Still photographs and selected motion picture footage of the period are combined to create a portrait of the man and his impact on history. Included are scenes of his boyhood in Abilene, Kansas; his cadet and athletic activities at West Point; his early military service with General Douglas MacArthur; his leadership of all Allied armies in Europe during World War II (featuring his role as Supreme Commander of Allied Forces that landed at Normandy and ultimately brought victory in Europe) and his two terms as President of the United States. The film also shows the German blitzkrieg in Europe and the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor. As President of the United States, Eisenhower is shown with Vice President Richard Nixon, Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev, French President Charles DeGaulle, and the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Events surrounding such issues as school desegregation, the creation of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, ATOMS for Peace plans, the Federal Highway Act, the St. Lawrence Seaway bill, and the statehood of Hawaii and Alaska are shown. The film gives an overview of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Library and emphasizes its important holdings. The film is narrated by Loren Greene. This film is presented by the National Archives and Records Administration, and is distributed by the National Audiovisual Center, Washington, DC 20409.
