In the Netherlands and Azores all grades of fuel are set at the floor price, in Turkey Super Plus Unleaded is at floor price and in the UK Techron Supreme Unleaded and Techron Supreme Diesel are at floor price. "Floor" price occurs when the cost of fuel plus dispensing costs is greater than the DoE average plus incremental dispensing costs.

Incremental dispensing costs are costs which the Exchange incurs to pump fuel overseas. These incremental dispensing costs include personnel costs, the cost to run the fuel card program and any additional expenses; e.g., changes in the exchange rate, wage costs for local nationals (a key component for our overseas dispensing costs formula), etc.
