

Welcome to Reviewer 101 from the Institute of Museum and Library Services. This web presentation is designed to help grant reviewers for the Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program prepare to serve on a review panel.

Reviewer 101 is made up of six sections, this overview followed by ones on ethics, process, evaluation, comments to applicants, and the online reviewer system.

Before you serve on an IMLS review panel it may be helpful to have some background about the agency. IMLS was established by the Museum and Library Services Act (MLSA) of 1996, which includes the Library Services and Technology Act and the Museum Services Act. It incorporated the Institute of Museum Services, founded in 1976 and the Office of Library Programs in the Department of Education, created in 1956. Then in 2008 the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science was consolidated under IMLS, along with some of the activities of the National Center for Education Statistics. IMLS was reauthorized in 2010.

IMLS Mission

- Primary source of federal support for the nation's 123,000 libraries and 17,500 museums.
- Create strong libraries and museums that connect people to information and ideas.
- Help build the capacity of libraries and museums through grant-making, convenings, research and publications

IMLS's mission is to serve as the primary source of federal support for the nation's 123,000 libraries and 17,500 museums; to create strong libraries and museums that connect people to information and ideas; and to help build the capacity of libraries and museums through grant-making, convenings, research and publications.

Purpose of Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program (LB21)

- Recruit and educate next generation of librarians;
- Support continuing education;
- Develop LIS faculty and library leaders;
- Build institutional capacity in LIS graduate schools;
- Support research by early career tenure-track faculty in LIS graduate schools.

The Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program (commonly referred to as LB21) has seven primary purposes: to recruit and educate the next generation of librarians; to support continuing education; to develop LIS faculty and library leaders; to build institutional capacity in LIS graduate schools; and to support research by early career tenure-track faculty in LIS graduate schools.

LB21 Funding Categories

Project

- $50,000 to $500,000 for up to 3 years
 - 4 years for doctoral projects
 - Standard cost sharing rules apply

Collaborative Planning

- Up to $50,000 for no more than 1 year
- No cost share required

National Forum

- Up to $100,000 for no more than 1 year
- No cost share required

The three LB21 Funding Categories are Project, Collaborative Planning, and National Forum. The project category is the one most applicants apply under. Awards range from $50,000 to $500,000 for up to 3 years, or 4 years for doctoral projects. Standard cost sharing rules apply to project category grants. Collaborative Planning grants may receive up to $50,000 for no more than 1 year and no cost share is required. National Forum grants are up to $100,000 for no more than 1 year, and, again, no cost share is required.

LB21 Project Categories

Project Categories

- Master's Programs
- Doctoral Programs
- Institutional Capacity
- Early Career Development
- Continuing Education

LB21 has five Project Categories: Master's Programs; Doctoral Programs; Programs to Build Institutional Capacity; Research: Early Career Development; and Continuing Education.

Competitive Review Process

- Applications are evaluated by peers
- Evaluations are based on the application's strength in proving that the applicant:
 - Meets evaluation criteria in the Guidelines; and
 - Addresses one of the project categories
- Roughly 1/3 of applications funded
- Reviewer evaluations are critical
- You were selected because of your expertise

We appreciate your willingness to serve!

The program has a competitive review process with applications being evaluated by peers. Evaluations are based on the application's strength in proving that the applicant: meets the evaluation criteria in the Guidelines; and addresses one of the project categories. Roughly one-third of applications are funded. Reviewer evaluations are a critical part of the process. You were selected because of your expertise. We appreciate your willingness to serve!

Ethics

Reviewer 101: section two, Ethics.

Integrity of Review Process

- Applicants make huge commitment of time
- They reveal professional intellectual property
- Review process must protect their ideas
- Fair and candid reviews essential
- Panelists share viewpoints off the record
- Reviewers demonstrate openness to others' ideas
- Expert advice is valuable to all applicants

The integrity of the review process at IMLS is sacrosanct. Applicants make a huge commitment of time in preparing their grant proposals, often revealing intellectual property that is central to their professional careers. It is critical that the review process protect their ideas. Fair and candid reviews are essential with panelists sharing viewpoints off the record. Reviewers need to demonstrate an openness to others' ideas. Ultimately, the expert advice offered through the peer review process is valuable to all applicants.

