Chapter 8, Paragraph 143, read:

(143) The Cuckolds are two bare islets off Cape Newagen, the southern extremity of Southport Island, on the west side of the entrance to Booth Bay. The westerly islet is 12 feet high and the easterly 10 feet high. The easterly islet is marked by The Cuckolds Light (43°46'46"N., 69°39'00"W.), 59 feet above the water, shown from a white octagonal tower on a dwelling. A mariner radio activated sound signal is at the light, initiated by keying the microphone five times on VHF-FM channel 83A. When approaching The Cuckolds, the easterly islet is more prominent and appears to be the larger and higher of the two.
