

KEESLER NEWS

KEESLER AIR FORCE BASE, BILOXI, MISSISSIPPI

Train. Fight. Win.

SEPT. 20, 2012 VOL. 73 NO. 36

Keesler remembers 9/11

page 14-15

NCO Academy graduation

Page 5

OTS Selectees

Page 7

'Strut your Mutt' photos

Page 22

INSIDE

Commentary, 3 Training and Education, 5-7 News and Features, 9-20 Sports and Recreation, 22-24

www.keesler.af.mil

Brig. Gen. Brad Spacy
81st Training Wing
commander

81st Training Wing
Public Affairs

1st Lt. Victoria Porto
Chief

Jerry Taranto
Deputy chief

Staff Sgt.
Kimberly Rae Moore
NCOIC

Senior Airman
Heather Heiney
Keesler News co-editor

Steve Hoffmann
Keesler News co-editor

Kemberly Groue
Photojournalist

Public affairs staff
Senior Airman
Eric Summers Jr.
Joel Van Nice
Tim Coleman
Susan Griggs

The Keesler News office is in Room 201A, Wall Studio, Building 0902. The mailing address: 81TRW/PAIN, Keesler AFB, MS 39534-2120. Phone: 377-3837, 3604, 2254 or 9966. Published Thursday. News deadline: noon Monday. Editorial content edited, prepared and provided by the 81st TRW Public Affairs Office is in compliance with Air Force journalistic standards. Photos are Air Force photos unless otherwise indicated. The Keesler News is published by Gulf Publishing Co., a private firm in no way connected with the Air Force, under an exclusive written contract with the 81st TRW as an authorized publication for U.S. military service members. Contents aren't necessarily the official views of, or endorsed by, the U.S. government, Department of Defense or Air Force. Advertising doesn't constitute endorsement by the U.S. government, DOD, Air Force or Gulf Publishing of products or services advertised. Everything advertised shall be available without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, marital status, physical handicap, political affiliation or any other non-merit factor.

Use your smart phone QR code application to view this issue and the online Keesler News archives.

ON THE COVER

Chief Petty Officer selectees Joel Gamble and Santiago Jaramillo, Center For Naval Aviation Technical Training Unit Keesler, follow the proper procedures for retiring a U.S. Flag during a 9/11 ceremony at Keesler to honor those who have given their lives since 9/11.

Photo by Kemberly Groue

PHOTO OF THE WEEK

Photo by Kemberly Groue

Members of the Keesler Mass Choir sing as they walk down the aisle during the 41st Gospel Service Anniversary celebration Sunday at the Triangle Chapel.

HURRICANE SEASON

runs from June 1 - Nov. 30. For more information and preparations tips, visit www.keesler.af.mil/hurricaneinfo.asp

Gaylor speaks at Keesler, shares mottos for life

By Senior Airman
Heather Heiney

Keesler News co-editor

Just like a favorite pair of old jeans, it is easy to slip into routines and patterns of behavior. After all, they are comfortable, they are familiar and they have always served us well in the past. But eventually, that favorite pair of jeans will begin to fray and sprout holes until it is tattered. Our routines and patterns of behavior can also sprout holes and begin to tatter. Not necessarily because they are wrong, but because change is the only certain thing in life.

Every now and then I meet people that immediately and irrevocably change the way I think and inspire me to examine the way I've been living my life.

Retired Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force Robert Gaylor, the fifth CMSAF and now the oldest living person to hold that position, is one of those people.

Born in 1930, the chief joined the Air Force only a year after it became a separate military branch and even after his retirement in 1979, he never stopped serving the Air Force and his country.

He visited Keesler Sept. 12-13 with the purpose of speaking at the Mathies NCO Academy graduation, but spent both days speaking to as many people as his schedule would allow.

I had the opportunity to hear him speak twice during his visit, but would have loved the opportunity to just sit in a comfortable chair, sip on coffee and listen to him talk all day.

I quickly filled a small notebook while listening to the chief, two phrases truly resonated with me.

The first was, "You cannot be all things to all people."

As the CMSAF, Gaylor had the opportunity to visit many bases and often told his people, "I work for you."

