

BIOS

Douglas G. Aspros, DVM, is President of the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA). He has practiced small animal medicine in New York since his 1975 graduation from the College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University. Dr. Aspros is also a partner at Bond Animal Hospital in White Plains, NY, and Pound Ridge Veterinary Center in Pound Ridge, NY. Before becoming AVMA president, Dr. Aspros served six years on the AVMA Council on Education, and is active in local and state veterinary organizations. In 1985, Dr. Aspros was the first veterinarian in New York to be appointed president of a county board of health. He has served as Westchester County's board of health president since 1994, directing initiatives on both emerging threats and core public health programs. Dr. Aspros has also served on Cornell's College Advisory Board and the Cornell Council.

Robert D. Atkinson, Ph.D., is the President of Information Technology and Innovation (ITIF), a non-partisan research and educational institute that seeks to devise and foster public policies to advance technological innovation and productivity. Before coming to ITIF, Atkinson was the Vice President of the Progressive Policy Institute and Director of PPI's Technology & New Economy Project. Dr. Atkinson is the author of Innovation Economics: The Race for Global Advantage (Yale, 2012) and The Past and Future of America's Economy: Long Waves of Innovation that Power Cycle of Growth (Edward Elgar, 2005). He received his Ph.D. in city and regional planning from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1989.

Andrew J. Bane, Ph.D., is COO of VetSource, Inc., a Vet-VIPPS accredited, outsourced veterinary home delivery pharmacy and technology services company in Portland, Oregon. As a member of the founding team of VetSource, Dr. Bane has been involved in shaping the strategic direction of VetSource and has held many positions in the company since its inception in 2005. He has previously served as COO for Scott Barber, Inc., as Director of Clinical Operations for Pharmatech, Inc., and was co-founder of Premier Veterinary Hospitals, Inc. Dr. Bane earned a Master's Degree and a Ph.D. in Physiological Psychology from Colorado State University. He has published many articles, including scientific studies in behavioral neuroscience.

Elaine Blythe, PharmD, is an Associate Professor at St. Matthews University, School of Veterinary Medicine on Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean. She received her B.S. and Doctor of Pharmacy degrees from Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Pharmacy. She joined the faculty at the school of veterinary medicine in 2012 after teaching 10 years at Creighton University School of Pharmacy and Health Professions in Omaha, NE. Dr. Blythe's area of expertise is educating pharmacy students and veterinary students in veterinary pharmacy and veterinary pharmacology. Dr. Blythe also provides regulatory affairs consulting services for several animal health companies in the United States, focusing on wholesale drug distribution and pharmacy licensing requirements, and served as a member of the AVMA Council on Biological and Therapeutic Agents subcommittee on veterinary dispensing, prescribing, and compounding in 2002-2003.

James C. Cooper, Ph.D., is the Director of Research and Policy at the Law & Economics Center and a lecturer in law at George Mason University School of Law. Prior to moving to George Mason, he spent several years at the FTC, where he served as Attorney Advisor to Commissioner William Kovacic, and Acting Director of the FTC's Office of Policy Planning. Before coming to the FTC, Dr. Cooper worked in the antitrust group at Crowell & Moring LLP in Washington, DC. Dr. Cooper's research has appeared in various publications. He has a Ph.D. in Economics from Emory University and a J.D. from George Mason University School of Law, where he was a Levy Fellow and a member of the George Mason Law Review.

BIOS

Mark Cushing is the Founding Partner of the Animal Policy Group, where he focuses his advocacy practice on providing high-level strategic advice and services to clients with needs at any level of government and to key trade/industry associations in the US, Canada, and Mexico. Mr. Cushing is the Chair of the Government Relations and Public Policy Practice and also a partner at Tonkon Torp LLP. Since 2004, Mr. Cushing has specialized in animal health, animal welfare, and veterinary and veterinary educational issues. He is a frequent speaker at animal policy-related conferences, and is an adjunct faculty member in Animal Law at the Lewis & Clark Law School and a visiting lecturer at the University of Oregon School of Law. Mr. Cushing is a graduate of Stanford University and the Willamette University College of Law.

Brad Dayton is Senior Director of Pharmacy for Ahold USA. Ahold operates 565 pharmacies in its Giant, Martin's, and Stop & Shop supermarkets in ten states and the District of Columbia. Mr. Dayton's current responsibilities with Ahold include supply chain, business development, compliance, and clinical programs. Mr. Dayton has been involved in the retail pharmacy industry for the past twenty-four years; before joining Ahold, he worked in Pharmacy Operations for CVS in the Washington, DC, area. Mr. Dayton is a graduate of Duquesne University School of Pharmacy.

