

1/16
1/16
1/16

THE Public Interest

EDITORIAL OFFICES: c/o BASIC BOOKS • 404 Park Avenue South, New York, N.Y. 10016

Editors: DANIEL BELL • IRVING KRISTOL

January 13, 1970

The Hon. Daniel P. Moynihan
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Pat:

There is a young man named George Will who has just joined Senator Gordon Allott's staff, and whom you really ought to meet. He is young (barely 30, I should say, or not quite), conservative, very smart, very nice, and a true blue intellectual. He took his Ph.D. in political science in Princeton, and there fell under the influence of a disciple of Leo Strauss, who converted him to conservatism. He has since taught at Michigan State and Toronto. You'll like him.

Very best,

Irving Kristol

IK:rl

Publisher: Warren Demian Manshel

Chairman of the Publication Committee: Stanley Simon

Publication Committee: Orville G. Brim, Jr. • Nathan Glazer • Daniel P. Moynihan • Arthur J. Rosenthal • Leo Rosten • Martin E. Segal • Arthur L. Singer, Jr.
Robert M. Solow • Roger Starr • James Q. Wilson