Director's Notes

7 February, 2013

After we already got a taste of spring, winter is back in Garmisch-Partenkirchen. Please make sure you practice good winter driving safety and clear off all the snow off your car to include the roof before you drive to work or around town. Visibility is very important when you drive in snow and fog. Check out the message from the safety office on page 6.

We all have heard about the fiscal restrictions the Army faces these days. Please try to help, especially with energy savings. Turn off your computer equipment at the end of the day and turn off the lights when you leave your office for a longer period of time. Make sure the heater is on low when you leave for the day and don't leave the windows open while the heat is on. Small changes make a big difference in the overall utility bill. As we pull together as a team, think about the big picture, and not the small stuff. We will all make it through the immediate fiscal challenging and drive on without impact to our programs or valued soldiers and families.

Mark your calendars for the next town hall meeting on March 6, 1730 at the Pete Burke Community Center. We will provide updates on our critical DPW Projects, FMWR Programs, and any adjustments we are making in response to the new fiscal reality.

The Faschings weekend in Bavaria starts today with (dirty) Thursday. There are plenty of events in Garmisch-Partenkirchen and the surrounding villages. Most of them are outside and for free. Parades and gatherings of people in traditional costumes. The Host Nation newsletter lists dates and events in the enclosed issue. Enjoy the festivities but remember to not drink and drive. Have a safe Faschings weekend!

Hello USAREUR,

It is wonderful to be back in Europe! Ann and I sincerely appreciate the opportunity to once again join the tremendous team here at U.S. Army Europe. I'm honored to be afforded the opportunity to serve you – the Soldiers, Civilians, Families and host nation supporters that shape this dedicated community and I feel it necessary to thank you all for what you have done and continue to do every day.

USAREUR is in a time of transition. Our headquarters has a new home in Wiesbaden, we are in the process of deactivating two long-storied brigades, and we are reducing our garrison footprint across Europe. This transition makes us leaner, better organized, and more agile. In the end we will be better prepared to face the challenges of the future.

I'm here at an interesting time, as one of those challenges is at our doorstep today. As you all know, our nation as a whole is currently facing fiscal uncertainty and our Army is not immune to that. With this difficult time come tough decisions about how to navigate the road ahead and balance fiscal responsibility with the readiness of our force and the well-being of our families. I am committed to ensuring that our workforce stays informed and understands the measures taken and the reasons for them. As always, I encourage all of you to rely on your chain of command and command information channels for timely and accurate information as we navigate these uncertain times.

One thing is clear, regardless of resources or troop levels, no less will be asked of us. We have made impressive gains with our allies and partners over the last decade, but our challenge will be to maintain and build upon these gains in a postwar era of competing resources.

This means that as an organization we will need to focus on fundamentals and on imperatives like, discipline, comprehensive fitness, leader development and teamwork. I expect leaders and Soldiers alike to follow these command imperatives that I have come to trust as a sound formula for developing units into a team of teams that is ready to accomplish any mission. You will soon be seeing AFN spots and other means of communication that reinforce these imperatives.

We must continue to remain focused on accomplishing all missions while always ensuring the resiliency of our families. I expect all leaders to assist me in promoting a positive command climate; instilling trust up and down the chain of command that reinforces and exemplifies our Army Values and the Warrior Ethos of our combat proven force. Together we will continue to make our overseas home and the USAREUR team better every day.

I consider it an honor and privilege to lead this historic team and look forward to seeing you all in your formations and communities around Europe.

Strong Soldiers, Strong Teams!

MEMORANDUM FOR RECORD

SUBJECT: Safety Recommendations with Energy Saving Measures

1. PURPOSE: The purpose of this memorandum is to recommend minimum safety standards and requirements be considered when determining work area lighting and temperature settings.

2. FACTS: The Bavarian Military Community (BMC) has been directed to reduce operating cost associated with energy consumption. Two areas that are being addressed are work area / place illumination and temperature. The BMC can undoubtedly save resources and funds with reductions in these areas. Incorporating these minor safety recommendations will only increase the long term savings that are often associated with work place injuries.

a. Work Place Temperature: The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) recommends employers maintain work place temperatures in the range of 68 to 76° Fahrenheit (F) or 20 to 24° Celsius (C), and humidity control in the range of 20 to 60%. Office temperature and humidity conditions are generally a matter of human comfort rather than hazards that could cause death or serious physical harm. OSHA cannot cite the General Duty Clause for personal discomfort nor hold the employer accountable for a set temperature. German law (ASR A3.5), however, requires that wherever light office work is performed the temperature be 68° F (20° C) in work areas where it is combined with physical movement. The following standards apply: 66° F (19° C) for light physical movement ; 62° F (17° C) for medium physical movement; and, 54° F (12° C) for heavy physical movement (see attached ASR A3.5). Temperature measurements are based on work activity and type of location. For example, measurements for general office space would be performed 60 centimeters (24 inches) from the floor; and, measurements for a warehouse or maintenance facility where prolonged standing is normal would be performed 1.1 meters (3.6 feet) from the floor.

b. Lighting: Both US and German regulations are very specific with the lighting requirement in both indoor and outdoor areas. The most common area requirements are: 30-50 foot candle (fc) for general office space; 10-20 fc for corridors, stairs and hallways; 100-200 fc for machine work (fine detail); 6-10 fc for parking areas; and, 20-30 fc for cross walks (see attached ASR-A3.4, US LUX2, US LUX).