Race Foster, DVM, has been a licensed veterinarian since 1983. He is co-owner of Drs. Foster and Smith pet supplies, a major pet supply retailer in business for nearly 30 years. The Drs. Foster and Smith pharmacy is both Vet-VIPPS and PCAB certified. Dr. Foster served on the Board of Directors of the Veterinary Teaching Hospital of Michigan State University for four years, and was also a full time practitioner for ten years as co-owner of four clinics in northern Wisconsin.

Andrew I. Gavil is the Director of the Office of Policy Planning at the Federal Trade Commission, on leave from Howard University School of Law, where he has been a member of the faculty since 1989. He has written and spoken extensively in the United States and abroad on various aspects of antitrust law, policy, jurisdiction, and procedure.

Daniel J. Gilman, Ph.D., is an Attorney Advisor in the FTC's Office of Policy Planning, where he works on competition issues in health care and technology markets. He helped draft the FTC Staff Report, Broadband Connectivity Competition Policy, and has published in many journals across industries. Mr. Gilman came to the FTC from the University of Maryland, where he was a visiting professor of law. Before that, he was in private practice at Hogan & Hartson and an Olin Fellow and adjunct professor of law at Georgetown University, where he taught law and economics. Mr. Gilman earned an A.B. from Dartmouth College and a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago, and taught bioethics, neuroscience, and the philosophy of science for a decade before attending law school. He holds a J.D. from Georgetown Law Center where he served as senior articles editor of the Georgetown Law Journal.

Christopher M. Grengs is an Attorney Advisor in the FTC's Office of Policy Planning. He works with staff across the Commission to coordinate research and advocacy efforts on a wide variety of complex legal and economic policy issues. In particular, he has made significant contributions to the Commission's research and policy activities in the areas of telecommunications, including broadband Internet access, and mortgage disclosure reform, among others. Grengs earned his JD from the University of Minnesota Law School and his BA in Economics and Political Science from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

BIOS

Wendy Hauser, DVM, is the Managing DVM of Coal Creek Veterinary Hospital in Centennial, Colorado. A 1988 graduate of the Oklahoma State University College of Veterinary Medicine, Dr. Hauser has practiced in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Colorado. In 1997 she founded Coal Creek Veterinary Hospital, and continues to manage medical policy and hospital direction after selling the business to a national corporation in 2008. Dr. Hauser is active in a number of professional associations, such as the AAHA NABA Business Group Task Force, a special task force convened to organize and introduce the concept of small business groups to AAHA membership, and the North American Business Association, an independent, by-invitation veterinary business group. Dr. Hauser has published articles in Feline Practice and The Bovine Practitioner as well as reviewing client education articles for AAHA HealthyPet.com.

Michael H. Hinckle is a Partner with the law firm of K&L Gates LLP where his practice focuses on FDA regulatory matters with an emphasis in the area of pharmaceutical and medical device product regulation. Mr. Hinckle has represented clients before the FDA, CMS, DEA, and various State Boards of Pharmacy both in private practice and as in-house General Counsel for a pharmaceutical manufacturer. Prior to entering the practice of law, Mr. Hinckle worked as a molecular biologist with the American Type Culture Collection and served in the US Navy. He is a former member of the Board of Directors for the Generic Pharmaceutical Association and a frequent lecturer and author on FDA-related matters.

Adrian Hochstadt directs the AVMA's state legislative and regulatory initiatives as Assistant Director of State Legislative and Regulatory Affairs, a position he has held since March 2005. Mr. Hochstadt has over 20 years of experience in managing government affairs programs and association management, including at the American Society of Plastic Surgeons and the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care, a leading healthcare organization. Previously, Mr. Hochstadt was staff counsel with the American Bar Association. He holds a JD from Northern Illinois University College of Law, and earned a Certified Association Executive designation from the American Society of Association Executives in 1999.

Robert L. Hubbard is Assistant Attorney General in the Antitrust Bureau of the New York State Attorney General's office, a position he held since 1987. From April 2000 to January 2011, he was also the Director of Litigation for the Antitrust Bureau. A graduate of Fordham University School of Law and New York University's Graduate School of Business, Mr. Hubbard has been involved in various competition and consumer protection cases in the state of New York. Notably, Hubbard served as lead counsel during In re Disposable Contact Lens Antitrust Litigation, M.D.L. 1040 (M.D. Fla). Prior to that case, he was the chair of a committee of states challenging restraints on the sale and distribution of disposable contact lenses.