Confidentiality

- Application information is strictly confidential
- Do not discuss existence of an application
- Do not reveal names, activities, or any other information in a proposal
- Contact IMLS with questions about an application
- NEVER contact an applicant directly

Application information is strictly confidential. Panelists should not discuss the existence of an application, let alone reveal names, activities, or any other information in a proposal. If you have questions about an application please contact IMLS. NEVER contact an applicant directly.

Confidentiality & the Review Process

- Do not leave application materials where others may see, whether at home or the office
- Do not discuss applications or the review process, even with other reviewers
- Delete all digital copies from email, hard drives and removable storage
- Overview panelists should leave all printed materials with IMLS for shredding

Confidentiality is important to remember at all stages of the review process. Do not leave application materials where others may see them, whether at home or the office. Do not discuss applications or the review process, even with other reviewers. Delete all digital copies from your email, hard drives and removable storage. Overview panelist should leave all printed materials with IMLS for shredding.

Confidentiality and Social Media

- Do not use Twitter or other social media during review sessions
 - Successive Tweets can be very revealing
 - Facebook updates may breach confidentiality
- Preserve the anonymity of the review process
 - Refrain from posting that you are an IMLS reviewer
 - Avoid saying that you are at an IMLS meeting
- Geolocation applications
 - Overview panelists should not use

Confidentiality can be especially challenging at a time when many reviewers regularly use social media. Please do not use Twitter or other social media during review sessions. When viewed together successive Tweets can be very revealing, just as Facebook updates may breach confidentiality. You can preserve the anonymity of the review process by refraining from posting that you are an IMLS reviewer; and avoiding saying that you are at an IMLS meeting. Also remember that overview panelists should not use geolocation applications such as Foursquare.

Conflict of Interest

- Read the Conflict of Interest statement carefully
- Look through your list of assigned applications
- Assess each application individually
- Potential conflicts of interest might relate to:
 - financial interests
 - personal or professional relationships
 - employment
- Bottom line - you cannot review it objectively
- Contact IMLS immediately if you have a conflict

Please take the time to read the Conflict of Interest statement carefully. Then look through your list of assigned applications, assessing each application individually. Potential conflicts of interest might relate to: financial interests; personal or professional relationships; or employment. The bottom line in judging whether a conflict of interest exists is if you don't think you can review an application objectively. Please contact IMLS immediately if you have a conflict.

Conflict of Interest Statement

As a reviewer or panelist for the Institute of Museum and Library Services, you may receive a grant application for review that could present a conflict of interest. Such a conflict could arise if you are involved with the applicant institution, or in the project described in the application, as a paid consultant or through other financial involvement. The same restrictions apply if your spouse or minor child is involved with the applicant institution or if the application is presented on behalf of an institution with which you, your spouse or minor child is negotiating future employment.

The following is the Conflict of Interest statement: As a reviewer or panelist for the Institute of Museum and Library Services, you may receive a grant application for review that could present a conflict of interest. Such a conflict could arise if you are involved with the applicant institution, or in the project described in the application, as a paid consultant or through other financial involvement. The same restrictions apply if your spouse or minor child is involved with the applicant institution or if the application is presented on behalf of an institution with which you, your spouse or minor child is negotiating future employment.

Conflicts and Relationships

- Alumni
- Previous employer
- Colleague
- Objectivity
- Mature judgment
- How recent was the connection?
- How cordial was the relationship?

We are often asked about potential conflicts of interest and personal relationships. This may be because a reviewer attended or was employed by an applicant institution. Or it may be because a reviewer has or had a relationship with a colleague involved with an application, whether as a principal investigator or a project staff member. Reviewers are expected to use objectivity and mature judgment. Ask yourselves how recent was the connection and how cordial was the relationship?

Conflict Of Interest Statement

IMLS Online Reviewer process requires each reviewer to submit a conflict of interests statement prior to reviewing the application. This conflict of interests statement will be submitted only once.

