Employees enjoy PTA Organization Day

POHAKULOA TRAINING AREA, Hawaii—Army employees, and family members, on the Big Island got all excited in anticipation to find out who's got the best chili in this installation during PTA Organization Day, Sept. 18.

More than half dozen teams from the command, range control, environmental, DPW, and individuals who teamed up together, were all busy that morning as they prepared for the Best Chili Competition.

Everyone did their best mixing their secret concoction of various chili ingredients. The distinct aroma filled the air on Saddle Road as the mouth-watering sensation led to the day's selection. By noon, the best chili was selected for originality, taste, and heat.

However the best part of the day was made as everyone at PTA, including family and friends, were ready for lunch.

Everyone lined up to get a scoop and try each team's chili and other food items, including cornbread, hot dogs, and rice. A great day where PTA's best gathered for a whole day of socialization and relaxation at the Recreation Center and the post Theater.

People had an opportunity to do a vast variety of things during that day.

It was a day when they either watched kung fu movies at the theater's big screen, or hanged out at the Recreation Center, singing karaoke, playing ping pong, foosball, darts, billiards, horseshoes, card games, dominoes, or board games. Highlight of the day was the karaoke singing contest, where PTA's talent shined with people willing to express themselves with songs.

And to wrap things up, after platefuls of dessert and good camaraderie, it was a fun and fulfilling day to remember for one and all during PTA Organization Day 2008.
