Anti-terrorism exercise at Schofield

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii—A scheduled anti-terrorism exercise, June 23-24, will be conducted, here, causing heightened security at all gates entering Schofield Barracks.

Motorists are advised to expect delays, including a 10-minute gate closure June 23.

“We ask for the community’s patience, understanding and support during this important exercise,” said Col. Douglas S. Mulbury, commander, U.S. Army Garrison–Hawaii.

The garrison conducts its annual anti-terrorism exercise to prepare the community and workforce to effectively respond to and counter terrorist incidents.

“The defense against terrorism, to include force protection and personal countermeasures, is vital,” Mulbury said.