Please review the details of each application and determine if there are any conflicts of interests. Click on the "Details" button next each application.

If there are no conflicts of interests, leave all check boxes unchecked and "Conflict Comments" text box blank. The reviewer can return to the individual review without going through this statement.

If there are conflicts of interests for any of the applications, please contact the IMLS staff to discuss your conflict. When the conflict has been resolved, you may return to this website to continue other work. If you will report a conflict of interests, an email will be sent to the appropriate program officer to take further action.

Reviewer 101: section three, Process.

The grant application process consists of nine basic steps:

1. Applicants review the Grant Application and Guidelines and submit proposals to IMLS.
2. IMLS receives the grant applications, checks them for eligibility and completeness.
3. IMLS matches grant applications to field reviewers with appropriate expertise.
4. Panelists review the applications and write comments for the online reviewer system.

5. Field reviewers discuss proposals with scoring variations and make funding recommendations.
6. Overview panel considers recommended proposals and advises the IMLS Director.
7. IMLS Director makes final funding decisions.
8. IMLS staff notifies successful applicants.
9. IMLS provides feedback to all applicants.

Two-Tiered Review Process

- Initial technical field review panels
 - Expert panelists, each reading ~9-12 proposals
 - Each proposal is read by at least 3 panelists
 - Panelists discuss merits of each proposal
 - Following discussion, each reader scores proposal on a scale of 1 to 5 from "Do Not Fund" to "Excellent"
 - Reviewers do not have to reach consensus
 - Final scores and feedback/comments are recorded
 - All "potentially fundable" proposals move to overview panel
- Considerations
 - Current practice; Emerging trends; Models; Standards

The LB21 program uses a two-tiered review process that begins with initial technical field review panels of expert panelists, each reading ~9-12 proposals. Each proposal is read by at least 3 panelists. Panelists then discuss the merits of each proposal and following discussion, each reader scores a proposal on a scale of 1 to 5 from "Do Not Fund" to "Excellent." Reviewers do not have to reach consensus. Final scores and feedback or comments are recorded, and all "potentially fundable" proposals move to the overview panel. Considerations are: current practice, emerging trends, models, and standards.

Two-Tiered Review Process

- Overview Panel considers all "potentially fundable" proposals from initial panels
 - 8-10 senior panelists, each reading roughly 10 proposals
 - 3 panelists read each proposal before coming to DC
 - Panelists discuss merits of each proposal + broader consideration to needs of libraries and archives
 - Following each discussion, each reader scores proposal as either "high priority", "low priority", or "do not fund"
 - Reviewers do not have to reach consensus
 - Final scores and feedback/comments are recorded, later sent to applicants

The overview panel considers all "potentially fundable" proposals from the initial, technical review panels. 8-10 senior panelists each read roughly 10 proposals. 3 panelists read each proposal before coming to DC and during the panel meeting discuss the merits of each proposal while giving a broader consideration to the needs of libraries and archives. Following each discussion, each reader scores a proposal as either "high priority", "low priority", or "do not fund." Again, reviewers do not have to reach consensus. Final scores and feedback or comments are recorded, and later sent to applicants.

Two-Tiered Review Process

- IMLS Director has final responsibility for all award decisions
 - Based on technical and overview panel reviews, program staff prepares recommendations for Director
 - Panel recommendations strongly influence Director's decisions
 - Director and program staff discuss recommendations, as well as other factors that might influence funding decisions (e.g., current agency areas of emphasis, prior funding and performance history of applicants)

The IMLS Director has final responsibility for all award decisions. Based on technical and overview panel reviews, program staff prepares recommendations for the Director. Panel recommendations strongly influence the Director's decisions. The Director and program staff discuss recommendations, as well as other factors that might influence funding decisions (for example, current agency areas of emphasis, prior funding and performance history of applicants).

Reviewer 101

Creating a Nation of Learners

Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Program
Evaluation

Reviewer 101: section four, Evaluation.

