

Joint Land Use Study – Survey Request

The City of Hampton, working closely with the military and other jurisdictions in the area (Newport News, Poquoson, York County), is undertaking the preparation of a Joint Land Use Study for Langley Air Force Base.

A Joint Land Use Study (JLUS) is a cooperative land use planning effort conducted as a joint venture between an active military installation, surrounding cities and counties, state and federal agencies, and other affected stakeholders. The primary objective of a JLUS is to reduce the potential conflicts between a military installation and its host community while still accommodating new growth and economic development, sustaining economic vitality, and protecting the general public's health and safety, without compromising the operational missions of the installation.

The purpose of this survey is to solicit citizen and business input in an effort to assist the JLUS Project Team and steering committees with determining key issues, identifying areas of concern, and ascertaining the general knowledge and viewpoints concerning the installation. Stakeholder input within the general vicinity of the installation is a vital component of this study. Your feedback is extremely important and greatly appreciated.

The survey is available on line from Aug. 26 – Oct. 30, 2009.

Please take a few minutes to complete this survey.
