The 934th Communications Flight continues to review upcoming annual training plans and prepare for the Unit Compliance Inspection. Members are currently serving in Afghanistan, Spain and Texas. Staff Sgt. John Herrick scored 91 percent on his 5 level Career Development Course.

CES

Chief Master Sgt. Jeffrey Gustafson retired after 30 years of service to his country. Senior Airman Jonathan Patterson was promoted to Staff Sergeant. Senior Airman Carl Wiggins received recognition and a BX certificate for dress and appearance. CES welcomed back Staff Sgt. Jason Rohman.

The first of two rotations, approximately 25 members each, returned from their annual tour at Gallup, N.M. where they built houses for the inhabitants of the Southwest Indian Foundation.

AES

Members of the 934 AES participated in an Operational Mission flying OEF and OIF military members from Ramstein AB, Germany to Andrews AFB, Maryland. Unit members participating were Maj. Lynn Rydberg, Capt. Richard Schloesser, 1st Lt. Adam Hohman, Master Sgt. Tim Evavold, Tech. Sgt. Bill Lohse, Senior Airman Amanda Hightshoe, Senior Airman Michelle O'Dean, and Senior Airman Jeanne Zellmer.

Capt. Mary Dones, Senior Airman Michael Riemer, and Senior Airman Bridget Boentges successfully completed the FN/AET and S.E.R.E training at Brooks City Base in San Antonio.

Tech. Sgt. Stacy Foster successfully completed the 5 level Career Development Course.

Airman 1st Class Lindsay Rosenow successfully completed Phase III Training for the Aerospace Medical Services Specialist at Wilford Hall Medical Center, San Antonio Texas.

Staff Sgt. Alicia Ruby received the 934AES Outstanding Junior NCO of the Quarter Award.

Senior Airman Elizabeth Devin received the 934 AES Outstanding Airmen Award.

Commander shares beliefs, philosophy

By Col. Timothy E. Tarchick
934 AW commander

I would like to share my beliefs and philosophy with you on several issues I feel are important to the continued success of this unit. I want to make sure all of you have a thorough understanding of my position on the Mission, Air Force Core Values, discipline, people, safety, and what I expect from each of you.

The Mission. I want to start with the Mission. Everything we do here supports the Mission. In today's Air Force with everything getting pushed down to the squadron level I have seen where the Mission has not been the #1 focus. I strived as the commander at my last assignment to keep everyone focused on the Mission. I will continue to do so here. My professional priorities are: #1 is THE MISSION, which is flying airdrop, airland and aeromedical missions to the user in support of the National Command Authority. #2 is YOU and #3 is EVERYTHING ELSE. In that order. Period. Everything we do, every decision we make needs to be centered on the Mission.

The Air Force Core Values. I've come to understand that the basic tenants of those values are important and very applicable to all of us. Integrity First. This is the basis for everything we do. If we don't have integrity, if we are not honest with each other, then we will fail in every mission, every task we attempt. I guarantee I will be honest with you and expect the same from all of you. Also, since it is so critical to our operation, I will not tolerate any breach of integrity. Next, Service Before Self. All of us must put the needs of the unit and others before the needs of ourselves. However, I know we all have priorities, which will sometimes come before our duty here. Our family, our "real job", our church, or something else will sometimes take priority over Reserve duty. What I expect though is 100% effort when you are here. This leads into the next value, Excellence in All We Do. We all know we are the best at what we do. However, there will be times when we will have to remind ourselves of this last core value.

Hopefully, all of us believe and follow the Air Force Core Values and this will be the only time we'll have to address the next subject, discipline. Unfortunately, with an organization this big, there will be some discipline problems. When they occur I want you to know that I will be fair, firm and consistent. I expect all of you who are in a position of leadership to do the same. Don't forget to consult the JAG before taking any action, and keep me informed.

Commanders and supervisors, I expect you to take care of your people. What do I mean by that? First, get to know them, what's their real job, how about their family situation, when are they up for promotion, how are the new people progressing in training and upgrade, you get the idea. In addition to knowing them, make sure you reward and recognize them. I'll be glad to present any award you want me to when my schedule permits. Finally, let me know if there are any personnel problems I can help with. If there are any administrative roadblocks I can get through or other people issues that need addressed, I'll be glad to step in and do all I can. Remember, people don't care how much you know until they know how much you care.