Primary Evaluation Activities

1. Check materials for completeness and conflicts
2. Read the Application and Guidelines and the appropriate Handbook
3. Initial read-through of applications
4. Second read-through with writing of comments
5. Review comments and scores
6. Input comments and scores in online reviewer system

The primary activities involved in evaluating submissions are:

1. Checking materials for completeness and conflicts
2. Reading the Application and Guidelines and the appropriate Handbook
3. An initial read-through of all assigned applications
4. A second read-through with writing of comments
5. Reviewing comments and scores
6. Inputting comments and scores in the online reviewer system

Time Commitment – Field Reviewers

- Four weeks from mat'ls receipt to submission
- You will be asked to read ~10 proposals
- Time needed to evaluate each application
 - Experienced reviewers: 2-3 hours
 - First-time reviewers: 3-4 hours
- First few applications take longer to evaluate for all reviewers with later proposals going faster
 - Advisable to revisit those after all are reviewed
- Time commitment for field reviewers: 30-40 hours

It's important to understand the time commitment expected of IMLS reviewers. From the time you receive the application materials to submission of your scores and comments is only four weeks. You will be asked to read approximately 10 proposals. In terms of the time needed to evaluate each application, IMLS estimates that experienced reviewers will need 2 to 3 hours and first-time reviewers, 3 to 4. The first few applications typically take longer to evaluate for all reviewers with later proposals going faster. It's advisable to revisit those earlier applications after everything has been reviewed. The overall time commitment for field reviewers is in the range of 30 to 40 hours.

Initial Checks

Completeness

- Check application materials as soon as you receive them
 - Is all required information included?
 - Are all applications complete?

Conflicts of Interest

- Read through list of applications for conflicts
- Notify IMLS immediately if there are any problems

There are two initial checks you need to do as soon as you receive your application materials: Completeness and Conflicts of Interest. Check the application materials to make sure that all the required information is included and that all the applications are complete. Read through the list of applications to verify that there are no conflicts of interest. Notify IMLS immediately if there are any problems.

Evaluation of Applications

- Familiarity with Guidelines is critical for reviewers
- Express your professional judgment by:
 - Assessing if the proposal deals with priorities
 - Writing comments for each criterion
- Qualities of a Good Proposal
 - Demonstrates impact as defined in Guidelines
 - Successfully addresses each criterion
 - Addresses goals for the appropriate category

When evaluating applications it is critical for reviewers to be familiar with the Guidelines. IMLS asks you to express your professional judgment of each proposal by assessing if the proposal deals with priorities as listed in the program guidelines and by writing comments for each criterion. Your judgment should reflect how well you think the information provided in each proposal meets the goals and stated criteria of the specific priority.

Qualities of a good proposal are that it demonstrates impact as defined in the Guidelines, it successfully addresses each criterion, and it addresses the goals for the appropriate category.

LB21 Project and Funding Categories

- Project
 - Master's Level Programs (RE-01)
 - Doctoral Programs (RE-02)
 - Early Career Development (RE-04)
 - Programs to Build Institutional Capacity (RE-05)
 - Continuing Education (RE-06)
- Funding (for any category)
 - Project Grant
 - Collaborative Planning Grant
 - National Forum Grant

LB21 has the following five project categories and codes: Master's Level Programs (RE-01); Doctoral Programs (RE-02); Early Career Development (RE-04); Programs to Build Institutional Capacity (RE-05); and Continuing Education (RE-06). The three LB21 funding categories that are paired with one of the above project categories are Project Grant (the most popular), Collaborative Planning Grant, and National Forum Grant.

Two Scoring Systems in Use

- Initial technical panels
 - 5-point scoring system
 - Focus on applications
- Overview panel
 - 3-point scoring system
 - Reviews best advanced by all technical panels
 - Focuses on applications & entire program
 - Projects represent appropriate mix of library types and activities
 - Overall needs of libraries and archives in the U.S.

Two different scoring systems are used in the review process, one for the initial technical panels and the other for the overview panel. Technical panels use a 5-point scoring system and focus on the merits of each of the applications. The Overview panel uses a 3-point scoring system as it reviews the best applications advanced by all technical panels. It focuses on both the applications & the entire program, recommending projects that represent an appropriate mix of library types and activities and respond to the overall needs of libraries and archives in the U.S.

