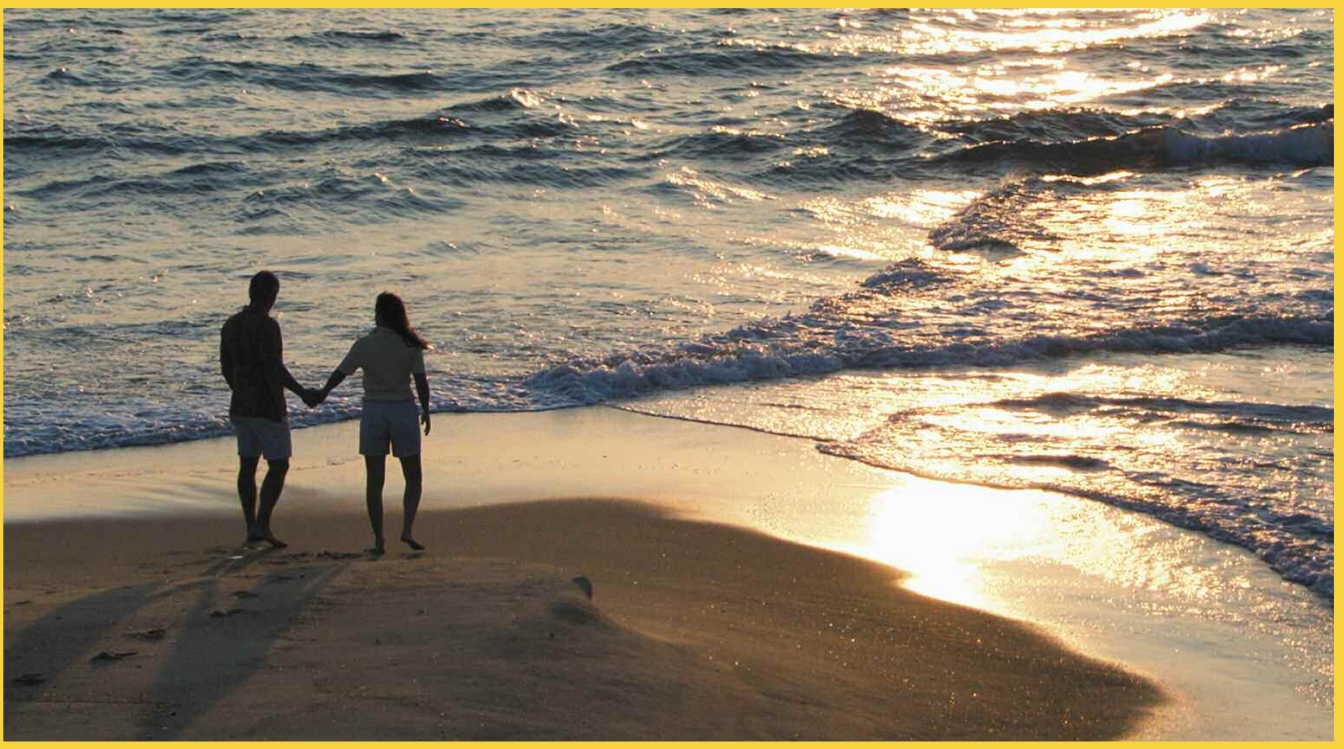

Commanding two men with rifles to cover him, Basilone took his pistol and dashed back to where the supplies lay. He returned more slowly, burdened by 100 pounds of belted cartridges for the machine guns.

These acts of heroism earned Basilone the highest military award, the Medal of Honor. After several months in the United States, Basilone turned down a commission and a tour of duty in Washington D.C., to return to the front lines. He was killed Feb. 19, 1945 in the first wave attack on Iwo Jima.

The north-south road, which winds past numerous infantry units on base, is named Basilone Road in his honor.

Throughout the base housing areas, many of the roads are similarly named after heroic Marines who died in battle or performed valiantly in the service of their country.

Local Area

MCB Camp Pendleton and its surrounding communities, which are all located in San Diego County, date back to the nomadic Indian tribes that once inhabited the area. Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, a Portuguese navigator hired by Spain, explored the coast of California and in 1542, sailed into the harbor of what is now San Diego.

In 1812, California underwent a change when Mexico gained its independence from Spain. San Diego was still regarded as an agricultural center rather than an aspiring city such as Los Angeles, located 100 miles to the north. Not until 1850, when the United States finally gained control of California, did both the cities of San Diego and Los Angeles become incorporated.

OCEANSIDE

Closest to MCB Camp Pendleton is the city of Oceanside, situated on three miles of sandy beaches with an ideal mix of urban and rural environments, blessed with almost perfect, year-round weather.

Three major highways, Interstate 5 and Highways 76 and 78, provide easy access to and from Oceanside. The city is also served by Amtrak and Greyhound bus lines. Local commuter and private aircraft use the Oceanside Municipal Airport. Palomar Airport in nearby Carlsbad is a general aviation facility, offering both private and commercial air travel.

Oceanside's weather, being much like the rest of the San Diego coastal area, offers the perfect climate for the outdoor enthusiast. Residents have access to numerous golf courses, parks, tennis courts and biking trails as well as facilities for volleyball, basketball and softball.