Elizabeth A. Jex is an Attorney Advisor in the FTC's Office of Policy Planning where her expertise includes health care competition and regulation. She is one of the primary authors of the FTC's Follow-On Biologic Drug Report in 2009, work that earned her the agency's Paul Rand Dixon Award for its contribution to the FTC's mission. From 1990 to 2009, Ms. Jex was an attorney in the FTC's Bureau of Competition, where she investigated pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and medical device mergers, acquisitions, and intellectual property licensing agreements. Ms. Jex is a graduate of Williams College and earned her JD from Georgetown University Law Center.

BIOS

Gregg Jones is the Compliance Manager for the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy (NABP). The NABP is involved with the accreditation of internet pharmacies selling both human and veterinary prescription drugs, prescription drug wholesalers, internet advertisers of prescription drugs, and pharmacies selling medical supplies under Medicare Part B. Mr. Jones has over 26 years of work experience in pharmacy and drug regulation with the State of Florida Department of Health. He is also a registered pharmacist and a consultant pharmacist.

Sydney Knight is an Attorney in the FTC's Division of Advertising Practices in the Bureau of Consumer Protection. Recently, Mr. Knight investigated and obtained settlements against three online marketers of contact lens for violations of the Contact Lens Rule. Before joining the FTC, he was an attorney at Hogan and Hartson. Mr. Knight received his B.A. degree with honors from St Mary's University in Nova Scotia, Canada, and his JD from Howard University, where he was Book Review Editor of the Howard Law Journal.

Tara Isa Koslov is Deputy Director of the FTC's Office of Policy Planning, a position she has held since March 2011. Her portfolio includes a broad range of competition and consumer protection issues. Ms. Koslov previously spent almost twelve years as an Attorney Advisor to three different FTC Commissioners (focusing primarily on competition issues), and also worked in one of the agency's merger enforcement divisions, following several years in private practice. She recently completed a three-year term as Editorial Co-Chair of the Antitrust Law Journal, having served on the editorial board for 15 years. Ms. Koslov earned her JD from Harvard Law School and an AB from Brown University.

Jon Leibowitz was designated to serve as Chairman of the FTC on March 2, 2009, by President Barack H. Obama, having been previously sworn in as a commissioner in September 3, 2004. In joining the Commission, Chairman Leibowitz resumed a long career of public service. He was the Democratic chief counsel and staff director for the U.S. Senate Antitrust Subcommittee from 1997 to 2000, where he focused on competition policy and telecommunications matters. He served as chief counsel and staff director for the Senate Subcommittee on Terrorism and Technology from 1995 to 1996 and the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Justice from 1991 to 1994. In addition, he served as chief counsel to Senator Herb Kohl from 1989 to 2000. Chairman Leibowitz worked for Senator Paul Simon from 1986 to 1987. In the private sector, Chairman Leibowitz served most recently as Vice President for Congressional Affairs for the Motion Picture Association of America – from 2000 to 2004 – and worked as an attorney in private practice in Washington from 1984 to 1986. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a B.A. in American History (1980), Chairman Leibowitz graduated from the New York University School of Law in 1984.

Kent D. McClure, DVM, is General Counsel for the Animal Health Institute (AHI). Formed in 1941, AHI represents research-based manufacturers of animal health products. Dr. McClure has been with AHI since 1999. He has previously practiced law with the firm of Cowles & Thompson in Dallas, Texas. He has also been in small animal veterinary practice. Dr. McClure is a graduate of the University of Texas School of Law and the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine.

David G. Miller, R.Ph., is Executive Vice President and CEO of the International Academy of Compounding Pharmacists (IACP), an association representing more than 2,700 pharmacists, technicians, students, and members of the compounding community who focus upon the specialty practice of pharmacy compounding.

BIOS

Before coming to IACP, Mr. Miller was the Director of Pharmacy Affairs at Merck, where he was responsible for corporate relations with the profession at the national and state level as well as with the academic community. Mr. Miller also previously served as the Director of Professional Affairs at the National Community Pharmacists Association, and was Executive Director for the Maryland Pharmacists Association. Mr. Miller received his B.S. in 1985 from the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy.

Clarke D. Newman, O.D., is a Fellow in the American Academy of Optometry (AAO), and in 1993, received his Diploma in the Section on Cornea, Contact Lenses, and Refractive Technologies. Dr. Newman earned his Doctor of Optometry degree and his BS degree in pre-medical biology from the University of Houston. Dr. Newman has been a member of the American Optometric Association for over twenty-five years, and he serves on numerous committees at the organization. He is an adjunct assistant professor at the University of Houston College of Optometry, serves as editor of Texas Optometry, and has a regular column in Contact Lens Spectrum.