During one speech a senior master sergeant yelled back, "If you work for me, you're fired."

Gaylor said he was hurt by that because he gave every bit of his effort every day to make things better for the people in the Air Force.

"Not everyone likes you," Gaylor said. "Some people don't like you because you're too damn likeable."

No matter what the person, issue, place or opinion, there will always be someone who doesn't like him, her or it. Gaylor said the best we can do is be fair, honest, upfront and transparent.

"And then one day, it just ends," the chief said. "Then, you have to ask yourself, how did I do?"

"Did I give people hot French fries?"

The second phrase is one that Gaylor said is his motto for life, "People like hot French fries."

One day he was eating lunch at a small hamburger stand that didn't even have electricity and he saw an 11-year-old boy named Juan sprint away with a sack full of hamburgers. When the boy returned panting several minutes later he asked the boy why he did that and his simple answer was, "People like hot French fries."

The point of the story, to me, is that Juan could have just as easily sauntered to his destination and back, going through the repetitive motions of delivering the product, but when the customer received the order, the fries would have been

Courtesy photo

CMSAF Robert Gaylor visited Keesler, Sept. 11-13, and held several enlisted calls, met with 81st Training Wing leadership, and was the guest speaker at the Mathies NCO Academy graduation ceremony.

cold. Instead, Juan put every bit of his effort into the job. While Gaylor said he doesn't know whatever happened to Juan, hundreds of Airmen now know what he did. Putting in effort can be difficult, and we may not always see the results immediately, but the effort will always mean something to the person receiving the hot fries.

Just like Juan, the chief explained that he has always given his full attention and effort to everything he has done, every day of his life, because, "Why wouldn't you?"

"I don't eat an apple, I devour it," Gaylor said. "And if that doesn't light your fire, your logs are wet."

Photo by Kemberly Groue

Retired Chief Master Sgt. of the Air Force Robert Gaylor, the fifth CMSAF, addresses students at the Mathies NCO Academy prior to their graduation ceremony Sept. 13 at Keesler.

Mathies NCO Academy graduates 16

By Senior Airman Heather Heiney

Keesler News co-editor

Sixteen Keesler technical sergeants graduated from the Mathies NCO Academy Sept. 13.

The Mathies NCO Academy trains and develops technical sergeants to become leaders as they transition into the senior NCO enlisted tier and is a requirement for promotion to master sergeant.

Graduates are:

David McNeer, 85th Engineering Installation Squadron.

Rusty McRaney, 345th Airlift Squadron.

Jeffery House, 366th Training Squadron Detachment 6.

Melissa Raye, 335th TRS.

Claudia Holcomb, 81st Dental Squadron.

Brent Ishler, 345th AS.

Tiffany Taylor, 81st Inpatient Operations Squadron.

Richard House, 81st Logistics Readiness Squadron.

Adam DAnthony, 335th Training Squadron.

Yanira Ochoa, 81st Surgical Operations Squadron.

Aubrey Williams, 81st LRS.

Amber Davis, 81st Diagnostics and Therapeutics Squadron.

David Hough, 81st Operations Support Flight.

Robert Doris, 336th TRS.

Jennifer Reaves, 338th TRS.

Rebecca Young, 81st Medical Support Squadron.

Gaylor visits Keesler

Retired Chief Master Sgt. of the Air Force Robert Gaylor, the fifth CMSAF, speaks with Tech. Sgt. Patrick Wagnon, a student at the Mathies NCO Academy, prior to the academy's graduation ceremony Sept. 13 at Keesler. During the chief's visit he also held several enlisted calls, met with 81st Training Wing leadership, and visited the 81st Security Forces Squadron.

Photo by Kemberly Groue

Two from Keesler selected for officer training

By Steve Pivnick

81st Medical Group Public Affairs

Courtesy photo

Staff Sgt. Aaron Howard, 338th Training Squadron instructor and Staff Sgt. Kwanza Lincoln, 338th TRS student, work on switchboard equipment during a cyber transport class. Howard was recently selected to attend Basic Officer Training and will go on to be a combat systems officer.

