

Resources for Educators

FROM THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES

The National Archives and Records Administration is our nation's record-keeper. The stories of our nation and our people are told in the documents maintained in the National Archives. Many of the holdings of the National Archives are available online, with resources for educators and families, lesson plans, and worksheets.

National Archives

<http://www.archives.gov>

National Archives Teaching with Documents lesson ideas

- The Amistad Case
 - Fugitive from Labor Cases: Henry Garnett (1850) and Moses Honner (1860)
 - The Domestic Slave Trade
- <http://www.archives.gov/education/lessons/>

National Archives Online Exhibits

- Discovering the Civil War
 - The National Archives: Documented Rights
- <http://www.archives.gov/exhibits/index.html>

National Archives DocsTeach teachers' resources

<http://www.docsteach.org>

National Archives Digital Vaults resources for students

<http://www.digitalvaults.org>

Archival Research Catalog (ARC)

Check the digitized images filter to access images from throughout the National Archives.

<http://www.archives.gov/research/arc/>

Our Documents - 100 milestone documents of American history.

<http://www.ourdocuments.gov/>

Additional Historical Resources: Compiled Service Records of the 54th Mass., Mathew Brady's Civil War Photos, Civil War Pensions

<http://www.footnote.com/nara/>

Selected Articles from the National Archives magazine Prologue:

Living with the Hydra: The Documentation of Slavery and the Slave Trade in Federal Records

<http://www.archives.gov/publications/prologue/2000/winter/hydra-slave-trade-documentation-1.html>

Incited by the Love of Liberty: The Amistad Captives and the Federal Courts

<http://www.archives.gov/publications/prologue/2003/spring/amistad-1.html>

Slave Emancipation Through the Prism of Archives Records

<http://www.archives.gov/publications/prologue/1997/summer/slave-emancipation.html>

From Slave Women to Free Women: The National Archives and Black Women's History in the Civil War Era

<http://www.archives.gov/publications/prologue/1997/summer/slave-women.html>

Freedmen's Bureau Records: An Overview

<http://www.archives.gov/publications/prologue/1997/summer/freedmens-bureau-records.html>

The Freedman's Savings and Trust Company and African American Genealogical Research

<http://www.archives.gov/publications/prologue/1997/summer/freedmans-savings-and-trust.html>

MANIFEST OF SLAVES, on board the Schooner Charles, of New Orleans, is at present Master, burthen tons, whereof Phillips new Orleans the Port of

NAMES.	SEX.	AGE.	STATURE. Feet. Inches.	CLASS.	SHIPPERS OR OWNERS.	RESIDENCE.
John	male	21	5 6	Yellow	Rowlock
Henry	do	25	5 5	Blk	Shover
Dick	do	65	5	Blk	S. Powell
May	female	15	5	Blk
Nancy	do	13	5	Blk
Emily	do	21	5	Blk

I have inspected the above Slaves & 1/4 of the above and certify that the other two John & Henry is not on board
 New Orleans, New Orleans 14 July 1842
 Wm Taylor
 Inspector

Stony the Road We Trod: Examining the Evidence of Slavery & Prejudice

Jophia	18	20
Sila, her daughter	1
Kitty	17	20
Rachel	14	20
Betsy Wilson	22	20
An her daughter	14 mos
Henson	12 yrs	10

YOUR Source for OUR Nation's History.

Slave Bill of Lading, 1826, USDC MA,
RG21, National Archives at Boston

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AT BOSTON

380 TRAPELO ROAD WALTHAM, MASSACHUSETTS 02452-6399
www.archives.gov/northeast/boston
 866-406-2379 boston.archives@nara.gov

A guide to selected online documents and resources for teaching and learning pertaining to slavery from the National Archives.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AT BOSTON