For those who just want to relax, Oceanside Harbor and Harbor Beach are the ideal spots for an afternoon stroll or picnic. Oceanside Harbor, a man-made facility, is one of the best in Southern California and considered to be one of the most beautiful. For shopping, Cape Cod Village provides many unique shops and restaurants.

Residents of Oceanside may attend schools in the Oceanside Unified School District, Vista Unified School District, Bonsall Union School District, or Carlsbad Unified School District, depending on their actual address. Oceanside schools provide free bus transportation for students in grades K-8, and instrumental music programs in grades four through 12.

The Oceanside Unified School District has two comprehensive high schools, El Camino High School and Oceanside High School. High school students are also served by Ocean Shores Continuation High School and Clair Burgener Academy. OUSD has sixteen K-5 elementary schools. A new elementary school, Foussat Elementary, opened in the fall of 2007.

LOCAL AREA

There are several charter schools in Oceanside, including the School of Business and Technology for high school students. For additional information about Oceanside schools, including attendance boundaries, calendars, bus schedules and lunch menus, see the Oceanside Unified School District website at <http://www.oside.k12.ca.us>.

Health care for Oceanside is provided by Tri-City Hospital located in Oceanside. Several medical, dental and professional health care complexes also surround the hospital. For more detailed information, call the Oceanside Chamber of Commerce at (760) 722-1534.

Two commuter trains, the Coaster that travels between Oceanside and San Diego and the Metrolink, which travels between Oceanside and Los Angeles, also serve Oceanside.

The Oceanside Visitors Information Center is located at the Coast Highway exit adjacent to the I-5, Highway 76 intersection. Volunteers assist travelers, offer assistance with directions, information, hotel reservations and discount tickets for San Diego attractions.

Oceanside Harbor is a mecca for sport fishing, whale watching, boating and other water-oriented activities. The marina inside the harbor has slips ranging in length from 25 to 51 feet. Transient moorings and limited RV beach camping are available.

Mission San Luis Rey is a national historic landmark and the largest in a chain of Californian missions established by the early Spanish missionaries. This magnificent structure, known as the “King of Missions,” shelters a museum, gift shop and conference center.

Situated a few steps from the shore of Buena Vista Lagoon, the Audubon Nature Center offers a variety of natural history experiences. Walk along a shore trail amid native plants to see views of the lagoon and its bird life.

You'll see surfers “catching the waves” as you stroll the longest wooden over-water pier on the Pacific Coast. The Oceanside Pier has a bait and gift shop and you can dine at the restaurant at the end as you watch a Catalina sunset.

Other Oceanside attractions include the Oceanside Sea Center, Heritage Park Village and California Surf Museum.

SAN DIEGO

San Diego, named after Saint Didacus, is the second-largest city in California and the eighth largest city in the United States. San Diego's economy is largely composed of agriculture, biotechnology/biosciences, computer sciences, electronics manufacturing, defense-related manufacturing, financial and business services, ship-repair and construction, software development, telecommunications, and tourism.

Tourism has drastically affected the city's culture, as San Diego houses many tourist attractions, such as SeaWorld San Diego, Belmont amusement park, San Diego Zoo, San Diego Zoo Safari Park, and nearby Legoland California. San Diego's Spanish influence can be seen in the many historic sites across the city, such as the Spanish missions and Balboa Park. Cuisine in San Diego is diverse, and includes European-American, Mexican-American and Asian-American cuisine. Annual events in San Diego include Comic-Con, San Diego County Fair and Street Scene Music Festival.

Many popular museums, such as the San Diego Museum of Art, the San Diego Natural History Museum, the San Diego Museum of Man, and the Museum of Photographic Arts are located in Balboa Park. The Museum of Contemporary Art San Diego (MCASD) is located in an ocean front building in La Jolla and has a branch located at the Santa Fe Depot downtown. The Columbia district downtown is home to historic ship exhibits as well as the San Diego Aircraft Carrier Museum featuring the USS Midway aircraft carrier.

The broad city limits encompass a number of large nature preserves, including Torrey Pines State Reserve, Border Field State Park, Mission Trails Regional Park. San Diego boasts over 100 named areas/suburbs within the city limits and houses the largest naval fleets in the world. Located close to the naval arena, downtown San Diego has experienced some urban renewal since the early 1980s. This has resulted in the opening of Horton Plaza, the revival of the Gaslamp Quarter, and the construction of the San Diego Convention Center and PETCO Park opened in 2004. San Diego also hosts, of course, the NFL's San Diego Chargers, who play in the established Qualcomm Stadium.

COASTAL

Carlsbad

Where else would you find a seaside community that is small enough to hold village charm, yet large enough to be a premiere business environment? Carlsbad is a community with near perfect weather and two world-class resorts. It is a city that supports economic development yet sets aside 40 percent of its land for open space.

Carlsbad has attracted an international theme park, LEGOLAND California, and has become the golf capital of the world. Two free-ways, a commuter train, bus service and the busiest single-runway airport in the nation serve the community. Carlsbad has two first-class public libraries, full-service police and fire services, a park and recreation department, and high quality schools. Carlsbad has miles of beaches, a wide variety of housing options and shopping including Plaza Camino Real (a regional mall), North County Plaza, specialty, outlet and antique stores.