Photo by Steve Pivnick

Patterson retrieves an item from the office copier. Patterson was recently selected to attend Basic Officer Training and will go on to be a remotely-piloted aircraft pilot.

Staff Sgts. Leonard Patterson, 81st Aerospace Medicine Squadron public health technician, and Aaron Howard, 338th Training Squadron cyber transport instructor, will soon shed their stripes, don gold second lieutenant bars and enter Basic Officer Training. Howard and Patterson are two of only 47 enlisted members and 398 total selected for the program Sept. 14.

Patterson will be training as a remotely-piloted aircraft pilot and Howard will be training as a combat systems officer, or navigator. They expect to leave Keesler sometime between this November and Feb. 2013 to attend the 12.5 week Basic Officer Training course at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

"I was ecstatic; excited and relieved at the same time," Patterson said. "I was on pins and needles all day. I knew the announcement was coming down but didn't know whether it would be 'thumbs up' or 'thumbs down.'"

He had applied for BOT in June.

"That was when my package was submitted for the board I was selected for. I applied because I wanted to take the leadership abilities I've learned over the last five years and take them to the next level. After being deployed and seeing some of the immediate impact that pilots have down range, I wanted to be a part of that."

The future officer earned a degree in video game design from Full Sail University, located in Winter Park, Fla.

"I completed all my studies online," he explained. "I started in August of 2009 and graduated this past May. It correlates with my new Air Force duties as an RPA pilot."

Following BOT, he will be assigned to Randolph AFB, Texas, but will be sent on temporary duty to Pueblo, Colo., for seven weeks of initial flight screening. He returns to Randolph for 10-14 weeks of RPA fundamental instrument qualification.

"After that, I'll be sent to a formal training unit for another six months of training," he said.

After BOT, Howard will spend about a year training at Naval Air Station Pensacola and then move on to his next permanent duty station.

"I am extremely excited, this was my third time applying so I was starting to get the feeling I would never be picked," Howard said. "I hope this experience will show me what it is like to lead on a higher level and help develop my military career."

Keesler celebrates Air Force birthday

Photos by Kemberly Groue

Brig. Gen. Bradley Spacy, 81st Training Wing commander, is assisted by the youngest airman at Keesler, Airman 1st Class Youseff Fouad, 338th Training Squadron, in the cake cutting ceremony at the 65th Air Force Birthday Celebration event at the Triangle Friday at Keesler. The event featured live music, food, beverages, games, contests and prizes.

Chief Master Sgt. Glen Usherwood, 81st Training Group superintendent, receives a bag of popcorn from Tech Sgt. Stephen Ensminger and Staff Sgt. Renardo Richardson, 81st Training Support Squadron.

Five-year-old Cali Kirkbride, daughter of Spring and Capt. Troy Kirkbride, 81st Operations Support Flight commander, cools down with a snow ball.

Six-year-old Garrison McMillan, son of Kelly and Master Sgt. Gregory McMillan, 81st Logistics Readiness Squadron, takes a turn in football bowling.

'State of force' highlighted at AFA conference

By Tech. Sgt. Jess Harvey

Air Force Public Affairs Agency

WASHINGTON — In his keynote address at the 2012 Air Force Association's Air and Space Conference and Technology Exposition here Sept. 17, Secretary of the Air Force Michael Donley discussed major service accomplishments over the last 12 months and the Air Force's strategic way ahead.

Donley said the Air Force's budget plans reflect both priorities identified in the Defense Strategic Guidance and the requirements of the Budget Control Act. They also represent the culmination of a series of tough decisions by Air Force leaders.

"Our Air Force leadership determined the best course of action for our Air Force is to trade size for quality," Donley said. "Becoming smaller will allow us to protect a high-quality and ready force."

He said a smaller force allows leadership to better focus on modernization and capabilities in the future.

Donley also noted the need to take greater care of Airmen, particularly in the prevention of sexual assaults.

"All of us in the Air Force family and citizens across our nation, as well, have been troubled by allegations of professional and sexual misconduct by basic military training instructors at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, [Texas]" Donley said. "This misconduct has no place in our Air Force culture and is especially egregious when it occurs in the basic military training environment."

