

...WHO KNOWS? But until we know for sure, let's say AEDC has the first golfer in history to make a Hole-In-ZERO.

The happy guy in the photo is Art Djerf, Consolidated Western Steel Division, who stepped-up on the eighth tee at the AEDC Golf Course Oct. 23rd and blasted his tee shot right in the cup.

The guys in the foursome, who were playing in the AEDC tournament, shouted, "It's a hole-in-one!"

This is true. But in the excitement, they forgot that Art had a one-stroke handicap on the hole... Give him the handicap, and what does he have? Sure, a HOLE-IN-ZERO.

Needless to say, Art's mighty happy. And little wonder... Bobby Jones was a great golfer, but... No hole-in-ZERO.

Although Art's trick took some of the luster away from team competition, it was a fight right down to the last hole, with the Corps of Engineer Team, of which Art was a member, finishing on top with a total of 18 points.

The other teams and their point totals went like this: ETF, 16; A & E, 13; AF # 2, 12 1/2; General Services, 8; GDF, 7 1/2; AF # 1, 7; PWT # 2, 5; and PWT #1, 3 points.

Howrey Stepp, Corps of Engineers, had the best "scratch score" in the two-weekend-tournament with a 73.