3. RECOMMENDATIONS: Consider setting the temperatures and lighting within the attached parameters to ensure the work force is protected as the BMC implements cost saving measures.

4. POINT OF CONTACT: The point of contact for this memorandum is the undersigned at the USAG Grafenwoehr Safety Office, DSN 475-7734, or via email - william.j.whitman.civ@mail.mil.

Release No. 20130125-2S

Jan. 25, 2013

Owners bringing pets into Germany will pay new fee starting Feb. 1

HEIDELBERG, Germany – Members of the U.S. forces community who bring their pets along when they arrive in Germany for assignment will be charged a fee by German authorities beginning Feb. 1.

The fee will be charged during arrivals at Ramstein Air Base and Frankfurt International Airport.

At Ramstein an examination fee of €55 per pet owner will be charged for all pets imported into Germany from outside the European Union. Kaiserslautern County officials said the fee is being levied in accordance with European Union regulations designed to prevent the introduction and dissemination of rabies.

Upon arrival at Ramstein, pets will be examined by veterinary officials near the passenger terminal's baggage claim area. Owners may pay the fee by credit card only.

Owners arriving with their pets at Frankfurt International Airport will also pay a fee. That fee is €35 per accompanied pet or €55 for an unaccompanied pet, and increases by 50 percent for pets that arrive on a weekend or holiday.

Payment of the fee is the responsibility of the pet owner, and cannot be claimed for reimbursement on an official travel voucher, according to officials with the U.S. Army Europe Office of the Judge Advocate. However, while OJA experts said the fee is prohibited from reimbursement under the provisions of the DoD Joint Travel Regulations, pet owners may be able to claim the fee as a deductible moving expense on their federal income tax returns.

While Ramstein and Frankfurt are the only locations currently slated to begin imposing the fee Feb. 1, because it is based on EU regulation other European Union ports of entry could enact similar fees in the future.

Students in Grades 3-8 were allowed to participate. Cassie Vining, Grade 7 was second place and Alex Mathers, Grade 4, came in third.

Ms. Betsy Riley, Third Grade Teacher, coordinated the bee. We could not have done it without help from the community. The word caller was Meghan McAndrews from ACS and the judges were Maureen Riggs, Mike Holtz, and Steve Sifers. Caden will now advance to the European Bee that will be held at Ramstein Air Base on March 16th!

Wonderful Wednesday News

If you are hearing ski boots clomping down the hall in unison, chances are you are visiting the Garmisch Elementary Middle School after lunch on Wednesdays. Students are headed to the slopes for their instruction. It takes a village to get 120 students into ski gear, boots buckled and to ensure that they have their skis/boards and are ready to go.

From January through the middle of March, students are involved in Wednesday afternoon instruction in either skiing or snowboarding. Many are beginners and progress from just learning how to get into their skis to flying down the hill for the running of the gates on the last day of instruction.

We have had four weeks thus far and students are progressing nicely. Christian, a 4th grader says "I never had mountains where I lived before and it's really neat to be able to go up and ski!"

Wonderful Wednesday is a partnership between the Garmisch Community, the School and Edelweiss Lodge and Resort. There are many volunteers that help this program to take place. And it's a wonderful thing to see the students learn a new skill and gain confidence!

Military Extension Internship Program

The Military Extension Internship Program is an internship designed to give college students and recent graduates a chance to put their college education to use in the real world. Through work experience with military youth and child programs, interns will gain valuable knowledge and skills they can transfer to all aspects of their lives.

The Department of Defense and Purdue University have partnered to expose students to high-quality child and youth programs on military installations around the world. These programs provide examples of best-practices used throughout the child and youth care industries.

Under the supervision of a mentor, interns are placed in child development centers, school age programs or youth centers on military installations. During their internship, interns are introduced to youth and child care efforts where they learn to connect with families and engage children in different programs.

In order to qualify for the program, applicants must meet the following requirements:

- Applicants must be a U.S. citizen or permanent resident.
- Applicants must have at least a 2.75 grade point average (based on 4.0 scale).
- Applicants must have completed four semesters of college prior to the beginning of the internship.
- Applicants must be majoring in child care, youth development, recreation management, or a similar field.
- Applicants must be planning to enter into a professional career within the scope of their majors.

The Military Extension Internship Program will accept applications for Fall 2013 from Feb1 through Mar 29. For more information about the program, and to get started with the application process, please visit the Military Extension Internship Program website.

...to the Community Spring Auction

Saturday March 23 is the 2013 Garmisch Elementary and Middle School Community Spring Auction and we need your help to raise thousands of dollars for our school and our children

We will auction just about anything!

Past auction items have included Polish pottery, babysitting services, dinner cooked for your family, photo sessions, ski equipment and much more.

If you have a favourite restaurant, café or shop then please ask them if they will donate something – in return we will give them great PR with free advertising in our event program, which will be seen by hundreds of people.

If you can help please contact the event organiser Mike Vining at thevinings@gmail.com
