MDA Employees Give Supplies and Time to Support Local Back-To-School Drive

The Missile Defense Agency (MDA) recently participated in a Back-To-School Supply Drive, held by the Arlington County Department of Social Services, of Arlington, Virginia. New school supplies were donated to the local Arlington Mill Community Center which provides continuing education, training, and social services to economically disadvantaged families in Arlington County.

MDA Employees also volunteered hours of their time assisting parents, most not fluent in English, to fill out numerous school forms. Though a time consuming process, gratitude was evident on the faces of parents as they were able to complete forms necessary for their children's education.

MDA employees delivered the supplies to the community center, on Tuesday, September 7.
