FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Living History Day

HONOLULU—The U.S. Army Museum of Hawaii is bringing history to life with Living History Day, May 17 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Fort DeRussy in Waikiki.

This free event, held in conjunction with Armed Forces Day, is open to the public and offers a fun-filled and educational day for all ages.

Visitors can tour hands-on exhibits of weapons, equipment, vehicles and insignia from ancient Hawaii through modern day.

Re-enactors will share the history behind their uniforms, equipment and weapons. Ka Pa Lua Hawai'i will demonstrate ancient Hawaiian fighting arts. Large-scale, working vintage-aircraft models will be on display.

Participating organizations include the 25th Infantry Division, the Hawaii Historic Arms Association, the Hawaii Military Vehicle Preservation Association, the Civil War Roundtable, Ka Pa Lua Hawai'i, Birds of Paradise (aircraft modelers), Pearl Harbor Historic Partners and the Celtic Pipes and Drums of Hawaii.

For general inquiries, contact the museum staff at (808) 438-2825.
