

LTC Jeffrey F. Anderson

LTC Jeffrey Anderson was born and grew up in the Piedmont of North Carolina. He attended the United States Military Academy at West Point and graduated in 1993 with a degree in History. After completing the Officer Basic Course at Fort Sill, OK, he was assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg from 1994-1997. While at Fort Bragg, he served as Company Fire Support Officer for 2-504 PIR, Charlie Battery Fire Direction Officer, Battalion Adjutant and Intelligence Officer for 3-319 AFAR. After another short stint back at Fort Sill for the FA Advanced Course where he graduated as a Master Warfighter, LTC Anderson joined the Big Red One in Germany. While in Germany, he served as the DIVARTY Assistant S3 and Battery Commander in 1-6 FA. The next assignment brought the Andersons to Fort Chaffee, Arkansas where LTC Anderson served as a Battery Trainer and Battalion S3 for 3-393rd TS Battalion (FA). LTC Anderson soon joined the Battle Command Training Program (BCTP) as a Fire Support Observer/Trainer before becoming a student at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth from 2004-2005.

Upon departing Fort Leavenworth, LTC Anderson and family moved to Fort Richardson, Alaska where he briefly served as Chief of Exercises and G3 Air prior to assignment as the Deputy Brigade Team Chief for a transition team in Iraq where he spent 12 months training, mentoring, and coaching an Iraqi National Police Brigade Commander and Staff. When LTC Anderson returned to Alaska, he was the XO and S3 for 2-8 FA until moving to be the Fire

Support Coordinator for 1/25 Stryker Brigade Combat Team during its 2008-2009 rotation in Iraq. LTC Anderson also served as the Bde Fire Support Officer and Future Operations Officer for the newly formed 16th Combat Aviation Brigade before departing for Fort Riley. Prior to assuming command, LTC Anderson served as the 1st Infantry Division Deputy G3 – Rear.
