Guiding Questions	Are regional institutions and policy frameworks adequate for dealing with the challenges set out in SREX? If not, what needs to change? Are these incremental or transformative? Is the use of science and social science in guiding policy and decision-making sufficient? How can action become more evidence based? How can uncertainty in projections be dealt with regionally?	Are national institutions and policy frameworks adequate for dealing with the challenges set out in SREX? If not, what needs to change? Are these incremental or transformative?