Paul D. Pion, DVM, is the President, Founder, and CEO of the Veterinary Information Network (VIN), an online community for veterinarians. Prior to founding VIN in 1991 with Dr. Duncan Ferguson, Dr. Pion was a full-time instructor and researcher at the University of California, Davis. He also interned at the Animal Medical Center in New York City and completed a residency in Cardiology at UC Davis, a post-doctorate in Pharmacology at Columbia University, and coursework and research toward his PhD at UC Davis. Dr. Pion holds a BS and a DVM from Cornell University, and he is board certified as a Diplomate of the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (Specialty of Cardiology). He has received many awards and honors and has published extensively. Dr. Pion is the co-author of the book Cats for Dummies.

John Powers is the Executive Vice President at Drs. Foster and Smith pet supplies, a major pet supplies retailer. Mr. Powers has over thirty-five years of executive leadership experience in the pet supplies industry, including the last 20 years at Drs. Foster and Smith. Prior to that, his executive positions included VP of Merchandising and Marketing, and VP of Operations, positions that encompassed direct marketing, brick-and-mortar businesses, and internet retailing, each on a national scale.

Deborah Dubow Press is Regulatory Affairs Manager in the Government Relations Office of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA). Ms. Press develops ASPCA's regulatory strategies related to puppy mills, farm animals, equine protection, and animal cruelty issues. Previously, she worked at USDA as an Enforcement Specialist, where her responsibilities included the analysis of legal issues and the pursuit of penalties in connection with the enforcement of the Animal Welfare Act and the Horse Protection Act. Ms. Press received her law degree from Cornell Law School and a B.S. in animal science from the University of Vermont.

Joel L. Schrag, Ph.D., joined the FTC's Bureau of Economics in 2000, where he works on a range of merger and non-merger investigations, including many involving the pharmaceutical industry. Prior to coming to the FTC, Dr. Schrag taught in the Department of Economics at Emory University, and he has published a variety of articles in the fields of law and economics, industrial organization, and behavioral economics. His current research interests lie in the areas of the economics of intellectual property and the nature of competition in the pharmaceutical industry. Dr. Schrag received his Ph.D. in economics from the University of California, Berkeley.

BIOS

Nate Smith is currently the Vice President of Business Development at Nu Skin Enterprises. Previously, from 2004 to 2010, Mr. Smith was the Senior Director of Grocery Strategy at Walmart Stores, Inc. While at Walmart, Mr. Smith helped develop pet department strategy and launched new initiatives related to pet medications. Prior to his employment at Walmart, Mr. Smith was with NuSkin as the Director of Business Development. Mr. Smith earned his MBA from the University of Virginia's Darden Business School, and a BS in economics from Utah State University.

Clinton Vranian is Vice President and General Counsel for Novartis Animal Health US, Inc., the animal health affiliate of Novartis AG. Prior to joining Novartis in 2006, Mr. Vranian worked with law firms in North Carolina and Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, where his practice focused on antitrust and trade practice. Mr. Vranian graduated from Emory and Henry College and the University Of Richmond School Of Law and received an MBA from Duke University.

Link V. Welborn, DVM, is a practicing veterinarian who is board certified in canine and feline practice. Dr. Welborn owns four small animal hospitals in Tampa, Florida, all of which are accredited by the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA). He is past president of the AAHA and currently serves as the AAHA Delegate to the AVMA House of Delegates. Dr. Welborn is also Chair of the AVMA Economics Strategy Committee and AVMA Workforce Advisory Group. He earned his undergraduate degree from the University of South Florida and is a graduate of the University of Florida College of Veterinary Medicine.

Stephanie A. Wilkinson is an Attorney Advisor in the FTC's Office of Policy Planning, where she has worked on competition and consumer protection issues in healthcare markets. Ms. Wilkinson joined the FTC in 2001, and before joining OPP, she served as a staff attorney in the Bureau of Competition, where she investigated mergers involving a range of industries, including pharmaceuticals, medical devices, laboratory services, high technology, and chemicals. Ms. Wilkinson earned her JD from William and Mary School of Law in 2001 and a BA from Vanderbilt University in 1996.

R. Joe Zeidner is the Chief Legal Officer, General Counsel, and Corporate Secretary for 1800Contacts. Prior to joining the company in 2000, Mr. Zeidner was the regulatory general counsel for Pharmanex, Inc., a Utah-based vitamin and supplement manufacturer and distributor. Prior to that, he served as Northeast Asia general counsel for Nu Skin Japan and Nu Skin Korea and worked at Pfizer Pharmaceutical. Mr. Zeidner received a Bachelor's degree in Japanese and Communications from Brigham Young University and a law degree from the J. Reuben Clark Law School.