U.S. Army thanks Matson Navigation Company

POHAKULOA TRAINING AREA, Hawaii—Hualani Poledo, second from left, and Mona Eskaran, both customer service representatives of Matson Navigation, listen as Lori Horner, protocol officer, Pohakuloa Training Area, reads a letter of appreciation to them at their Hilo office, Oct. 2. Lt. Col. Warline Richardson, garrison commander, U.S. Army, Garrison-Pohakuloa, thanked Matson Navigation Company's Russell Chin, big island district manager, Eskaran, and Poledo for their continuous support and assistance to the U.S. Army and PTA. Matson was instrumental in providing PTA with several 40-foot refrigeration containers to support large training deployments at Pohakuloa. According to Richardson, Matson's staff is integral to the success of military personnel training at PTA and are essential members of the Army's team in support of the men and women of the U.S. Armed Forces.
