

Inspire Service and Good Deeds for 9/11

Following the 9/11 attacks, people were inspired to help others, and this desire to support others brought the country together during a sad and difficult time. In April 2009, President Barack Obama joined with Congress to pass a bipartisan law that established September 11 as a National Day of Service and Remembrance. The day was set aside as a positive way to mark this anniversary and rekindle the spirit of unity that came from people working together to help others. For more information, visit 911day.org, and SERVE.gov.

Part A

Brainstorm three to five things you can do on 9/11 and every day to help your family, friends, or community. Write your ideas on the lines after “I will.”

1

I will _____

2

I will _____

3

I will _____

Part B

Imagine what you could accomplish with teamwork! As a class, if you worked together to help a group in need, who would you help and why? Working with your team, research a group or organization that your class could help through a service-learning project. Answer the questions below or on a separate sheet of paper to present your ideas to the class.

Who needs our help? _____ _____ _____	Why do they need help? _____ _____ _____	What help do they need? _____ _____ _____
Where are they located? _____ _____ _____	When do they need help? _____ _____ _____	How can our class help? _____ _____ _____