Student named Youth of Year, called 'strong candidate' to win next level

All-European win earns trip to White House for Oval Office ceremony

USAG Vicenza CYSS Services
Special to the Outlook

A high school student at USAG Vicenza was recently selected as Installation Management Command-Europe's Boys & Girls Clubs of America Youth of the Year.

Kolawole Awe was selected as the Vicenza Garrison BGCA Youth of the Year in March and subsequently competed with other garrison Youth of the Year candidates for a chance to represent all winners from Army communities across Europe.

Now, with the help from the Vicenza and IMCOM Europe Region Child, Youth, and School Services, he will prepare to compete with other military services in Europe to determine who will compete in the continental United States, according to Michael Morris, the Youth Center Director, CYSS.

Awe was chosen by a group of IMCOM-E officials based on his sound character, leadership skills and willingness to give back to the community, according to Morris.

"Kolawole is a strong candidate to compete with the selected European Youth of the Year candidates for a chance to represent all winners from Army communities across Europe."

He is a true leader, intent on making a difference in the world.

Senior Ugandan general meets with USARAF leaders, continues cooperative partnership

RICK SCAVETTA
U.S. Army Africa

When Ugandan Brig. Gen. Silver Kayemba arrived at U.S. Army Africa headquarters on April 27, he was met by familiar faces.

Natural Fire 10

Kayemba, 53, the chief of training and operations for the Ugandan People's Defense Force, was a key player during Natural Fire 10, a humanitarian assistance and disaster relief exercise co-led by the UPDF and USARAF, held in Uganda in Oct. 2009.

"This visit strengthens our relationship with the U.S. Armed Forces, particularly with U.S. Army Africa," Kayemba said. "We are looking forward to even closer cooperation in the future."

One of the first people Kayemba met was Maj. Gen. William B. Garrett III, commander of USARAF.

Engagement strategy

"As part of our engagement strategy, USARAF invites senior military leaders

Ugandan Brig. Gen. Silver Kayemba was greeted by USARAF Commander Maj. Gen. William B. Garrett III during Kayemba's visit to USAR headquarters at Caserma Ederle.

from partner land forces to see how our command operates," Garrett said. "We create opportunities to discuss the way forward, as the U.S. Army continues to work with Ugandan land forces to strengthen their capacity to support security missions in Africa."

USARAF leaders briefed Kayemba on the command's mission, its ongoing partnerships with African land forces to foster security, stability and peace on the African continent.

During his two-day visit, Kayemba also toured Caserma Ederle, stopping first at training simulators used by Soldiers prior to deploying.

U.S. visits

In 2006, Kayemba visited several military sites in the United States, to include the Pentagon, National Defense University and a U.S. Marine Corps base.

As a junior officer then, Kayemba also attended the basic transportation officer course in the United States.

During Natural Fire, Kayemba served as exercise deputy director and worked closely with Garrett.

"We've been reviewing lessons learned from Natural Fire," Kayemba said. "We are going to benefit from what I've seen here and I look forward to working with U.S. Army Africa in future."

services in the European Region," said Morris.

Selection committee members reviewed applications from Army youth at garrisons across Europe. Awe's application demonstrated that he possesses a natural charisma that he uses to influence and lead others, explained Morris.

"He is a true leader, intent on making a difference in the world," said Morris. "He establishes his leadership through organizing activities and following through as a dependable, responsible leader."

Due to his input and great communication skills, there would not have been a successful homecoming powder-puff football game or fan bus from Vicenza to Aviano explained Morris.

"Both events were a huge success. Currently, he is working on organizing and implementing a community youth variety show, which consists of talent, fashion and impromptu skits."

A dedicated member of the Vicenza CYS Services Teen Center for two years, Awe's list of service includes: Vicenza

High School Student Council president, member of the Vicenza High School National Honor Society, Vicenza high school debate team member, captain of the Vicenza high school football team, active Keystone Club member and youth representative at the community Army Family Action Plan conference.

Being named Youth of the Year is the highest honor a Boys & Girls Club member can receive, noted Morris.

"The title recognizes outstanding contributions to a member's family, school, community and Boys & Girls Club, as well as personal challenges and obstacles overcome," he said.

If Awe wins the European all services-wide competition, he will compete at the next level in the United States. The National Youth of the Year receives a college scholarship and is installed by the President of the United States in an Oval Office ceremony.

"We all are extremely proud of Kolawole," said Morris, "and wish him the best of luck."

For more information on the Youth of the Year Program or other youth programs, call the CYSS office at 634-7659.

Auto Skills service 'outstanding'

The Outlook will occasionally publish ICE feedback, highlighting some of the installation's outstanding employees.

To leave ICE feedback, visit <http://www.usag.vicenza.army.mil/> and click on the ICE link at the bottom of the page, or go directly to the Vicenza ICE site at http://ice.disa.mil/index.cfm?fa=site&site\_id=321 to submit your comments, concerns or suggestions.

The following comment was submitted March 1 by a community member :

I can't thank the staff of Auto Skills enough for the services they provide. I've had nothing but positive experiences with them. And I'm constantly amazed at their willingness to lend a helping hand. I came in a few weeks ago because my license plate had come loose. All I needed was a nut to fix it myself. However, Mr. Galin, with hardly a word spoken, took a look and proceeded to fix it for me in a snap, and then he sent me on my merry way. I was incredibly grateful! This is just one example of the outstanding service and help I've received from Auto Skills. What a great team! I'm so thankful to have them in my community!

Extreme fun doesn't have to prove extremely hazardous

USAG Vicenza Safety Office

With warmer weather, there are many opportunities to get out and have fun.

For some, that means extreme sports such as rock climbing, BASE jumping, mountain biking and more.