I've said that getting the mission done is important, however, if we don't do it safely we're not only putting mission accomplishment at risk, we are jeopardizing the health and welfare of our people. I hold each of you personally responsible for each others safety and I expect all sections to have a very active safety program, not just a monthly safety meeting. Commanders and supervisors, get out there and see how your folks are doing their jobs from time to time and continually stress both on and off the job. I will consider my tour as your commander successful if no one is hurt and no equipment damaged while I'm here.

Safe mission accomplishment is just one example of what I expect from you. I'll touch on a few other important expectations. First, Air Force Standards. I feel very strongly that as Reservists we have to meet or be better than the standards, including dress and personal appearance, personal fitness, and conduct. This is especially true when we are TDY to other bases or when we have an inspection. Next is my support. You can expect me to support you 100%, as long as you are in the right or had every reason to believe you were. There is a big difference between a crime and a mistake. Another important expectation is credibility. I won't last long and neither will you if we are not credible in what we do. Maybe you aren't the best flyer in the squadron or the best maintainer in your unit, that's ok. However, don't pretend you are, and keep trying and learning until you are at least close to the top. Next, is the ability to make a decision. By this I mean an informed, timely decision checking all the facts, and getting both sides of the story when necessary. The final thing I expect from all of you is communication. In my 28+ years of military service I can honestly state that the #1 reason units succeed or fail, second only to leadership, is the units ability to effectively communicate both up and down the chain. Commanders and supervisors, let your people know what's going on as much as you possibly can. Also, while I've already touched on it, I want to emphasize keeping me informed. Always assume I want to know about it and I'll let you know if I don't need to.

One final note, to use an old phrase, my door is always open, and I mean it. If there are any questions on my beliefs, policies, or what my expectations are for this unit, please come talk to me. It is an honor to serve as your commander. I will do it to the very best of my ability and I look forward to working with each of you. Thank you.

DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF STAFF
WASHINGTON, DC

20 MAR 2006

To the Airmen of the United States Air Force,

Yesterday marked the 3rd anniversary of Operation IRAQI FREEDOM and the removal of an oppressive, dangerous regime. This was the culmination of a joint and coalition intense effort on land, sea, and air. I want to take this moment to say thanks for all your sacrifices ... and to let you know that you are doing awesome work. In OIF, within the Joint Force, our Total Force - active, guard, and reserve Airmen - grounded the Iraq Air Force, destroyed the combat effectiveness of the Iraqi ground forces, blinded the Hussein leadership and paved the way for a series of ground battles that saw Baghdad fall in 22 days. Your innovation and flexibility made the difference, whether it was Airmen decisively striking Republican Guard formations; in orbits over every Iraqi airfield; embedded with ground forces; launching and orbiting satellites high overhead; controlling armed UAVs; or airlifting critical supplies and troops. And today, you continue to provide air support to the Combatant Commanders around the world, while also flawlessly performing non-traditional missions like base defense and convoy operations.

Your contributions to the spread of freedom and democracy did not begin three years ago; the Air Force has been at war continuously for over fifteen years - since the opening rounds of Operation Desert Storm and through twelve years of no-fly zone operations. And although Iraq is receiving the majority of attention, Operation ENDURING FREEDOM and Operation NOBLE EAGLE remain critical to winning this Long War. The Global War on Terror has now lasted 10 months longer than our Nation fought in World War II. This is a joint fight, across the world—where we have a vital role. Meanwhile, things have been fairly quiet on the home front, and that's good. That means we are doing our job well. You are protecting America by monitoring intelligence, sitting alert, and flying patrols over our cities. By protecting our homeland and fighting the enemy on their turf, you are keeping your family, friends, and the American public safe. Our mission is to fly and fight and win our nations' wars - and you're doing just that.

You are making a difference. I am proud of you. America is proud of you. You are helping to rebuild countries and protect fledgling democracies in Iraq and Afghanistan, while keeping America out of harm's way. Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, the Pakistani earthquake, Philippine landslides and, most recently, floods in Hawaii, brought out your best as well, as you pitched in side by side with allies and joint partners providing humanitarian relief across the globe and in our own backyard. You are the most combat experienced, battle-hardened Airmen since WWII. You are successfully doing whatever is asked of you across the domains of air, space, and cyberspace - you are always there.

