Subject: K-Mart Gift Card Settlement

Please don't let K-Mart get away with their deceitful practice! Who in the world keeps gift cards that have no value? Based on that just how many people do you think will actually get their money back?

I suggest making K-Mart do an accounting of the funds, compute a reasonable interest rate and then fine them that amount less what people actually claim. That in itself is not much of a punishment but they will also have incurred the cost of litigation.

Sincerely,
