

National Invasive Species Awareness Week

National Invasive Species Awareness Week events were held in Washington, DC, from February 26 through March 2, 2012. Events during this week included a kid's day; numerous sessions on topics such as Federal agency accomplishments, international invasive species and green economy, and urban invasive species; and an awards ceremony. An overview of the week's events will be provided.