Thanks for all that you're doing - it matters. Your tireless efforts keep this the best Air Force the world has ever seen, ready to lead or support the joint fight anywhere, anytime. You are making it happen in Iraq, Afghanistan, in the skies over America, and anywhere our Nation needs us. Keep it up and keep 'em flying!

General Mazick commands 22nd Air Force

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE, Ga. – Maj. Gen. Martin M. Mazick assumed command of 22nd Air Force at Dobbins Air Reserve Base, Ga., March 11.

He replaced Maj. Gen. James D. Bankers who retired effective March 31.

General Mazick previously served as the director of intelligence, air, space and information operations for Air Force Reserve Command at Robins AFB. Brig. Gen. Hanferd J. Moen Jr., director of warfighting capabilities assessment in the Office of Air Force Reserve, Pentagon, took General Mazick's place in the AFRC headquarters.

Lt. Gen. John A. Bradley, chief of the Air Force Reserve and commander of AFRC, presided at the change-of-command ceremony.

During the ceremony, General Mazick thanked his family for many years of support and challenged 22 AF members to continue the tradition of hard work and dedication.

“Our number one responsibility is to ensure our people are trained, ready and equipped,” General Mazick said. “There is much we will get to do together here at 22nd Air Force. Staff, keep your sleeves rolled up because the best is yet to come as we move on out.”

General Mazick is no stranger to the numbered air force. He commanded its 439th Airlift Wing, a C-5-equipped unit at Westover Air Reserve Base, Mass., from March 1999 to August 2003. (AFRC News Service from a 22nd AF news release)

New Airman Battle Uniform ready to go

by Master Sgt. Mitch Gettle
Air Force Print News

WASHINGTON (AFPN) — The new Airman Battle Uniform is ready for production and will be available in fiscal 2007, said the Air Force deputy chief of staff of personnel.

Many factors were considered in developing the final uniform selection, with the concern for Airmen being at the top of the list, said Brig. Gen Robert R. Allardice. "We were looking for a uniform that would be easier to maintain," he said. "We wanted to provide a uniform that the Airman wouldn't need to spend a lot of out-of-pocket expenses to maintain." Also, Airmen's feedback throughout the process was beneficial in adding new pockets on the uniform.

"We listened to the Airmen's request where they wanted pockets to hold small tools and when they wear body armor the existing shirt pockets are not accessible or usable," General Allardice said. "It will have the four pockets on the front of the shirt, and also a small pencil pocket on the left forearm and two pockets on the lower legs. In addition, inside the side pockets and inside of the breast pockets there will be smaller sewn-in pockets to hold small tools, flashlights or cell phones." The new uniform design is a pixilated tiger stripe with four soft earth tones consisting of tan, grey, green and blue.

The ABU will have a permanent crease and will be offered in 50-50 nylon-cotton blend permanent press fabric eliminating the need for winter and summer weight uniforms. Will the new ABU need to be starched and pressed? "Absolutely not," he said. "Our uniform requirement is we want a uniform that you wash, pull it out of the dryer, and wear it. This requirement meets the ease and cost effectiveness needs in maintaining a uniform." He speaks from personal experience and added that in the long run it will save Airmen money on dry cleaning costs.

"I tested this uniform. I wash it, take it right out of the dryer and wear it," General Allardice said. "We don't want people putting an iron to it." The fit of the uniform was also a concern for Airmen. "We're making them available in more sizes to fit the body better," he said. "We've taken the time to produce more sizes and tailored them for men and women."

Some other ABU accessory items: — A tan T-shirt will be worn; Airmen will be required to maintain one tan T-shirt with an Air Force logo on the front and Air Force written on the back. — Suede cowhide boots in matching green-gray color; like the desert boot these will be polish-free and available in men's and women's sizes.

The word color for the name, U.S. Air Force, and rank is midnight blue; nametapes and rank insignia background will be tan and will be sewn on using a matching tan color thread. — The ABU adopts the battle dress uniform hat style for primary use and the floppy hat design will be used in some deployed areas. "This is the uniform of the future," General Allardice said. "Eventually when enough of these uniforms are manufactured, we will phase out the BDU and desert combat uniforms." The current projected mandatory wear date for the new ABU is fiscal 2011.

