Carol —

I think they've done a good -- very good -- job on the substance.

-- Judicial review is a big concern.

-- But it seems to me that we should be able to find the money if you believe this is a critical initiative.

My nagging concern is that asylum is not at all the heart of the problem.

The perceived and real "flood" is not asylum cases — it is the millions who are completely outside the system.

Are we in the middle of a policy development exercise on the big problem?
[The problem that will be hugely important for reelection?]

SUBJECT DOJ Asylum Reform Briefing

As directed by the President, DOJ and INS have drafted a plan to streamline and reform the regulations which govern the procedures for affirmative asylum requests. On Tuesday, October 5, 1993, DOJ and INS will provide a briefing on their proposed plan. The briefing is at 9:00 a.m. in the Roosevelt Room.

Please call Rosalyn Miller (456-2216) if you have any questions.