Coronado

Enjoy the charm of Coronado by taking the ferry boat from the B Street Pier to the Coronado Ferry Landing or drive over the beautiful Coronado Bay Bridge to the Hotel Del Coronado or down the Silver Strand. Relax at one of the fine resorts, hotels or picturesque B & Bs. Dine at your choice of close to 100 restaurants. Take home a souvenir from more than 200 unique shops, boutiques and galleries. Watch the sun set over the Pacific from choice spots along the beautiful water.

Del Mar

The San Diego County Fair is hosted on the Del Mar Fairgrounds every summer. Del Mar is Spanish for “of the sea” or “by the sea,” because it is located near the Pacific Ocean. Colonel Jacob Taylor purchased 338 acres from Enoch Talbert in 1885, with visions of building a seaside resort for the rich and famous.

Del Mar is also one of few locations in which the Torrey Pine tree grows. The Torrey Pine is the rarest pine in the United States and only two populations of this endangered species exist.

Encinitas

Encinitas is a coastal city in northern San Diego County. It is located about 25 miles (40 km) north of San Diego, and about 95 miles (153 km) south of Los Angeles. The city was incorporated in 1986 from the communities of historic Encinitas, new Encinitas (Village Park, etc.), Leucadia, Cardiff-by-the-Sea and Olivenhain. These communities retain their identities, and their distinctive flavors.

The largest single industry is the growing of ornamental flowers, particularly poinsettias. The Annual Fall Festival, formerly known as the Poinsettia Festival, is held each November in downtown Encinitas, and The Wavecrest Woodie Meet takes place once a year, on the third Saturday of September at Moonlight State Beach. It is the largest rally of wooden bodied vehicles in the world and it is free to the public and to participants.

Some other points of interest are the San Dieguito Heritage Museum, Quail Botanical Gardens, Self-Realization Fellowship temple and La Paloma Theater. Surfing is a popular activity in Encinitas, particularly at Swamis.

EAST COUNTY

El Cajón

Located 15 minutes east of San Diego, El Cajón is Spanish for “The Drawer,” relating to it being surrounded by mountains in a nestled valley. One attraction to enjoy is the Cajon Speedway, a paved 3/8 mile oval NASCAR track offering weekly racing events. For more information, visit <http://www.cajonspeedway.com>.

Another attraction is the San Diego Aerospace Museum’s annex at Gillespie Field. The annex provides an important restoration and replica reproduction program for the Museum and has many displays available for viewing. For more information, visit <http://www.aerospacemuseum.org/Gillespie/Gillespie.html>.

La Mesa

La Mesa in Spanish means “the table,” or alternately “the plateau,” relating to its geography. It is the hometown of NBA player Bill Walton, football stars Reggie Bush, and Alex Smith, famous actor Dennis Hopper, singer of rock band Pearl Jam Eddie Vedder, and the birthplace of heavy metal musician Dave Mustaine. Its official flower is the bougainvillea. At the beginning of each October, La Mesa holds their biggest event of the year, Oktoberfest.

Lemon Grove

The Lemon Grove community was settled in 1869 by its first known permanent resident, sheep rancher Robert Allison. From the 1860s to 1900 the area was known for sheep and poultry ranching and vegetable crops. In the early 1900s, the community acquired its name when large citrus groves were planted, and lemon and orange growing and shipping became the area’s major industry.

To date, there is a ten-foot-wide statue of a lemon located at 3361 Main St. It lies before a small lemon grove beside the Orange Line Trolley tracks near the local Trolley station and downtown bus stop. Written across the base of this monument are the words “Best Climate On Earth.”

Santee

The city is named after Milton Santee, second husband of Jennie Blodgett, whose first husband was George A. Cowles, a ranching pioneer in the San Diego area.

Santee has one major regional park, Santee Lakes. Santee Lakes consists of seven public lakes and has a campground and other amenities on site. Santee is also home to a popular Southern California rock climbing area.

NORTH COUNTY

Escondido

Escondido lies about 18 miles inland, 100 miles south of Los Angeles and 30 miles north-east of San Diego. Escondido is the hub of Inland North San Diego County, which is emerging as a regional economic leader, in the forefront of job development and new industries. Escondido has one of the lowest crime rates of any city its size with a population of 128,000. It features the $81-million California Center for the Arts, Escondido. For a taste of Africa, visit the San Diego Zoo Safari Park located in the San Pasqual Valley just outside Escondido.

Fallbrook

Fallbrook is located on the eastern boundary of Camp Pendleton and the Naval Ordnance Station. From Camp Pendleton it is reached via Ammunition Road and is 15 miles inland from the Pacific Ocean. Fallbrook elementary schools are located on and near Camp Pendleton.

Fallbrook is the Avocado Capital of the World. Its rural community of 38,000 encompasses 127 square miles and offers a wide range of housing options, a 540-acre high school campus with excellent academic and extra-curricular programs including the 2000 CIF Division I champion football team, six elementary schools, a junior high and community hospital. The town boasts a healthy retail and service business base supplemented by six shopping centers in Fallbrook and neighboring Bonsall. The main street typifies the charm of a small town with many of its shops, galleries and restaurants housed in buildings dating to the late 1800s.

Poway

A family-oriented community, Poway, known as “The City in the Country,” is conveniently located in the center of San Diego County. Visit Lake Poway for fishing or a picnic in the park. Take a nature walk at the Blue Sky Ecological Reserve, which also offers a free guided wildlife/plant walk.