The only thing that needs to be determined is if patches will be worn and the Air Force chief of staff will make that determination soon, General Allardice said.

Kosmosky captures command award

By Tech. Sgt. Jeffrey Williams
934 AW Public Affairs

The 27th Aerial Port Squadron continues on its path to excellence and the recognition that goes with it, as Staff Sgt. Damian Kosmosky was named the Air Force Air Reserve mentored a young Airman who had a bad attitude and didn't work well with others, and helped him become an Airman with a great attitude who made friends with people all around the world.

"I try to reinforce the training that is already there," he said. "I reinforced the 'whys,' to understand the policies, training and standards. By knowing why they are doing it, they help keep us all safe, it expedites the process and motivates people so they excel."

While in Kuwait, he was able to utilize skills learned from his civilian occupation to streamline processes between the military and civilian contractors at KCIA.

"Because of civilian contractors, we were limited on what we could do compared to the first time I was there," he said. "It was a lot harder to keep the military group focused and working as a team. The challenge was not in the work, but in keeping my troops focused on the mission."

The accomplishment that has the most meaning for him came after working numerous days of 12 hours or longer, when he put together a small team from various career fields to repair the base flagpole. Then, with a new flag in place that was donated by Component Air Transportation NCO of the Year.

Sergeant Kosmosky deployed to Kuwait City International Airport in June 2005 for four months where he served as an air cargo manager, deployed to Mildenhall Air Base, U.K, for annual tour, and continued mentoring younger troops at home station while not deployed.

Sergeant Kosmosky, when asked about his reaction to winning the prestigious award, said, "I'm overwhelmed. It has a lot to do with being a part of the 27th Aerial Port Squadron. We have great leadership and a great mentorship situation. I'm not surprised the NCO of the Year came from APS.

The surprise was that it was me. There are a lot of great NCOs in this unit. I never thought it would be me."

He added, "There are other deserving NCOs out there who could get this award. However, I hope to be able to mentor others so they get the awards. I'll know that I helped them become the best they could be."

Sergeant Kosmosky prides himself on being a mentor for younger Airmen. When deployed to Kuwait, he the Army, he co-founded a base color guard team, which performed a series of flag presentations and helped the mortuary affairs team in drill and ceremony when human remains arrived from the battlefield.

"Our first presentation was for the 18th Air Force commander, which was quite an honor," Sergeant Kosmosky said. "Then we worked with the Carson Mortuary in Dover, Delaware to see what they do when human remains arrive at the base, and replicated their procedures.

KCIA made it a policy to do the ceremonies the way we designed. Even though it is an additional duty there, the color guard is still going today."

Now that the Staff Sergeant won the award at the Air Force Reserve level, his nomination package has been forwarded to the Air Force level competition for further evaluation.

"Everyone in the wing command staff and at the Aerial Port Squadron are anxiously awaiting the results from the Air Force-wide competition," he said. Sergeant Kosmosky was presented the award at a banquet held in Washington D.C.

New program offers LEAP into health care

ROBINS AIR FORCE, Ga. – The first non-prior service recruit to enroll in Air Force Reserve Command's Licensed Practical Nurse Education Assistance Program will graduate March 24.

Senior Airman Elizabeth Quartullo will receive her diploma of practical nursing from the ATS Institute of Technology, Highland Heights, Ohio.

LEAP is a new AFRC initiative that allows individuals entering the 4N0X1 career field the opportunity to attend an approved civilian licensed practical nurse school instead of attending 4N031 technical school. The command pays for tuition, books and other course fees. LEAP students must maintain satisfactory unit participation while attending a one-year school.

Airman Quartullo joined the Air Force Reserve Oct. 22, 2004. After three job layoffs in two years, she decided something needed to change.

"I really needed to find a more stable career path," Airman Quartullo said. "I had wanted to be part of the Air Force since I began college the first time but never quite knew how much of a commitment I could make to it."

Airman Quartullo said she's always been interested in a career in healthcare but didn't have the money to go back to school because she was still paying off student loans. She completed a master of business administration program at Pepperdine University, Los Angeles, in 2002.

She decided to investigate job opportunities in the Air Force Reserve.

"I was 34 at the time and knew it was now or never," Airman Quartullo said. "I looked at the medical field opportunities and found the 4N0X1 Air Force skill classification, medical technician.

