

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Kenneth W. Johnson is a researcher, writer, and consultant in the field of integrating ethics and policy. He is founder and director of the Ethics & Policy Integration Centre, an ethics and policy research Web site available at <http://www.EPIC-online.net>. He specializes in a systems approach to organization and community design, development, and strategic planning. He consults internationally with organizations of all sorts and sizes, including transnational businesses, international labor, and state and federal government agencies. He is coordinator for the Coalition for Ethics and Compliance Initiatives and a member of the State Bar of California, the American Evaluation Association, and the Society for Business Ethics. He has been an editor of the Arizona Law Review; associate editor of the newsletter, Ethical Management; and a senior fellow of the Ethics Resource Center Fellows Program. He can be reached at (202) 547-1789 or at kenneth@ethics-policy.org.

Igor Y. Abramov is director of the Good Governance Program in the International Trade Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce. He advises both U.S. businesses and the U.S. government on good governance, rule of law, trade, investment, and market access issues. He plans, manages, and implements a Good Governance Program to enhance rule of law-based business environments in Eastern Europe, Russia and Independent States, as well as in Latin America. Before joining the U.S. Department of Commerce in 1997, Mr. Abramov practiced law and international consulting in San Francisco, California. A member of the California State Bar, he earned a B.A. from Columbia University (1984) and a J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center (1987). He was a founding member and editor of the Georgetown Journal of Legal Ethics and an associate editor of the National Jewish Law Review. He can be reached at (202) 482-1832 or at Igor_Abramov@ita.doc.gov.