San Marcos

San Marcos is located in an ideal location in the heart of North San Diego County. It is situated between the state’s two largest cities, Los Angeles, 90 miles to the north and San Diego, 30 miles to the south. Climate is a major contributor to the attractive quality of life in San Marcos. Generally characterized by mild winters, plenty of sunshine and little rainfall, the average temperature ranges from a high of 77 degrees and a low of 47 degrees. Inland, the terrain is made up of rolling hills and deep canyons. Fortunately, San Marcos enjoys being in the direct path of an ocean breeze.

San Marcos features a resort climate without a “tourist” atmosphere, offering a host of popular attractions all within close proximity. San Marcos is enviably situated 10 minutes from many clean Pacific beaches, 20 minutes from the famous Del Mar Racetrack, a 35-minute drive from Sea World and Mission Bay, a half-hour tour from San Jacinto Mountains and 90 minutes from the rugged Anza Borrego Desert. Other nearby attractions include the Mission San Luis Rey, Palomar Mountain Observatory with its world-renowned Hale Telescope and the San Diego Zoo Safari Park (where many rare species roam free in their natural habitat).

Vista

Vista rests seven miles inland from the ocean and is a short 15-minute drive from Oceanside. Located in the heart of Highway 78, midway between Oceanside and Escondido, it benefits from cool breezes in the summer and is far enough away from the water to escape the coastal fog.

Keeping up with the rest of the fast-growing North County cities, Vista has a number of retail stores. Vista boasts a high-growth reputation of its own; rising from 19,700 residents back in 1965 to its present population of over 80,000 residents.

For recreation, Vista has two private golf courses, the WAVE Waterpark, Moonlight Amphitheater and AVO Playhouse, as well as many historical buildings and museums to visit. The Holiday Parade is always a highlight.

SOUTH COUNTY

Chula Vista

Based on California Department of Finance estimates for Jan. 1, 2007, Chula Vista’s population was 227,723, making it the second-largest city in San Diego County, the 14th-largest in the state of California, and the 89th largest city in the United States.

Chula Vista is still growing at a fast pace, with major developments taking place in the Otay Valley near the U.S. Olympic Training Center and Otay Lake Reservoir. Thousands of new homes have been built in the Otay Ranch, Lomas Verdes, Eastlake and Otay Mesa Areas. Also, officials from Chula Vista and the San Diego Chargers have met to potentially discuss building a new stadium that would serve as the home for the team.

Imperial Beach

Known as a biker town for its rough atmosphere and seedy beachfront area throughout the 70s, Imperial Beach has undergone a significant makeover in the last ten years and the city has done much to become more visitor-friendly, commercially viable and overall more aesthetically pleasing. However, the city is still a low-key beach community.

Every year the city holds the annual Sand Castles event, which draws about 400,000 people over three days.

National City

National City is the second oldest city in San Diego County with a very historic past. The National City Mile of Cars is recognized as one of the first “auto malls” in the world and National City’s three-mile port area along the San Diego Bay is part of Naval Base San Diego, the largest U.S. Naval base on the west coast. The National City Southern Railroad Depot, built in 1882, served as the first Pacific Coast terminus station of the Santa Fe Railway system’s transcontinental railroad.

Westfield Plaza Bonita is a shopping mall in National City that attracts customers from all around the South Bay region of San Diego County. It is one of the only completely enclosed (all indoor) shopping malls in the county. Paradise Valley Hospital, a 301-bed acute care facility founded by Ellen White, an Adventist, in 1902. The hospital is owned and operated by Prime Healthcare Services and Cafe La Maze (est. 1941) is recognized as one of National City’s most historic restaurants.

Can you imagine...
a world without children?

