

WELCOME ABOARD MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDING OFFICER OF MAG-39

On behalf of our Marines, Sailors and families, we welcome you to the finest Aircraft Group in the Marine Corps. While at MAG-39, you will witness and be involved in a very demanding schedule. Our various units and individual Marines train and deploy both here and across the globe to insure that our missions are conducted and carried out in the most diligent and professional manner. MAG-39's sole purpose is to provide aviation combat support to the Marine Air Ground Task Force (MAGTF) in both peacetime and in combat. We are ready "To be able to fight today's battles with today's forces, today!"

Just as every Marine makes a commitment to the Corps when they earn the title Marine, the Corps makes an enduring commitment to every Marine and their families. The Commandant of the Marine Corps stresses that "Marines take care of their own –period." This commitment is vital to our success at MAG-39. Caring for our Marines, Sailors and families starts with me and permeates throughout our Aircraft Group.

Our Family Readiness Officer is here to assist you, both the single Marines and the Marines with families, throughout your assignment at MAG-39. She is my trusted agent who is here to assist and find the information and resources you need to help yourselves and your families. We are committed to personal and professional excellence and our goal is to support you in any way that we can to help you succeed – in turn we succeed at MAG-39. I trust that you will find this tour of duty to be not only challenging but also very rewarding. Once again, welcome to MAG-39 and I look forward to seeing your many accomplishments while you are with us.

Semper Fidelis,

Col. Shaun L. Sadler

Commanding Officer, MAG-39