MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

BY dal NARA DATE 2/20/09

PARTICIPANTS: President Ford
Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, Member of PFIAB
Brent Scowcroft, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs

DATE AND TIME: Wednesday, February 25, 1976
11:32 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.

PLACE: The Oval Office

Luce: You must be happy [at the results of Tuesday's New Hampshire primary].

The President: I am very happy. We did especially well in the Keene area where I campaigned.

Luce: It was very good from a psychological viewpoint.

The President: Yes. Reagan campaigned hard and hoped to win. How are you?

Luce: Just fine.

The President: As you know, we have just announced an intelligence reorganization. [Discusses some of the details.]

I think Pike has hurt himself and I am interested to see the House is investigating Daniel Schorr.

Luce: That is music to my ears. The press has arrogated to itself the right of secrecy but no one else can have it.

The President: I think it is good, though, that the House is doing it.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~/XGDS

Luce: I think it [PFIAB] is a very good board and I am please to be reappointed. I think the new additions will be helpful. I regret George Anderson going. But Leo Cherne will be a great Chairman.

There is one part of intelligence to which no attention is being paid -- counterintelligence. It has been struck a real blow by these investigations. Colby reorganized it a year ago which further confused it. I think you should look into counterintelligence within the CIA. The men who have been let go have vast memories which have been lost.

The President: George Bush is trying to get read into the Agency. He is spending full time getting up on things.

Luce: May I suggest that George talk to Angleton to hear his side of the story. I have great respect for Colby but I think George should hear both sides.

The President: What was the problem between them?

Luce: I only know second hand. Colby thought Angleton was so secretive that Colby couldn't even find out what went on. Angleton thinks Colby leaked the story to the press to get him. But the result is we lost the top people in counterintelligence, who left with Angleton.

The Board wants to serve you. It can best do that if you maintain contact and give them tasks.

The President: As you know, I met with the Board both as Vice President and President. We will be making the announcement of the new board in a week or so.

Luce: I am profoundly concerned about the condition of our foreign policy. In 1972 there was a feeling that detente had a consensus -- perhaps because it was defined the way each one wished it to. Now that has eroded and there is a growing consensus against it. You said recently, "peace through strength." That is good, and the word "detente" should be scrapped. I think the word is a disaster and should be dropped -- it is subject to chides like "one-way street," etc.

The President: It probably isn't the best word and maybe it isn't good for me in the campaign. But it makes me mad that they say because I am for detente I am soft on the Soviets. When the chips are down, they bug out. Where were they on Angola?

There are two groups -- one which says be nice to them and they'll be nice to you. That doesn't work. The others say be tough to the Soviets but cave when it comes to standing up to them. We are going to continue being tough -- on Angola and anywhere else the Soviets move. I am going to keep Congress on the spot.

Luce: Should we tell the people the Congress has slipped back into the mood of the 30's? Then there was Roosevelt who understood power politics and the threat. He couldn't change an isolationist Congress. I think we are headed back that way. Maybe plain talk over the heads of Congress of the dangers of isolationism which for us is always accompanied by pacifism. Say we are going to negotiate but it is going to be balanced or you will have no part of it. Don't use "detente."

The President: I think we have to show historically that we may be going through the 30's again. If Britain and France had kept Italy out of Ethiopia in 1935, there might have been no World War II. Angola might be a latter day Ethiopia.

Luce: If the Soviets start to radicalize Rhodesia and South Africa, it would be very tricky.

Henry is in grave trouble. He is being picked on by both camps you describe. How can he get detente off his back? He is accused of giving everything away, but also accused of being a hawk.

The President: I am curious about your comment on Henry's popularity. The polls continuously reaffirm his popularity.

Luce: Henry is a celebrity as far as the public goes. Americans love celebrities. Most of them don't know what foreign policy is about. Where he is unpopular is, on one extreme, with the Zumwalts who see him as an appeaser. At the other extreme are the liberals who think he hasn't tried hard enough with the Soviets and hasn't been hard enough on Israel. Henry isn't popular with people who think about foreign policy. The key is getting rid of "detente."

L You must be happy
P I am very happy. We did so well in the area where I was assigned.

L It was very good from a psy & viewpoint

P Yes. Beyond our assigned work & beyond to win Honor you

L Just fine.

P As you know we have just announced
our intel story.

(Describes some of the details)

General Lile has been assigned & directed to see House is investigating Schorr

L That is in my eyes. The press has appropriated to itself a right of secrecy but we are able to have it.

P I think it is good, too, that a House is doing it.

L I think it is a very good lead (PFIAB) &
I should be supported. I think a more address will be helpful. I expect George Sullivan going, but L. B. Stone will be great choice.

There is one part of intel to which no attention is being paid - counter-intel.

It has been struck or real blow by these investigations. Colby recognized it a year ago which further exposed it

I think you should look into it counter-intel w/in CIA. These men who have been let go have vast memories which have been lost.

L I suggest that George talk to Angleton to ~~see~~ hear his side of the story. I have great respect for Colby but I think George should hear both sides.

P What was a prob bet. them

L I don't know 2 ~~well~~ hand. Colby that Angleton was so neutral that Colby couldn't even find out what went on. Angleton thinks Colby leaked a story to press to get him. But a result is we lost a top people in counterint, who left w/ Angleton

The Board wants to read you. It can best do that if you enter touch & give them tasks.

P As you know, I met w/ Board touch as VP + P. We will be making announcement of new board in a week or so.

L I am personally concerned about continuation of an F.P. In 77 there was a feeling that détente <sup>had a consensus - perhaps to some</sup> was ~~imposed~~ <sup>desired</sup> a way each wished to. Now that has worked & there is growing a consensus against it. You need recently "peace through strength". That is good & détente should be scrapped. I think the word is a disaster & should be dropped - it subject to crises like "one way street," etc.

P It prob isn't a best word & maybe isn't good for exam in comp argu.
But it makes me read that they say cause I go detent I soft on Suez. When - things are down, they buy out. What were they on Angola?

There are 2 groups - one which say be nice to them & they'll be nice to you. That doesn't work. The others say be tough to a Suez but ease when it comes to standing up to them. We are going to continue being tough - on Angola & anywhere else a Suez would. I going to keep Congo a spot.

H Should we tell a people a Cong has slipped back into a mood of a 30's. Then there was Roosevelt who understood power politics & that. He could change an isolationist Cong. I think we headed back that way. Maybe plan talk over heads of Cong. of dangers of isolationism which fears is being accompanied by pacifism. Say we are going to forget, but it going to be balance & you will have no part of it. Don't see detente over by both camps you describe. How can he get detente off his back. He is accused of giving everything away, but ~~then~~ <sup>also</sup> accused of being a hawk.

p I can understand your comment on K's popularity.
The polls continuously reaffirm his popularity.

h K is a celebrity as far as public goes.

Amnesia for celebrities. Most of them don't know what F.P. is about. When he is unpopular is, an oral future, w/c Zimmels who sell him as an appeaser. The other side are liberals who think he hasn't tried hard enough. w/c Soros & haven't been hard on Israel. ~~to be~~ He isn't popular w/people who think about F.P. The key is getting rid of detente.