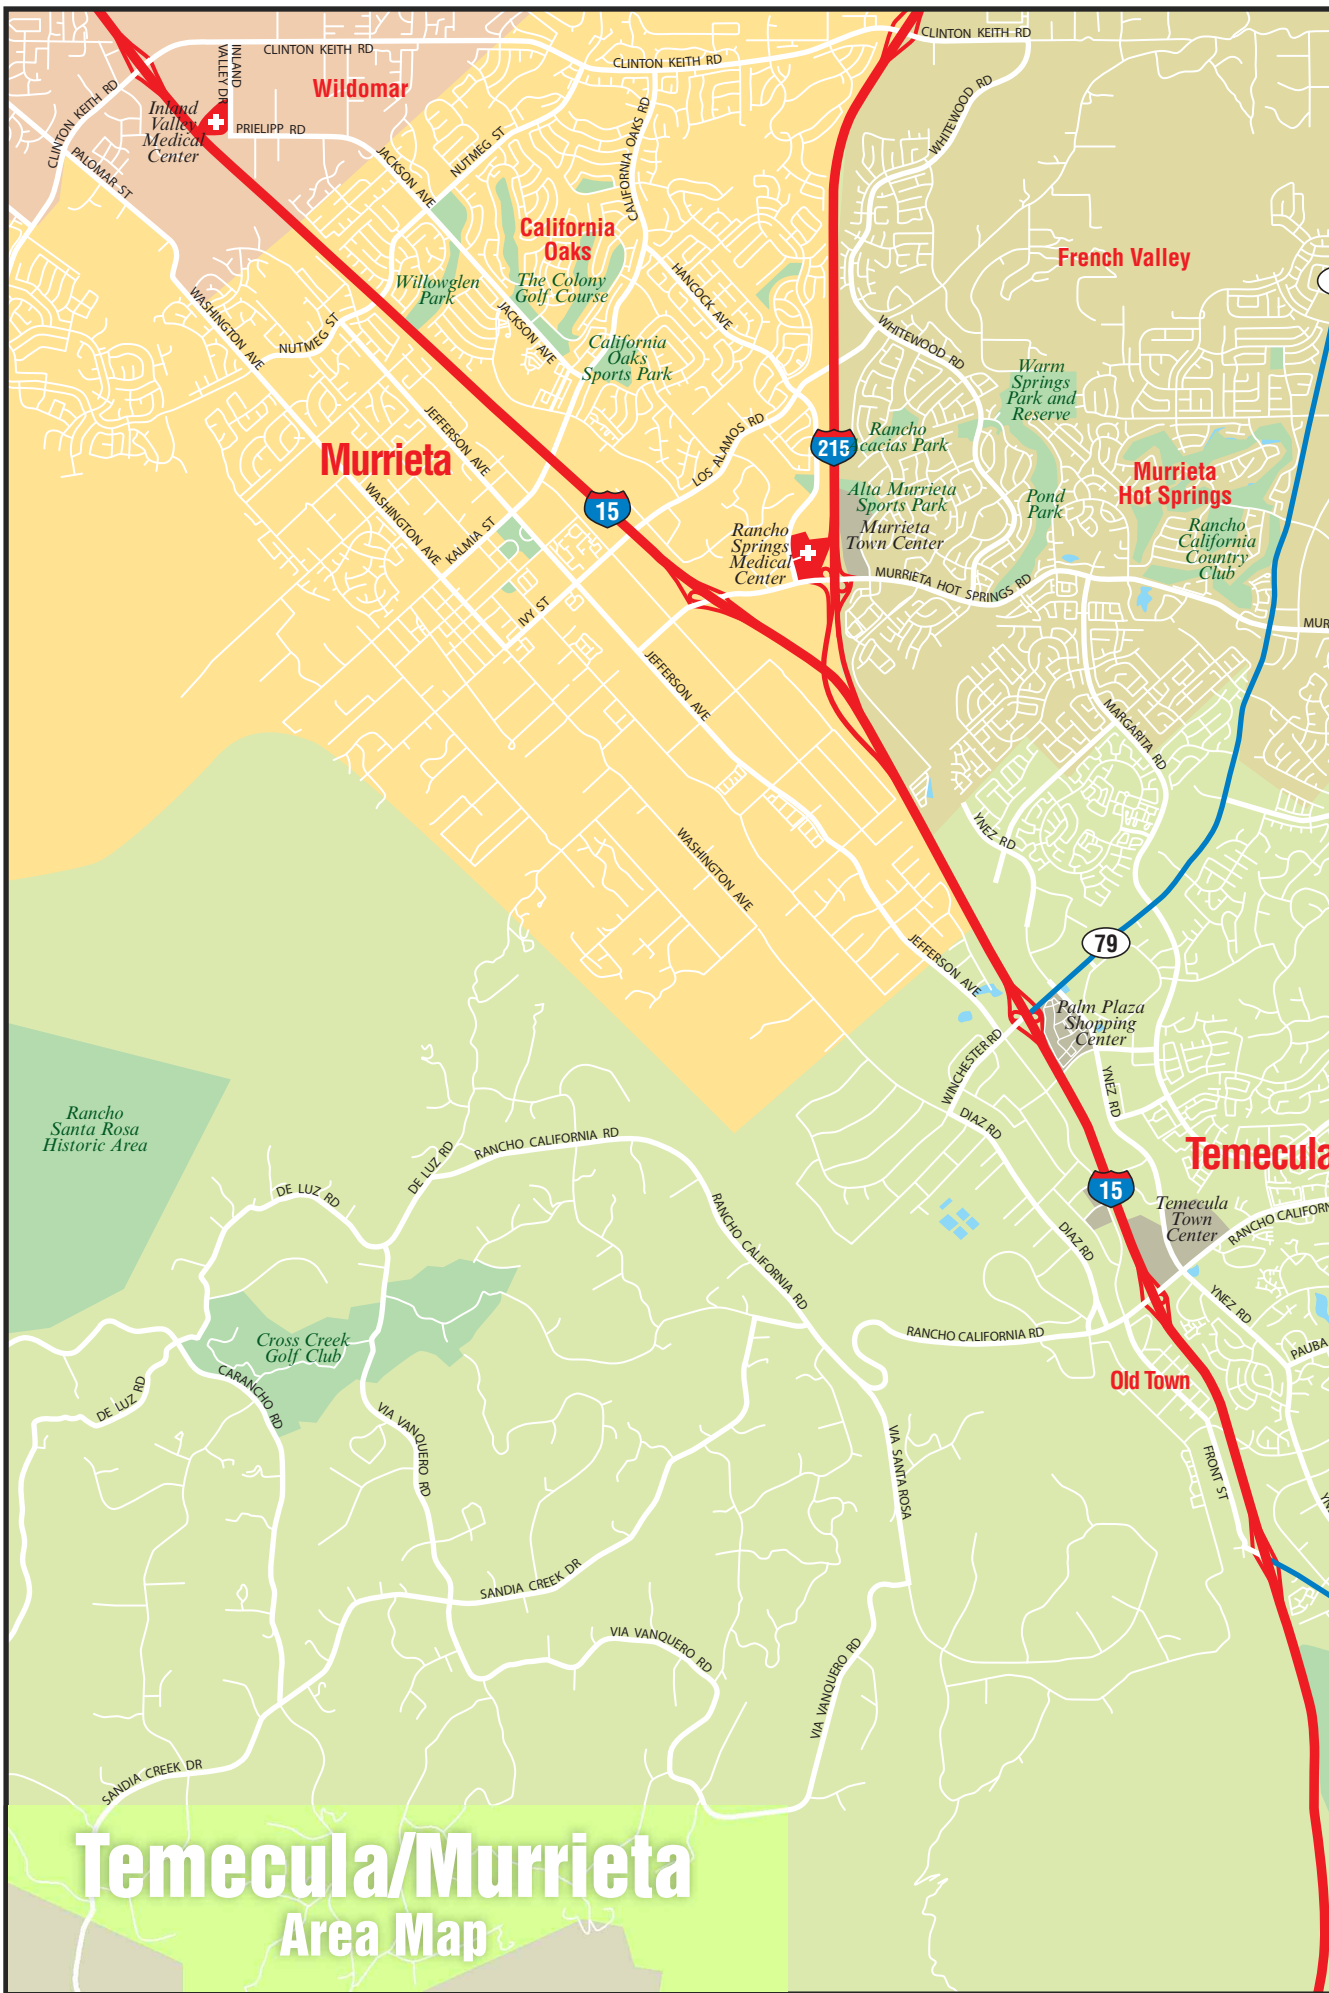

At St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, we can't.

That's why we are working every day to find cures for life-threatening diseases that strike children everywhere. Diseases like cancer, pediatric AIDS, and sickle cell. And we won't stop until every child is cured, and every disease is defeated.

