

Instructions for I-687, Application for Status as a Temporary Resident Under Section 245A of the INA

Instructions

Read these instructions carefully to properly complete this form. If you need more space to complete an answer, use a separate sheet of paper. Write your name and Alien Registration Number (A-Number), if any, at the top of each sheet of paper and indicate the section and number of the item to which the answer refers.

What Is the Purpose of This Form?

Form I-687 was originally used to apply for status as a temporary resident under the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act. While the filing period ended in 1988, Form I-687 is now used to apply for benefits under the terms and conditions of certain settlement agreements.

What Are the Eligibility Requirements?

You are eligible for temporary resident status if:

1. You can establish that you entered the United States before January 1, 1982;
2. You can establish that you have resided continuously in the United States in an unlawful status since such date and through the date the application is considered filed under the settlement agreements. (If you entered the United States as a nonimmigrant before January 1, 1982, you must establish that your period of authorized stay as a nonimmigrant expired before such date through the passage of time or your unlawful status was known to the Government as of such date);
3. You can establish that you have been continuously physically present in the United States since November 6, 1986, and through the date the application is considered filed under the settlement agreements;
4. You are admissible to the United States as an immigrant except as otherwise provided under section 245A(d)(2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA);
5. You have not been convicted of any felony or of three or more misdemeanors committed in the United States;
6. You have not assisted in the persecution of any persons or persons on account of race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group, or political opinion; and
7. You registered or are registering under the Military Selective Service Act, if required.

Admissibility

You must be admissible under section 212(a) of the INA in order to be eligible for temporary resident status. If you are inadmissible under any section of 212(a) of the INA, then you may file Form I-690, Application for Waiver of Grounds of Inadmissibility, requesting the grounds of inadmissibility be waived by the Secretary of Homeland Security.

Sections 212(a)(6)(A) (entry in the United States without inspection) and 212(a)(7) (documentary requirements) of the INA do not apply.

The following grounds of inadmissibility may not be waived by the Secretary of Homeland Security:

1. Section 212(a)(2)(A)(i)(I) - crimes involving moral turpitude;
2. Section 212(a)(2)(A)(i)(II) - crimes involving controlled substances, except if it relates to a single offense of simple possession of 30 grams or less of marijuana;
3. Section 212(a)(2)(B) - multiple criminal convictions;
4. Section 212(a)(2)(C) - controlled substance traffickers;
5. Section 212(a)(3) - security and related grounds;
6. Section 212(a)(4) - public charge. Except this prohibition does not apply if you are or were an aged, blind, or disabled individual (as defined in section 1614(a)(1) of the Social Security Act). If you demonstrate a history of employment in the United States evidencing self-support without receipt of public cash assistance, then you will be considered admissible.

Copies

If these instructions tell you to submit a copy of a particular document, you should send a copy. If there are stamps, remarks, notations, and etc. on the back of the original document(s), also provide a copy of the back of the document(s).

If you choose to send an original document, you should also send a copy and USCIS will return the original to you. If you do not provide a copy along with the original, USCIS will attach the original document to your application, and it will not be returned to you.

There are times when USCIS must request an original copy of a document. In that case, the original is generally returned after it has been reviewed. If you are asked to submit an original document, make a copy for yourself and keep it in a safe place. For your personal records, we advise you to keep copies of the application and all of the documents you submit to USCIS.

However, if you are interviewed, the original documents must be presented whenever possible at that time except for the following: official government records; employment or employment-related records maintained by employers; unions or collective bargaining organizations; medical records; school records maintained by a school or school board; or other records maintained by a party other than the applicant.

Copies of these records must be endorsed as true and correct and must bear the signature and title of persons authorized to act in their behalf. All certified copies of documents become the property of USCIS. At the discretion of a USCIS District Director, original documents, even if accompanied by certified copies, may be temporarily retained.

Foreign Language Documents

Any document in a foreign language must be accompanied by an English translation. The translator must certify he or she is competent to translate the foreign language into English and that the translation is accurate.

Interview

You may be required to be present for a personal interview by a USCIS officer. Failure to appear for a scheduled interview will result in your application being denied for abandonment. There is no appeal of an abandonment denial.