The Air Force is taking aggressive steps to assist victims and increase protections for Airmen in training environments especially, Donley added.

"We can't overlook the fact that if all our Airmen followed the rules and lived by Air Force standards, these crimes and policy violations would never have taken place," Donley noted.

"We hold Airmen to high standards because that's what is expected of us, and what we expect from each other."

Those same high standards, Donley continued, have enabled the Air Force to accomplish so much over the last 12 months.

The secretary discussed the Air Force's success in taking the fight to al Qaeda, strengthening of the nuclear enterprise and remotely piloted aircraft community, returning the F-22 Raptor to flight, and bringing in new service leadership.

"Airmen are making essential contributions to America's national security and performing important missions every day," Donley said. "Although stretched by two decades of combat, humanitarian and stability operations, the men and women of our United States Air Force continue to provide unmatched global vigilance, global reach and global power across the full spectrum of operations."

He added that America's Airmen are, without a doubt, in the joint fight today.

"Every day, our active duty, guard, reserve and civilian Airmen are adding bright new chapters to the Air Force story, combining air, space and cyber power in new ways that add to our nation's joint warfighting capabilities," Donley said. "Working together in common purpose as one Air Force, there is no challenge we cannot overcome."

Photo by Scott M. Ash

Secretary of the Air Force Michael Donley delivers his keynote address during the Air Force Association's Air & Space Conference and Technology Exposition in Washington, D.C., on Monday.

Keesler honors ultimate sacrifice

Senior Master Sgt. Anthony Fisher and Tech. Sgts. Julie Hammond and Terrance Boyd, 81st Training Group, complete a flag folding ceremony during a Sept. 11 retreat ceremony honoring those who lost their lives during the 9/11 attacks. The retreat ceremony took place in front of wing headquarters at Keesler.

Photo by Adam Bond

Chief James Donnett, Keesler Fire Department, salutes the flag.

Photo by Kemberly Groue

Chief Petty Officer selectee Aaron Wimberly, Center for Naval Aviation Technical Training Unit Keesler, rings a bell once for each of the 18 sailors who lost their lives in the past 12 months while serving during Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation New Dawn.

Photo by Kemberly Groue

Chief Master Sgt. Angelica Johnson, 81st Training Wing command chief; Brig. Gen. Bradley Spacy, 81st TRW commander; Staff Sgt. Christopher Jarrell, 81st Security Forces Squadron; Maj. Melissa Dooley, 81st Medical Operations Squadron and Airman 1st Class Seth Corn, Keesler firefighter, assist in the placement of a wreath during the retreat ceremony honoring those who lost their lives during the 9/11 attacks.

Photo by Adam Bond

KEESLER NOTES

2012 Heart Walk

Team captains are needed for the 2012 Heart Walk "Walkin' on Sunshine" 7:30 a.m. Sept. 29 at Jones Park in Gulfport. To join the Keesler team at the 3-mile walk call (228) 376-3501.

2012 Supply Classes

Quarterly Supply classes are held in Room 121B, Taylor Logistics Building.

Block I-Supply Indoctrination will be held 9-10 a.m. today. All newly-assigned supply custodians and resource managers are required to attend. For more information or to sign-up for any Block Training class, call (228) 377-5998.

Precious Metals Recovery Program will be held 10-11 a.m. today. All newly-assigned PMRP Monitors are required to attend, and refresher training is required annually. For more information or to sign-up, call (228) 377-5998.

Block III Equipment Custodian Refresher Training will be held 2 p.m. today. Supply Equipment Custodians are required to have Block III custodian training annually. For more information about the Block III training or to sign-up, call (228) 377-2270/7800.

Block IIA-Bench Stock Training will be held 9-10 a.m. Wednesday. For more information or to sign-up, call (228) 377-4180.

Block IIB-Repair Cycle Training will be held 10-11 a.m. Wednesday. For more information or to sign-up, call (228) 377-4191.

Embry-Riddle

Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University is now registering for the Oct. 2012 term, which begins Oct. 15. The university offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in aviation/aerospace, management, and business administration with multiple course formats. Discounted tuition rates are available for military (active duty, reservists, and air national guard). For more information, come by our office at Sablich Center, Room 217 or call (228) 376-8478/432-5312.