Assigning Scores: Technical

- 5=Excellent
 - For the highest quality applications
- 4=Very Good
 - For very strong applications when minor requested changes easily can be made within one week
- 3=Good
 - For good applications when more significant requested changes can be made within one week
 - Note: IMLS discourages the use of 3s because the tight timeframe may not be realistic for the necessary changes.

Technical panels use a 5-point scale in assigning scores. 5 equals excellent and is used for the highest quality applications that provide excellent support for each of the evaluation criteria through the proposed activities. These applications strongly demonstrate the potential for strategic impact. 4 equals very good and is used for very strong applications when requested changes are minor and easily can be made within one week. Strategic impact is present but not exemplary. 3 equals good and is used for applications when there are more significant requested changes but ones that can be made within one week. Note: IMLS discourages the use of 3s because the tight timeframe may not be realistic for the necessary changes.

Assigning Scores: Technical

- 2=Some Merit
 - For projects that can be revised and resubmitted by this applicant next year. Submissions are based on good ideas or addresses important issues
- 1=Do Not Fund
 - For projects that you do not want to see brought back. Proposals have major flaws that make them un fundable without major revisions or they have serious conceptual flaws

The final two scores are used for applications that are not to be considered for funding in the current grant cycle. 2 equals some merit and indicates that submissions are based on good ideas or address important issues but are not ready to receive funding. Taking into consideration the recommendations and feedback from the review panel, these applications should be revised and resubmitted next year. 1 equals do not fund and is used for projects that you do not want to see brought back to this program. Proposals have major flaws that make them un fundable without major revisions or they have serious conceptual flaws. It is possible that they may be fundable in another IMLS grant category.

Assigning Scores: Overview

- 3=High priority
 - Potential for great, sustained, national impact that can be funded with minor or no changes
- 2=Low priority
 - May be strong but do not meet program needs or do not have potential for a broad impact
- 1=Do Not Fund or DNF
 - Do not align with program needs; limited impact

The Overview panel uses a 3-point scale in assigning scores. 3 equals high priority and is used for projects with the potential for great, sustained, national impact that can be funded with minor or no changes. 2 equals low priority and is used for projects that may be strong but do not meet the needs outlined in the program guidelines or that do not have the potential for a broad impact. 1 equals do not fund or DNF and is used for projects that do not align with the needs outlined in the program guidelines and are seen as having only a limited impact.

Evaluation Criteria

- Alignment with IMLS strategic goals
- Needs Assessment
- Impact
- Diversity
- Project Design and Evaluation Plan
- Project Resources: Budget, Personnel & Mgmt Plan
- Communication Plan
- Sustainability Plan

- ✦ Collaborative Planning grant proposals do not have to address either sustainability or communication
- ✦ National Forum grant proposals do not have to address sustainability

The evaluation criteria used in this program are as follows: alignment with IMLS strategic goals; needs assessment; impact; diversity; project design and evaluation plan; project resources: budget, personnel and management plan; communication plan; and sustainability plan.

Remember that Collaborative Planning grant proposals do not have to address sustainability or communication; and National Forum grant proposals do not have to address sustainability.

IMLS Strategic Goals

- Learning
- Community
- Content
- Access
- Model Public Agency

For more information go to:
www.imls.gov/about/strategic_plan.aspx

The five IMLS strategic goals are: Learning; Community; Content; Access; and Model Public Agency.

For more information go to:
www.imls.gov/about/strategic_plan.aspx

Needs Assessment

- Does the literature review include relevant research and/or projects?
- Does the needs assessment clearly articulate the project audience and its needs?
- Do project activities and goals directly address the needs of the identified audience?
- Is the rationale for this research fully explained?

When evaluating the needs assessment, you should ask: Does the literature review include relevant research and/or projects?; Does the needs assessment clearly articulate the project audience and its needs?; Do project activities and goals directly address the needs of the identified audience?; and is the rationale for this research fully explained?