"It was a perfect way to receive training to transition into a nursing career," she continued. "I also found out that not only would I be eligible for GI Bill benefits to further my education, but there was a 'kicker' for nursing school, providing additional money for

The LEAP program allows Air Force members to attend civilian nursing schools.

Airman Quartullo credits Tech. Sgt. John Wood, her recruiter in Euclid, Ohio, with helping her achieve her goals.

"He was friendly, supportive, informative and so completely went the extra mile to help me through the LEAP application process," she said. "Sergeant Wood is as compassionate as he is capable, a really great person to have worked with."

Airman Quartullo said she can see how people her age could view the process as both a terrifying yet an enlightening experience.

"Those who are older and going through basic military training should consider it an all expenses paid extreme makeover diet plan, with a personal trainer, and a paycheck to top it off," she said with a grin. "The younger crowd should consider it a once in a lifetime chance to develop a sense of pride they didn't think they could have."

LEAP provides new accessions and cross trainees an alternative civilian training option. At the same time, it allows Air Force Reserve Command to improve its readiness capabilities while lowering training costs.

Each AFRC wing has established quotas for the program, and recruiters have more details about how to apply for it. (AFRC News Service)

934th finance officer recognized

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE, Ga. - A team of financial management people came together last year to help an Air Force Reserve Command unit receive financial services after Hurricane Katrina struck the Gulf Coast.

Fourteen people from five different financial management offices supported the 403rd Wing, Keesler AFB, Miss.

For its efforts, the team earned the Air Force's Financial Management Special Acts and Services Award for 2005.

Members of the team included Sheila Seymour and Joanie Averett from the 403rd Wing, Keesler AFB.

People from the 94th AW at Dobbins ARB are Timothy Phillips, Tech. Sgt. Derrick Worthy, Wendy Marchand, Staff Sgt. Rena Christian, Bob Hayward, Senior Airman LaKeysha Jackson, Cindy Ames and Senior Airman Keith Roberts.

Others providing financial services are Maj. David Hanten, 934th AW, Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport Air Reserve Station, Minn.; Senior Master Sgt. Randy Sutton, 434th Air Refueling Wing, Grissom ARB, Ind.; and Master Sgt. Russell Bona and Staff Sgt. Jamal Mulkey, 914th AW, Niagara Falls IAP ARS, N. Y. (AFRC News Service)

934th Airlift Wing reservists with civilian employers can thank their bosses for their support during the past year through a special event.

Employers' Day 2006 will be held Aug 5. Activities start at 8 a.m. and end around 2 p.m. They include briefings with the 934th Airlift Wing commander and Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve officials, along with a mock mobility line and a C-130 orientation flight. Breakfast and lunch will be provided.

Nominating their employers for Employers' Day is one way reservists can say thanks to those who help support their military career. It is also an opportunity to introduce their employer to the Air Force Reserve. A certificate of appreciation will be presented to employers who participate in this event.

Space is limited. Reservists who want to nominate their employer should complete a nomination form. Completed forms must be received by the Public Affairs office by July 1. Please print clearly using black ink.

Forms can also be mailed to the 934 AW/PA, 760 Military Highway, Minneapolis, MN 55450-2100 or faxed to (612) 713-1229. Nominees will receive an official invitation and additional information.

Please provide the correct spelling for all names and official titles. Each reservist may submit ONLY ONE employer or supervisor. No exceptions. Federal civil service employees of military organizations are not eligible for nomination. Reservists may not nominate family members, even if they are legitimate employers, or anyone who has flown with the wing for any reason.

AIR FORCE ONE STOP AT NORTH COUNTRY LODGE

An Air Force One Stop kiosk is available at Lodging to help people who do not have access to a computer to get the information they need. The kiosk allows those who are relocating, deploying, or flying Space-Available to access the Virtual Military Personnel Flight Web site, MyPay and other programs. Some local information links include spouse employment, schools, housing, family support centers, currency conversion calculator, and various other topics for people transitioning in the area.

The machine can also print information, forms and maps for travelers. There is virtually no operation down time for the machine. When the kiosk becomes inoperable, the main computer hub in San Antonio, Texas, stops receiving information from the unit and informs the kiosk manager.

For more information about this Air Force One Stop kiosk at Lodging, call (612) 713-1978.
