CBP September 11, 2001 Remembrance Wall

Prior to September 11, 2001, I was a 36 year old mother of a bright eyed 4 year old boy. I was the wife of a Navy veteran. I was a daughter. I was a sister. After the horrible events of the morning of September 11, I realized I was an American who was very proud of her country. I will never forget those who lost their lives. God bless them and their families.

When I heard the news I turned on the TV at my home and saw the results of the first plane and then saw the other as it approached. I called down to my port (San Ysidro) and told them I would be coming in early. As I reported there I noticed all north bound traffic had been stopped and all vehicles were being searched thoroughly. I was still in shock from the events that day but the responses from people entering the US from Mexico were very sympathetic and understanding. I will NEVER forget the sad and shocked looks they (travelers) gave us.

I wanted to write something profound or something that didn't sound "corny", but the truth is, I can only write what I feel about that Tuesday in September and how it has affected me. When I think of that day, I still get chills and my heart aches for the families who lost their loved ones and at the same time when I think of that day I feel a sense of pride at how people reacted to the events of that day. How the country came together to help each other and as a result we are a stronger country today. I am proud to be a CBP employee and more than that, I am proud to be an American!