Impact

- Does the project increase the number of qualified professionals for employment as librarians?
- Does it build greater skills and abilities in the library and archives workforce?
- Will it contribute to results or products that benefit multiple institutions and diverse constituencies?
- Will project outcomes meet library service needs not only in the communities served but also be generalizable to libraries of similar size and type?
- Will this project transform practice? Innovative approaches should be given high consideration.

When evaluating the impact, ask: Does the project increase the number of qualified professionals for employment as librarians?; Does it build greater skills and abilities in the library and archives workforce?; Will it contribute to results or products that benefit multiple institutions and diverse constituencies?; Will project outcomes meet library service needs not only in the communities served but also be generalizable to libraries of similar size and type?; and will this project transform practice? Innovative approaches should be given high consideration.

Diversity

- Does the proposal identify the diversity of communities served?
- Does it address the library service needs of those communities, particularly the needs of traditionally underserved groups and/or communities?
- If a scholarship program, is there a convincing recruitment strategy?

When evaluating the diversity, ask: Does the proposal identify the diversity of communities served?; Does it address the library service needs of those communities, particularly the needs of traditionally underserved groups and/or communities?; and if the proposal is for a scholarship program, is there a convincing recruitment strategy?

Project Design and Evaluation Plan

- Does the design fit the funding category?
- Are the methodology and design appropriate to the scope of the project?
- Does the proposal clearly articulate research questions and adequately address timeline & personnel?
- Does it include details of sampling logic (size, scope), data collection and analysis methodologies?
- Does the evaluation plan explain how the results are likely to be valid, reliable or generalizable?
- Does it describe how study results will be assessed?

When evaluating the project design and the evaluation plan, ask: Does the design fit the funding category?; Are the methodology and design appropriate to the scope of the project?; Does the proposal clearly articulate research questions and adequately address timeline & personnel?;

Does it include details of sampling logic (size, scope), data collection and analysis methodologies?; Does the evaluation plan explain how the results are likely to be valid, reliable or generalizable?; and Does it describe how study results will be assessed?

Project Resources

- Are resources appropriate to meet the project goals?
 - Examine the budget justification and narrative
 - Do activities in budget match those in narrative?
 - Do expenses seem reasonable?
- Do personnel have appropriate experience and will they commit adequate time to the project?
- If the project includes a partnership, is there evidence that all partners are active contributors to and beneficiaries of the partnership activities?

When evaluating the project resources, ask: Are resources appropriate to meet the project goals and examine the budget justification and narrative to see if activities in the budget match those in the narrative and if the expenses seem reasonable?; Do personnel have appropriate experience and will they commit adequate time to the project?; and if the project includes a partnership, is there evidence that all partners are active contributors to and beneficiaries of the partnership activities?

Communication Plan

- Will the results, products, models, findings, processes, and benefits of this project be communicated effectively to the library field?
- Will they be communicated effectively to other professional organizations and stakeholders?
- Will the communities described in the Needs Assessment section as benefiting from the project be informed of activities on an ongoing basis?

When evaluating the communication plan, ask: Will the results, products, models, findings, processes, and benefits of this project be communicated effectively to the library field?; Will they be communicated effectively to other professional organizations and stakeholders?; and will the communities described in the Needs Assessment section as benefiting from the project be informed of activities on an ongoing basis?

Sustainability Plan

- Do project benefits extend beyond grant period?
- For projects involving distance education, do project plans address issues of copyright and use restriction on the course and course content during and after the grant period?
- Are there plans for preservation and maintenance of course and course content during and after the expiration of the grant period?
- For research projects, do plans to inform future research include avenues other than publication?

When evaluating the sustainability plan, ask: Do project benefits extend beyond the grant period?; For projects involving distance education, do project plans address issues of copyright and use restriction on the course and course content during and after the grant period?; Are there plans for the preservation and maintenance of course and course content during and after the expiration of the grant period?; and for research projects, do plans to inform future research include avenues other than publication?

Reviewer 101

Creating a Nation of Learners

Comments to Applicants

Reviewer 101: section five, Comments to Applicants.

