

Changes to Chapter 4, pages 31 – 43

Paragraph 4-17. C. (7), page 42. Rewrite of this subparagraph. (Posted 03 Apr 12)

(7) U.S. Transportation Command ("USTRANSCOM") is responsible for providing global air, land, and sea transportation to deploy, employ, and sustain military forces to meet national security objectives in peace and war. Its component commands are Air Mobility Command (AMC), Military Surface Deployment and Distribution Command (SDDC), Military Sealift Command (MSC), and its subordinate command is the Joint Enabling Capabilities Command. USTRANSCOM is the Distribution Process Owner, and directs the Joint Distribution and Deployment Enterprise to globally project strategic national security capabilities.