

Ten Commandments for Military Wives

1. Thou shalt not write in ink in thy address book.
2. Thou shalt not covet choice assignments or other branches of service.
3. Love thy neighbor ('tis easier if thou livest on a corner).
4. Honor thy Commissary and Exchange as long as they both shall live.
5. Thou shalt not ridicule a local politician, for mightily senators from local politicians grow.
6. Thou shalt look for the best in every assignment even though the best may be "Most Childhood Diseases in One Year" or "Record Snow in One Months Time".
7. Thou shall remember all thy friends from all thy assignments with greetings at Christmas, for thou never knowest when thou may wish to spendeth a night with them while enrouté to a new post.
8. Be kind and gentle to retired, white-haired Exchange and Commissary costumers, because thou too will be a retiree someday.
9. Thou shalt not curse thy husband when he is TDY on moving day.
10. Thou must never arrive at a new post and constantly brag about your last post.

Married to the MILITARY