Review of Proposals

- Write comments for each criteria
- After completing comments, review each one, write a brief summary of its strengths and weaknesses
- Give it a score
- Comments are sent to both successful and unsuccessful applicants
- You are expected to give input about all assigned proposals

IMLS expects reviewers to write comments for each criteria. After completing comments, review each application and write a brief summary of its strengths and weaknesses, then give it a score. Comments are sent to both successful and unsuccessful applicants. You are expected to give input about all assigned proposals.

Variance Conference Calls

- For applications with widely varying scores
- Have an open and productive discussion
 - Share thoughts freely and respectfully
 - Educate others on areas where you have expertise
 - Listen and learn
- No consensus is required
- Scores often change after discussions
- Individual ratings are shared with applicants

IMLS holds a conference call with panelists for applications with widely varying scores.

The main goals of these calls are to have an open and productive discussion where panelists share their thoughts freely and respectfully, educating others on areas where they have expertise, listening and learning when they don't.

Some notes about scoring that may be of interest to new reviewers: No consensus is required among readers of a proposal. It is very common for panelists to change their initial scores after discussions. Individual ratings and comments are shared with applicants.

Characteristics of Good Comments

- Presented in a constructive manner
- Concise, specific, easy to read and understand
- Specific to the individual applicant
- Reflect the professionalism of the reviewer
- Correlate with the score
- Acknowledge the resources of the institution
- Reflect the application's strengths and identify areas for improvement
- Directed to applicants for their own use

Characteristics of good comments are: They are presented in a constructive manner; they are concise, specific, easy to read and understand; they are specific to the individual applicant. Good comments reflect the professionalism of the reviewer and correlate with the score. They acknowledge the resources of the institution and reflect the application's strengths and identify areas for improvement. Finally, they are directed to applicants for their own use.

Poor Comments

- Are vague, irrelevant, insensitive or unclear
- To avoid making poor comments, DO NOT:
 - Penalize applicant because you think the institution doesn't need the money
 - Make derogatory remarks instead of suggestions
 - Question an applicant's honesty or integrity
 - Offer or ask for irrelevant or extraneous information

Comments that are considered poor are vague, irrelevant, insensitive or unclear. These comments actually hinder the evaluation process rather than help it. To avoid making poor comments, DO NOT: Penalize the applicant because you think the institution doesn't need the money – remember, any eligible institution may apply for and receive funds, regardless of need; Make derogatory remarks instead of suggestions; Question an applicant's honesty or integrity. You may question the accuracy of information provided by the applicant and if you are unsure how to raise your question, please contact IMLS. Do not offer or ask for irrelevant or extraneous information – your comments should concern only the information IMLS requests of all applicants.

Conflict of Interests Statement

IMLS Online Reviewer process requires each reviewer to submit a conflict of interests statement prior to reviewing the applications. The conflict of interests statement will be submitted only once.

Please review the details of each application and determine if there are any conflicts of interests. Click on the "Details" button view each application.

If there are no conflicts of interests, leave all check boxes unchecked and "Conflict Comments" text box blank. The reviewer can return to the individual review without going through this statement again.

If there are conflicts of interest for any of the applications, please contact the IMLS staff to discuss your conflict. Once the conflict has been resolved, you may return to this website to continue your review. If you will submit a conflict of interests an email will be sent to the appropriate program officer to take further action.

Conflicts of Interest

- All reviewers should read the full Conflict of Interest Statement as discussed under ethics
- Before you can begin to review any application you must complete a Conflict of Interest Statement

Conflict Of Interests Statement

This Online Review process requires each reviewer to submit a conflict of interests statement prior to reviewing the applications. The conflict of interests statement will be submitted only once.

Please review the details of each application and determine if there are any conflicts of interests. Click on the "Details" button for each application.

If there are no conflicts of interests, mark all checkboxes "unchecked" and "Conflict Comments" field blank. If you are not an expert in the field, you may wish to leave this statement blank. If you are a conflict of interest for any of the applications, please contact the IMLS staff to discuss your conflict. Once the conflict has been resolved, you may return to this website to continue your review. If you do suspect a conflict of interests, an email will be sent to the appropriate program officer to have further action taken. Email: IMLS@2025.2025@2025
