FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASTEWATER SPILL AT ALIAMANU MILITARY RESERVATION

ALIAMANU MILITARY RESERVATION (AMR), Hawaii – The Army’s Directorate of Public Works (DPW) reported today, a spill of approximately one thousand gallons of wastewater at AMR.

The spill is believed to have started leaking Sunday evening due to excessive backflow as the result of a clogged drainage. The spill was contained in the AMR drainage canal and did not release into the nearby Salt Lake neighborhood area.

The line has since been cleared, and Army work crews continue to disinfect ground surface areas exposed to the waste water. The cleanup is expected to be completed this afternoon.
