Army Cuts Training, base ops; freezes hiring. Story by C. Todd Lopez, ANS. WASHINGTON – In advance of possible extreme budget cuts that could arrive in March, Army leadership has called for an immediate hiring freeze and spelled out other pre-emptive measures meant to help the service prepare for a fiscal cliff. In a memo dated Jan. 16, Secretary of the Army John M. McHugh and Chief of Staff of the Army Gen. Ray

Odierno laid out 15 "near-term" actions to help the Army "reduce our expenditure rate and mitigate budget execution risks in order to avoid even more serious future fiscal shortfalls." "We expect commanders and supervisors at all levels to implement both the guidance contained in this memorandum and the detailed instructions to follow," wrote McHugh and Odierno. "The fiscal situation and outlook are serious." WHAT HAPPENS NOW? First among those actions is an immediate freeze on civilian hiring, although Army leaders have left commanders with some latitude in the policy for "humanitarian and mission-critical purposes." Also, among employment-related measures spelled out in the memo, is a termination of temporary employees when "consistent with mission requirements." The memo also directs installation commanders to reduce base operations support for fiscal year 2013 – which runs Oct. 1, 2012 to Sept. 31, 2013 – to levels that are about 70 percent of FY2012. Commanders have been asked to reduce support to community and recreational activities and to reduce utilities consumption "to the maximum extent possible." Non-mission-essential training activities are up for reduction. In particular, training not related to maintaining "readiness for Operation Enduring Freedom, the Korean forward-deployed units, Homeland defense and the Division Ready Brigade." Also targeted is conference attendance and professional training not mission essential. Additionally, the secretary and the chief have directed installation commanders to cease facility sustainment activity that is not "directly connected to matters of life, health or safety," and to stop restoration and modernization projects. Army senior leadership also has spelled out changes for Army acquisition, logistics and technology. All production contracts and research, development, testing and evaluation contracts that exceed $500 million must be reviewed by the under secretary of defense for acquisition, logistics and technology. The assistant secretary of the Army for acquisition, logistics and technology also must assess the impacts of "budgetary uncertainty" on science and technology accounts. The secretary and chief of staff state civilian furloughs could be a "last resort" possibility in FY2013, "Therefore, no action should be taken with regard to furloughs without the express approval of the secretary of the Army." Measures taken as a result of the Jan. 16 memo, must be reversible, the document states. "At this point, the steps should focus on actions that are reversible if the budgetary situation improves and should minimize harm to readiness," McHugh and Odierno said in the memo.

As part of the larger nationwide America Saves Campaign, Military Saves will again be conducted in cooperation with the Consumer Federation of America. As in prior years, the Military Saves Campaign is a year-long effort for the DoD military community, and the military banks have traditionally played a key role in supporting the Campaign. The result of a successful Campaign is the enhanced financial readiness of military members and their families by reducing debt and fostering a saving culture. The 2013 Military Saves Campaign memo from General Martin E. Dempsey, USA, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Sergeant Major Bryan B. Battaglia, USMC, Senior Enlisted Advisor to the Chairman, is on Facebook in the Feb album. The theme for this year's campaign is "Start Small, Think Big." Sign up now to participate in Military Saves Week 2013. You can do this by clicking on the following link (<http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/MSW2013signup>) to join the 2013 Campaign.

McCain Auditorium Performances for Jan and Feb 2013 are:

- Sweet Honey in the Rock, Feb. 1, 2013. The stirring vocals of six women inspire love, justice, hope and peace out of the rich textures of African-American traditions.
- "DRUMLine Live," Feb. 8, 2013. The performance is a show stopping attraction that brings an explosive energy and athleticism to an eclectic mix of sounds.
- McCain Student Showcase, 4 p.m., Feb. 10, 2013. Kansas State University students show off their talents in a celebration of inspiration and achievement.