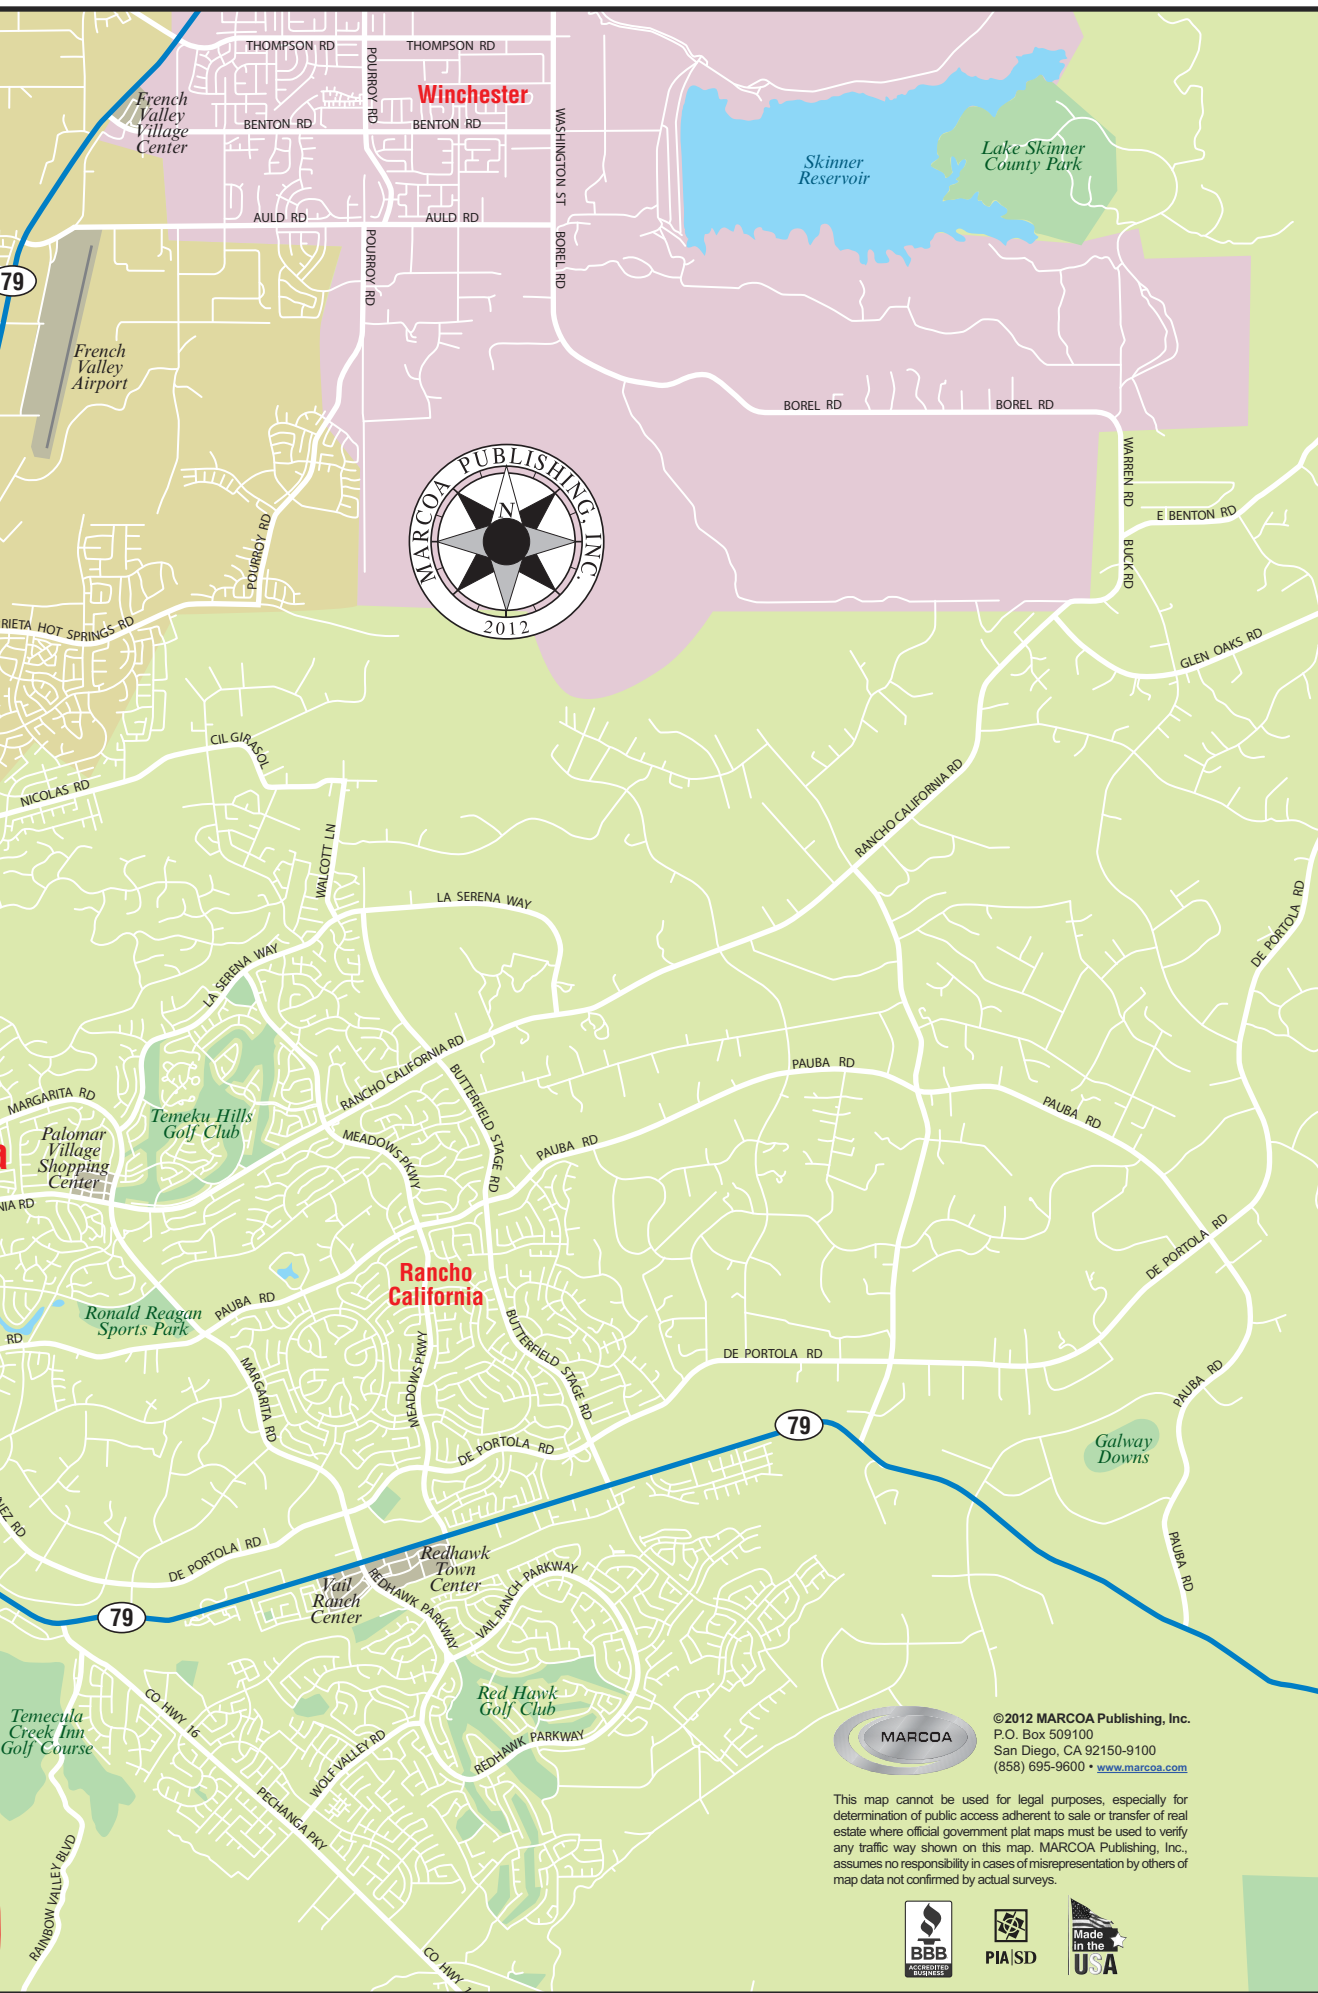

Because we can't imagine a world without children...can you?
 Call 1-800-996-4100 or log onto www.stjude.org to learn how you can help.

