DOE Environmental Management Advisory Board Meeting Cancelled

Due to the possibility of a government shutdown, the federal government has cancelled all discretionary spending and travel, which has resulted in the need to reschedule the Environmental Management Site Specific Advisory Board Chairs' meeting that was scheduled for April 13-14 in Henderson, Nev.

The Board is a federally chartered community advisory board charged with providing the U.S. Department of Energy Environmental Management Program with advice and recommendations on its nuclear waste cleanup and environmental management activities.
