

Mission Inn to display artifacts

BY JAGLYN MOE
SPECIAL TO THE PRESS-ENTERPRISE

The Mission Inn Museum will host a free reception on 6:30 p.m. today to celebrate the opening of a new exhibit.

"The Inn Ruins: The Romance of Decay" will display artifacts and objects that have been a part of the inn for decades.

The reception is open to the public. Finger foods, cookies, champagne and lemonade will be available for guests.

"After spending time in our collections storage and looking at these artifacts that I found really fascinating, I thought others might find them interesting as well, so I thought we should do an exhibit that focused on the ruins of the hotel," Emily McEwen, curator of Mission Inn history, said.

Pieces that are currently a part of the hotel, such as Craftsman furniture and California Missions paintings done by Henry Chapman Ford, will be on display as well.

"We have a lot of great pieces. One of my favorites is actually used as the key image for the exhibit. It is the armor from a Swiss Guard figure that was a part of the Mission Inn's famed Papal Court," McEwen said.

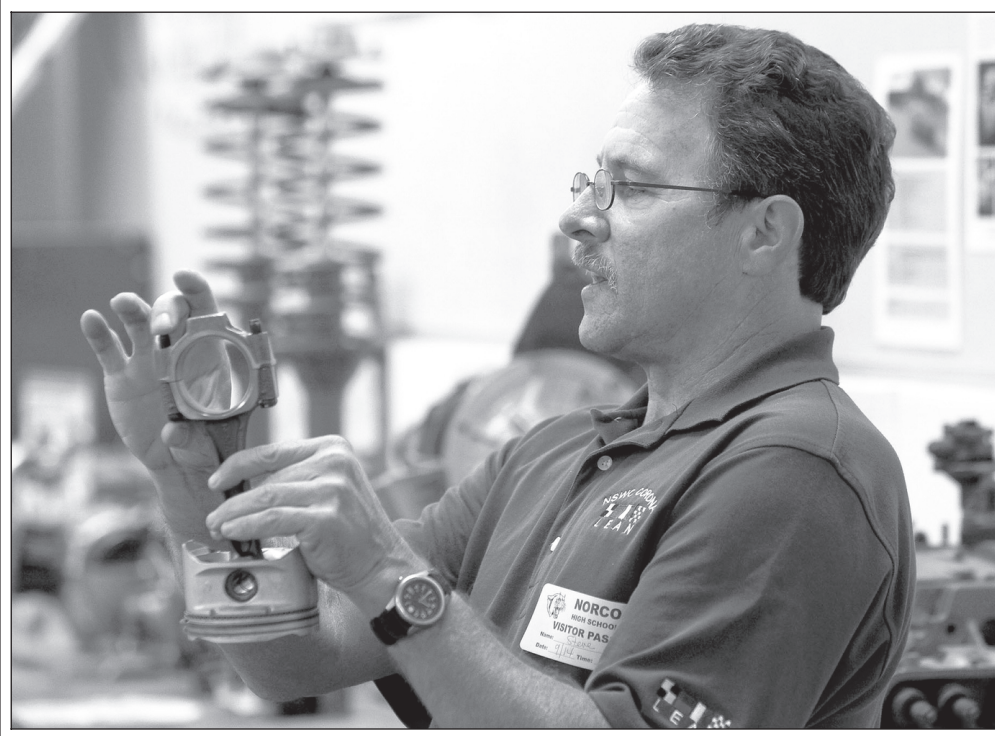

"This 14-piece wax figure collection was purchased by Frank Miller at the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco and was housed in the mission's catacombs."

"The Inn Ruins" will be open to the community until March. Directors plan to feature professional conservators that will be giving free public presentations on how to preserve textiles and objects throughout the time the exhibit will be displayed.

The museum is at 3696 Main St., Riverside.

Riverside police seek man in kidnapping, rape

BY STEVEN BARRIE
THE PRESS-ENTERPRISE

Riverside police are on the lookout for a man who allegedly kidnapped and raped a woman Tuesday night in the city's Eastside neighborhood.

Police received a report of a sexual assault at 8:20 p.m. somewhere along University Avenue, the Police Department said in a news release.

A woman told officers that a man took her at gunpoint from the parking lot of a fast-food restaurant and drove her to a location just off Chicago Avenue where he raped her, then let her go.

He fled in an older tan minivan with tinted windows, the woman told police.

She described the man as in his early to mid-30s, 5-foot-6, weighing 160 pounds with a mustache and dark hair worn combed back. He was last seen wearing a white T-shirt and blue jeans.

Anyone with information is asked to call Riverside police Detective Laura Riso at 951-353-7126.

POWOW PAGEANTRY

The annual Soboba Band of Luiseño Indians event celebrates native culture from across the American continent

BY DIANE A. RHODES
SPECIAL TO THE PRESS-ENTERPRISE

The 14th annual Inter-tribal Powwow hosted by the Soboba Band of Luiseño Indians and Soboba Casino starts Friday with gourd dancing at 6 p.m. and a Grand Entry at 7 p.m.

Earlier in the day, about 900 local schoolchildren will be treated to a cultural history lesson as dancers and drummers perform for them.

"We invited all the local schools to our cultural event and will provide some refreshments," said Tarri Rubio, entertainment manager at Soboba Casino. "The casino picks up the cost of all the school buses."

She said for the past eight years this has been offered, it was open to only 5th-graders. But 4th-graders have been included this year.

"They arrive starting at 10:30 a.m. with the program beginning at 11 and running about 45 minutes," Rubio said. "It has been extremely successful."

The annual celebration of Native American culture and heritage brings together tribes from across the United States and Canada to socialize and compete.

"Originally, powwows were celebrations for the tribes but now they do it for the competition," said Gena Telfer, who is on the event committee. "Even some of the vendors go from powwow to powwow and that is their main source of income."

Thousands of Indians are known to make their livelihood by traveling the powwow circuit that starts in May of each year.

The Grand Entry, which includes all contestants, is a feature event of every pow-wow. The parade of color and sound signifies the opening of each session and includes all participants entering the arena, led by an eagle staff and followed by the entrance of flag bearers and visiting dignitaries.

Saturday's grand entries are at 1:30 and 7 p.m. and will be at 1 p.m. Sunday. The powwow ends at 11 p.m. Friday, midnight on Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday — when winners will be announced.

Twelve northern- and southern-style drum groups will accompany the estimated 400 dancers and also will be given a chance to play for judges. Competitive dances include traditional, fancy, grass, chicken, jingle and fancy shawl. Each dance has characteristic regalia and specific footwork.

The free event, at 23333 Soboba Road in San Jacinto, takes place in the shady stadium behind the casino. Vendors encircle the outer perimeter of the arena and offer food, jewelry and many handmade Native American items.
