

ELIGIBILITY FOR AND ENROLLMENT IN VA HEALTHCARE

If eligible for VA healthcare, your Veteran client can benefit in several ways. Benefits include direct mental health care or access to VA resources and services that can support the care he or she receives in the community. The first step is finding out if the Veteran you are working with is eligible. From there you can choose to refer or find additional resources that can support the care that you are providing (for example, group treatments, specialty care, housing resources).

Generally, if someone has served 24 consecutive months of active duty service in the military, naval, or air service with an honorable or general under honorable condition discharge they may be eligible. In some cases their eligibility may be based on their income. There are some special conditions:

ELIGIBILITY STATUS

Generally, if someone has served 24 consecutive months of active duty service in the military, naval, or air service with an honorable or general under honorable condition discharge they may be eligible. In some cases their eligibility may be based on their income.

Special Conditions

- Service Members who have experienced MST (Military Sexual Trauma) are eligible for VA health care services specific to their MST regardless of whether or not they meet other eligibility requirements.
- Reservists who serve on active duty establish Veteran status and may be eligible for the full range of VA benefits. In addition, reservists not activated may qualify for some VA benefits.
- National Guard members can establish eligibility for VA benefits if activated for federal service during a war (for example, serving in combat) or domestic emergency.
- Military Veterans who served in combat, such as those who served in Operations Iraqi Freedom, Enduring Freedom, and New Dawn, since Nov. 11, 1998 are eligible to receive five years of enhanced enrollment eligibility for VA health care services (from the date of their military discharge/separation). This includes cost-free health care from VA for conditions that are possibly related to combat service. Go to the VA's Health Benefits website for more information: http://www.va.gov/healthbenefits/apply/returning_servicemembers.asp.

Determining Eligibility

Determining the eligibility status and possible co-payment information for a Veteran can be complicated. Because of this we strongly suggest encouraging your client to apply for enrollment even if you feel he or she may not be eligible.

ADDITIONAL TIPS

Health Benefits are different for each Veteran. While all enrolled Veterans have access to VA's comprehensive benefits package, certain benefits (for example, dental care) may vary from individual to individual, depending on each Veteran's unique eligibility status.

While some Veterans may qualify for enrollment and cost-free (no VA copayments) health care services based on a compensable, service-connected condition or disability (any condition found to be related to military service), or other qualifying factor, most Veterans will be asked to complete a financial assessment as part of their enrollment application process (known as a means test). This financial assessment or means test is based on the Veteran, spouse, and dependent children's previous year gross household income and net worth, which is used to determine his or her eligibility for VA health care benefits, co-pay responsibility for VA health care, and/or prescription medication.