Keesler Thrift Shop

The Keesler Thrift Shop, operated by the Keesler Spouses' Club, is at the corner of Meadows Drive and First Street. Profits benefit base and area charities and provide scholarships. Hours are 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. Consignments are accepted 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Mondays. Visit www.keeslerspousesclub.com for more information and a list of preferred donations. Pickup is available for bulk donations. For more information, call (228) 377-3217. Quarterly Supply classes are held in Room 121B, Taylor Logistics Building.

Central selection board

The CY12C colonel (BSC/MSC/CHAP), lieutenant colonel (BSC/CHAP) and major (LAF/BSC/CHAP) central selection board will convene Dec. 3 at HQ AFPC. To be eligible the officer must have an extended active duty date of June 6, 2012 or earlier with a date of separation of March 3, 2013 or later. Also, officers on active duty under the Voluntary Recall Program or any other Reserve Recall Program must have at least one year on active duty as of the board convening date, starting from their new EAD date. For more information call (228) 376-8356.

Gen. Jumper nominations

2012 Gen. Jumper and Information Dominance Awards Nominations for the Air Education and Training Command General John P. Jumper Award for Excellence in Warfighting Integration and the Annual Information Dominance Professionals of the Year are due Sept. 21. These awards recognize outstanding professional performance by cyber individuals and organizations in support of the warfighter. For more information call 228-377-0627.

Immigration assistance

From 8 a.m. to noon today a representative from the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services will be in the legal office to meet with military members, their families, retirees and their dependents to answer questions about the immigration application process and how being a military member helps the immigration process. Appointments are recommended, but walk-ins are seen as time allows. For more information or to schedule an appointment, call (228) 376-8601.

Pitsenbarger awards

Members of the Community College of the Air Force Fall 2012 Graduating Class may apply for a Pitsenbarger Award sponsored by the Air Force Association. The awards allocated to Keesler provide a one-time cash award of $400 to selected top Air Force enlisted personnel graduating from the CCAF who are pursuing or plan to pursue a baccalaureate degree. Prior winners are not eligible.

Applications for the Pitsenbarger Award are available at the education services office or may be downloaded from the Air Force Association web site at <http://www.afa.org/aef/aid/pit.asp>. Applicants must carefully review and follow the requirements, selection criteria and guidelines for the award. Return the completed application with all supporting documentation to the education office by 4 p.m. Oct. 4

The Pitsenbarger Awards will be presented at the CCAF Fall commencement ceremony 3:30 p.m. Dec. 5 at the Bay Breeze Event Center.

For more information call 228-376-8708.

USM admissions

A University of Southern Mississippi admissions counselor and a USM masters of business administration program academic advisor will be in the Blake Fitness Center 2-4 p.m. Oct. 2. Stop by and check out what USM has to offer for Spring 2013.

Keesler Events Calendar

Today

8 a.m. — Veteran's benefit briefing at the Sablich Center, Room 108A.

1 p.m. — Retirement benefits briefing at the Sablich Center, Room 108A.

— Airman and family readiness center post deployment briefing at the Sablich Center Room 108.

6 p.m. — Wreath and bow making class at the arts and crafts center.

— Scrapbooking class at the arts and crafts center.

Friday

1 p.m. — Chamber of Commerce golf tournament at the Bay Breeze golf course.

5 p.m. — 2-for-1 steak night at the Bay Breeze Event Center.

6 p.m. — Intro to sewing machines at the arts and crafts center.

Saturday

9 a.m. — Cruisin' Keesler at the Marina

10 a.m. — Exceptional Family Member Program fun day at the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center.

10:30 a.m. — Chainmaille I jewelry-making class at the arts and crafts center.

Noon — Advanced intarsia woodworking class at the arts and crafts center.

1 p.m. — Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament at the Bay Breeze Golf Course.

1:30 p.m. — Chainmaille II jewelry-making class at the arts and crafts center.

7 p.m. — Air Force Ball at the Bay Breeze Event Center.

Monday

6 p.m. — Tracing your family tree genealogy seminar at the McBride Library.