Finding cures. Saving children.

Quality Dentistry with a Soft Touch

Dr. Cary Brown

After high school Dr. Brown spent four years in the United States Navy as a Hospital Corpsman in the San Diego area. Most of his military career was spent with the Marine Corp infantry as a company corpsman. After the military, in 1994, Dr. Brown completed his post graduate education at Loma Linda University with a Doctor of Dental Surgery Degree along with a BS in Human Biology. Dr. Brown graduated top 10% of his graduating class and is a member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon Honor Society. Dr. Brown is an avid supporter of continuing dental education and encourages his team to participate in many dental courses throughout the year. The dental team has taken numerous courses in all subjects, especially in cosmetics and dental implants.

In his spare time Dr. Brown enjoys the outdoors. He rides off-road motorcycles with his friends and family and occasionally competes at local events. Currently, Dr. Brown is in the process of growing his practice by adding new technology, such as CEREC one day crown, that will make procedures easier and more convenient for the patient.

Dr. Brown's advice to any potential new patients to the office is to, first and foremost, find a dentist you can trust. Find a dentist that listens to your concerns and offers options to your treatment needs. Seek out a dentist that will give you a detailed explanation of any problems that are found, and any recommended treatment.

Dr. Brown is a standing member of the American Dental Association, California Dental Association, Tri-County Dental Society, International Academy of Comprehensive Aesthetics, and International Association for Orthodontics.

We are not alone.

There's a wonderful world around us. Full of fascinating places. Interesting people. Amazing cultures. Important challenges. But sadly, our kids are not getting the chance to learn about their world. When surveys show that half of America's youth cannot locate India or Iraq on a map, then we have to wonder what they do know about their world. That's why we created MyWonderfulWorld.org. It's part of a free National Geographic-led campaign to give your kids the power of global knowledge. Go there today and help them succeed tomorrow. Start with our free parent and teacher action kits. And let your kids begin the adventure of a lifetime.

It's a wonderful world. Explore!

DIRECTORY UPDATES

To assist with updating changes to your Organization/Command listings, it is imperative that you provide changes as they occur in the format required and as specified on page 6 of this directory. This will help eliminate the untimely backlogs that occur just prior to the directory update deadline date. Subscribers failing to submit their requirements in the time frame allotted, will not get their listing in the directory. Don't let this happen to your Command. Submit your listings as they occur and avoid the last minute rush.

If there are any questions regarding the information above, contact the Directory Clerk, 725-4542, for additional information or guidance.

All Area Codes for numbers listed in this directory are (760) unless otherwise indicated.

DEFENSE SWITCHED NETWORK (DSN)

AUTHORIZED USERS

Use of Defense Switched Network (DSN) is limited to official calls of users with DSN service assigned to their extension. Users of Classes A, B, C telephone services are not equipped or authorized to make outgoing DSN calls.

SECURITY

Defense Switched Network (DSN) is a non-secure network. Users are reminded that care must be exercised to protect classified information by not discussing such information over the DSN or alluding to such information.

TIME LIMITATION

Users placing DSN calls should limit their calls to that necessary to accomplish business, enabling all users' access to DSN lines.

PRECEDENCE SYSTEM

Military precedence is assigned to each DSN capable extension. A different precedence may be requested from the DSN operator 560-1110. Calls may be preempted by a DSN call of higher precedence. The military procedures to be utilized within DSN are:

- FLASH – Flash precedence is reserved for alerts, warnings, or other emergency actions having immediate bearing on national command or area authority.
- IMMEDIATE – Immediate precedence is reserved for vital communications:
 - That has an immediate operational effect on tactical operations.
 - Which directly concern safety or rescue operations.
 - Which affect the intelligence community's operational role.
- PRIORITY – Priority precedence is reserved for calls, which require prompt completion for national defense and security, the successful conduct of war, or to safeguard life or property, which do not require higher precedence.
- ROUTINE – Routine precedence is reserved for all other official communications.

DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE

Defense Switched Network (DSN) numbers are changed daily. If the user reaches a recording indicating that the number is not in service, etc. call DSN Operator 560-1110 for the correct number. If the DSN number is not known, also dial DSN 560-1110 for the desired telephone number.

MINIMIZE

A Minimize condition may be imposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff as a communications management measure because of an emergency which requires that only critical communications be made to that area. Calls to such an area will be limited to those calls assisting in an emergency.

DIALING PROCEDURES

The following procedures apply for calls made from a class DSN extension:

- To place DSN calls using the precedence assigned to your extension, users will dial 94 and receive a second dial tone. When the second dial tone is received, dial the desired 7-digit DSN number.
- To place DSN calls using precedence different from that assigned to your extension, dial DSN 231-1311 and place your call through the DSN operator.
- To place DSN calls to an overseas number (Pacific Area), dial 94 + 315, then the desired 7 digit DSN number.