"While all of these activities are available in the Vicenza area or within driving distance, safety must be kept at the forefront to keep extreme fun from becoming extremely hazardous," said Robert Williams, the garrison's safety and occupational health specialist.

Whatever the activity, the first stop on the path to adventure is to contact an expert. The employees at Outdoor Recreation are either the experts or know the experts.

If you are just starting or need some refreshers, take a lesson," suggested Williams. "Things may have changed since the last time you did it.

Once you are done getting a lesson or finding out about the local requirements, you need to gear up.

"You don't want to skimp on equipment," he said. "Get only approved helmets, padding, shoes, gloves or whatever it is you might need. Avoid the cheap stuff here; your life may depend on it.

"You also don't know how used equipment has been abused unless you rent it, which means that an expert looked at the gear and approved its use," said Morris.

Finally, take a buddy with you. Morris said it is best if the buddy has gone through the whole process with you.

"Nothing beats a second set of eyes for avoiding trouble, and a buddy won't let you hurt yourself," he said. "If it is a solo event, make sure that somebody knows your plans and what to do if you don't return at the right time."

Then, enjoy the rewarding return of smart planning and safe adventure.

Gathering for a cause: Citizens of Cavarzere, Italy, listen attentively during a town celebration April 25. U.S. Soldiers from the 7th Civil Support Command, stationed in Vicenza, the Italian army and local civilians of Cavarzere took part in a ceremony April 25 to pay tribute to those who lost their lives and helped change Italy forever during World War II. In 1945, Allied Forces and resistance partisans fought for Italy's liberation, ultimately helping to secure a free democratic Italian society. After nearly two years of fighting up the spine of the Italian peninsula and taking heavy casualties, the hostilities ended, and Italy was liberated. Col. Ethnic Failure: Camp Darby's ACS Mobilization and Deployment Specialist Victor Arthur (left) donates a copy of his book, Memories of an Ethnic Failure, to Debora Lomi of the Camp Darby post library for National Library Week. Arthur said he decided to write the book after an African American friend called him an ethnic failure for marrying outside of his race. Arthur's wife is German. The book recalls Arthur's memories growing up poor, fatherless and the middle child in a brood of nine in North Carolina to become the man he is today. "If I am an ethnic failure, I want to be the best ethnic failure known to man and love the woman I married and cherish the kids I fathered," he said in the book.

Families send paper hugs to troops

How do you send a hug thousands of miles away?

For local youth, it was just a matter of finding the right color crayon, glitter and stickers.

Caserma Ederle children visited the post library April 28 to participate in the Send A Hug project. They traced their bodies onto a piece of paper, decorated it to resemble themselves, folded it and mailed their paper self, arms open wide, to their loved one downrange.

"The idea behind it was to bring families together during the deployment," explained Vicenza Librarian Michelle Krewson.

"The kids had a lot of fun; they worked really hard on them, right down to the dimples on one boy's cheeks," she said.

Cougars sweep Naples, Sigonella

By PETE HULLER
Special to the Outlook

The Vicenza High School Cougars baseball team is off to a hot start this season, winning all its games against both Naples and Sigonella Saturday at Carney Park in Naples.

After their second road trip with back-to-back doubleheaders, their season record is six wins against just two losses.

"I'm happy to see contributions being made by everyone; we're really coming together as a team," said Coach Mark Wilson.

Each of the four games was a thriller, with Vicenza coming from behind to win in the last inning in three of the games.

All European Team pitcher Jack Buffington earned three victories, dominating Naples and Sigonella by striking out 26 batters in 11 innings and allowing a stingy 5 hits.

Kyle Kaus did damage with the bat, driving in the game-winning run twice against archrival Naples, including a blistering smash down the leftfield line in of the eighth inning for the 6-5 victory.

"To pull out yet another come-from-behind victory, especially against the ace of their staff, was incredible," said Wilson. "It sure made the eight-hour bus ride home easier."

The wins were set up by solid pitching. For Zach Paulino, Marc Bowman and John Gueli this was their pitching debuts.

Regular starters Trevor Rice and Jeremy Huller also gave three strong innings each, keeping the games close.

Hitting stars included Kaus, Buffington, Trevor Rice and Joe Boswell. "We went out there as the underdog, but played smart and with a lot of heart," said Boswell.

The Cougars will play their only home games Saturday against a tough Aviano team at Pomari Stadium in downtown Vicenza. The doubleheader starts at 10 a.m. The stadium is located on Via Vincenzo Bellini, close to the Auchan and Brico stores on the west side of town. Come out and support your team.

Caserma Ederle's Kyla Hallam was a winner during the 31st annual Trofeo Internazionale di Nuoto, Primo Maggio, held in Forli Saturday. More than 20 teams from throughout Italy and Europe participated in the swim competition.

Eleven-year-old Hallam placed third in the 50-meter breast stroke competition for 11-12 year olds and earned the top time for 11 year olds at 42.50 seconds. Her team, ASD Nuoto Vicenza, took second overall out of the 20 teams. More than 70 swimmers from Vicenza traveled to Forli, and several hundred swimmers participated in the event.

Hallam is also a member of the installation's Mako Sharks swim team. Since the post team swims only a few months out of the year, her Italian team has allowed her to invite her Mako Sharks team members to participate with her at her Italian practices year-round. Competing with the Sharks, Hallam won the 2010 European Forces Swim League's "Pentathlete of the Year" for 10-year-old girls, based on top performance in five events throughout the season.

"We have been really fortunate to have a great relationship with both ASD Nuoto Vicenza and the Mako Sharks to support her continuing development as a competitive swimmer," said Kyla's mother, Megan Hallam.