Tuesday

9 a.m. — Pre-separation counseling at the Sablich Center Room 110.

— Airman and family readiness center post deployment briefing at the Sablich Center Room 108.

1 p.m. — Retirees pre-separation counseling at the Sablich Center Room 110.

Sept. 27

1 p.m. — Airman and family readiness center post deployment briefing at the Sablich Center Room 108.

Sept. 28

6 p.m. — Ladies night at the arts and crafts center.

Oct. 1

3:30 p.m. — 81st Training Wing enlisted promotion ceremony at the Bay Breeze Event Center.

Oct. 2

9 a.m. — Pre-separation counseling at the Sablich Center Room 110.

— Airman and family readiness center post deployment briefing at the Sablich Center Room 108.

1 p.m. — Retirees pre-separation counseling at the Sablich Center Room 110.

Oct. 3:

8 a.m. — Newcomer's Orientation at the Sablich Center Room 108B.

Did You Know ?

Keesler Public Affairs

Congress initially appropriated $6 million for base construction at Biloxi and an additional $2 million for equipment. By the time the War Department allocated the funds in April 1941, however, the projected cost had risen to $9.6 million.

On June 14, 1941, the U.S.

Army Corps of Engineers awarded Newton, Glenn and Knost Construction Company and J. A. Jones Construction Company contracts totaling $10 million to build Biloxi's technical training facility.

At the time, it was the most expensive government project ever undertaken in the state of Mississippi.

Recycling program aims to reduce base waste

By Senior Airman
Heather Heiney

Keesler News co-editor

People who advocated and fought for the environment used to be thought of as “tree-huggers.” Now, more and more people are becoming conscientious of their impact on the world and are taking steps to reduce or eliminate that impact.

The Keesler recycling center provides the base with an opportunity not only to reduce waste, but to bring in extra revenue to help advance the program.

Doug Smith, Zero Waste Solutions project manager, said that Keesler has a more than 50% diversion rate. This means of all the objects that may have ended up in landfills, more than half are being recycled instead. Charles Moore, supply contract manager for the recycling center, added that Keesler has the second-highest diversion rate after Joint Base Lackland.

The current Department of Defense recycling goal is 65% diversion by 2020; but Smith said his personal goal is to get the base to 75%.

“I would like to make Keesler the leader in recycling,” Smith said.

He plans to achieve this goal by providing more education to the base populous and getting base leadership involved in spreading the word about recycling. He is also working with operational security managers to complete dumpster dives.

“We’re stepping up our dumpster diving to see how many recyclables are being thrown into the dumpster,” Smith said.

He explained that about 40-60% of items that could be recycled are currently being thrown away instead.

“The biggest thing is to get in the habit of recycling,” Smith said. “Once you start it

Photo by Kemberly Groue

Mr. Robertson, Duane Olson and Douglas Houle work to empty a cardboard recycling bin to prepare the cardboard for binding into bales. Zero Waste Solutions collects a variety of recyclables and sells it to local processing companies. Proceeds collected from the sale is given back to the government.

becomes second nature.”

Each building has one location for recycling pick-up. Newspapers and magazines should be placed directly into recycling bins whereas cans, plastic bottles and shredded paper should be bagged and tied. This allows for easier transportation back to the recycling center.

“One thing we ask is keep paper clean and keep trash out of the cardboard bins,” Smith said.

Recycling not only helps the base and the environment it can often help members of the local community -- Local farmers use food waste from the dining facilities as compost, the VA uses wood chips as mulch, the shredded paper often gets turned into paper towels and usable items such as furniture are sold to individuals with base access or to local organizations.

“All proceeds from the recycling center come back to Keesler,” Smith said.

Moore said that the base has used some of those proceeds to purchase more than 250 shredders for different squadrons and units on base. These shredders are essential for compliance with Keesler’s 100% shred policy on all “white” paper. This policy not only increases recycling, it helps protect the security of the base.

White paper can actually be any color that has information on it whether hand-written or printed, including sticky notes. Magazines and newspapers should not be shredded, but placed in appropriate recycling bins. Do not shred CDs and plastic or photos into the same container as “white” paper or the entire batch will be considered unrecyclable trash. There is a shredder available at the recycling center for anyone without a shredder or for high-volume jobs.

Items accepted by the recycling center include:

- Shredded paper
- Wood-based items
- Yard waste

- Electronic waste
- Mattresses
- Mixed plastics
- Concrete and dirt
- Pens
- Mixed paper
- Cardboard
- Mixed metal
- Used furniture
- Aluminum cans
- Toner cartridges

Items not accepted by the recycling center include:

- Light bulbs
- Batteries
- Wet paint
- Motor oil
- Chemicals

For more information call (228) 377-4546.

Senior Airman Amanda Nesbitt, 81st Contracting Squadron, completes a 2-mile run with her dog, Apollo

Photos by Kemberly Groue

Alyssa Sanford, spouse of Senior Airman Derek Sanford, 81st Aerospace Medicine Squadron, and Senior Airman Trichia Fitchett, 81st Surgical Operations Squadron, and her daughter, Merritt Kathryn, 10 months, participate in the 5K Strut Your Mutt Fun Run event with their dogs Friday at the Bay Breeze Event Center at Keesler.

Keesler members strut their mutts

By Senior Airman Heather Heiney

Keesler News co-editor

1st Place Runners:

Aaron Deletoile, 81st Medical Support Squadron, accompanied by his dog Louie, was the first-place male runners and finished in 29:55 minutes.

Amanda Deans, 81st Medical Operations Squadron accompanied by her dog, Snoop, finished in 30:27 minutes.

2nd Place Runners:

Arianna and John Kane, 345th Airlift Squadron, accompanied by their dog Otis, finished in 37:35 minutes.

1st Place Walkers:

Joy Reed, military dependant, accompanied by her dog Stitch, finished in 49:38 minutes.

Ivan Mejia, 81st Diagnostics and Therapeutics Squadron, accompanied by his dog Maxie, finished in 60 minutes.

2nd Place Walkers

Beth Frost, 81st Medical Group, and her dog Star, finished in 52:55 minutes.

Donna Plucinik, military dependant, and her dog Dutch, finished in 52:55 minutes.

Diezel, a Yorkshire Terrier belonging to Staff Sgt. Destinee Avila, 81st Mission Support Group, is dressed in a dragon costume for 'Strut your Mutt'.

Keesler Motorsports Fest

Saturday & Sunday 22-23 Sep

Corner of Hangar Rd and Phantom Dr

Car and Bike Show

Saturday 1000-1600

Music, Food, Vendors, Sponsors and Giveaways!

Featuring...

Tire Rack Street Survival® school

By The BMW Foundation

Hosted by: Sports Car Club of America Foundation

Saturday 0730-1600 On Ramp 3

Take advantage of this nationally recognized course.

$35 (normally offered at $75)

GCR Autocross Event #9

Hosted by: Gulf Coast Region SCCA

Sunday 0730-1600 On Ramp 3

Witness one of the fastest growing motorsports activity.

Spectator area will be available. Runs start around 0900.

SHAM SIGNS

Public Info Email: keeslerautox@gmail.com

For more information contact event coordinators:

Street Survival School: MSgt Fries 376-3448

Cars/Bike Clubs: MSgt Bullock 377-7768

Vendors/Sponsors/Private Orgs: MSgt Frontera 376-3202

Keesler vs. Biloxi Bay CoC Golf Tournament

1 p.m. Sept. 21

Noon registration

Bay Breeze Golf Course

Shotgun start, two person and best ball tournament. $50 per person.

Fee includes greens, cart, food,
beverages, prizes and giveaways.

20 teams limit.

Call to reserve your spot!

377-3832

www.keesler81fss.us

Air Force Association John C. Stennis Chapter #332
Keesler Air Force Base
Air Force Ball
22 September 2012
Time: 1800 Social / 1900 Dinner
Location: Bay Breeze Event Center
2nd Floor Ballroom

YEARS OF SUPERIOR AIR POWER

Payment Information:
www.GulfCoastAirForceBall.org

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

Core Values

Integrity First
Service Before Self
Excellence in all We Do

USAF FITNESS

FLEX YOUR WINGS