INTRODUCTION

This guide serves as a crosswalk between the 2000 Census job codes and the ten (10) job categories on the Employer Information Report EEO-1, and is designed to assist employers in correctly classifying employees according to the ten (10) job categories on the EEO-1 report. Each job category is explained in the EEO-1 Instruction Booklet with a definition and examples of the types of jobs included in the category.

The Appendix lists the 3-digit Census job codes and occupational titles [with Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) codes] by EEO-1 job categories. The reference for the Census job codes and occupational titles is the 2000 Census of Population Occupational Classification System released by the Bureau of the Census.

In the practical application of these documents, the employer should:

- Report an employee who performs work in two (2) or more jobs only once according to the job in which the employee spends the most time.
- Report employees in the job in which they are actually working. Do not report them in the job in which they may have been trained, if that is different. For example, an employee trained as an accountant, but who is working as a bookkeeper or accounting clerk, must be reported in the 'Administrative Support' job category.
- Report employees by actual major job activity according to the EEO-1 definitions, not by company job titles.

Unresolved questions about difficult assignments may be directed to the EEO-1 Coordinator in the Program Research and Surveys Division, EEOC, at 866-286-6440 (toll-free), (202) 663-7185 (fax), or e1.techassistance@eeoc.gov .

SPECIFIC JOB CATEGORIES

For a detailed description of the EEO-1 job categories, please refer to the EEO-1 Instruction Booklet, Part 5, Description of Job Categories.

Note: First-line supervisors, unless specifically listed in the Appendix under 'Executive/Senior Level Officials and Managers' or 'First/Mid Level Officials and Managers', who engage in the same activities as the employees they supervise should be reported in the same job category as the employees they supervise.

Appendix

Conversion of 2000 Census Occupations to Job Groupings Used in the Employer Information Report EEO-1 Survey

Notes:

1. The 2000 Population Census occupational categories have been matched to the EEO-1 categories according to the EEO-1 Instruction Booklet wherever possible. The Census categories not specifically covered by the Instruction Booklet were matched according to the similarity of activities or duties.
2. The numeric codes in Column No. 3 parentheses are from the Standard Occupational Classification Manual.

Beginning with the 2007 EEO-1 survey, individuals in business and financial occupations will be assigned to the 'Professionals' job category. The job classification changes Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) code prefix 13, i.e. range 13-1000 to 13-2099.

Officials and Managers

001 – 043

11-1011 – 11-9199

Executive/Senior Level Officials and Managers.

Individuals who plan, direct and formulate policies, set strategy and provide the overall direction of enterprises/organizations for the development and delivery of products or services, within the parameters approved by boards of directors or other governing bodies. Residing in the highest levels of organizations, these executives plan, direct or coordinate activities with the support of subordinate executives and staff managers. They include, in larger organizations, those individuals within two reporting levels of the CEO. Examples of these kinds of managers are: chief executive officers, chief operating officers, chief financial officers, line of functional areas or operating groups, chief information officers, chief human resources officers, chief marketing officers, chief legal officers, management directors and managing partners.

First/Mid Level Officials and Managers. Individuals who serve as managers, other than those who serve as Executive/Senior Level Officials and Managers, including those who oversee and direct the delivery of products, services or functions at group, regional or divisional levels of organizations. These managers receive directions from the Executive/Senior Level management and typically lead major business units. They implement policies, programs and directives of executive/senior management through subordinate managers and within the parameters set by Executive/Senior Level management. Examples of these kinds of managers are: vice presidents and directors, Group, regional or divisional controllers; treasurers; human Resources, information systems, marketing, and operations managers. The First/Mid Level Officials and Managers sub-Category also includes those who report directly to middle managers. These individuals serve at functional, line of business segment or branch levels and are responsible for directing and executing the day-to-day operational objectives of officials and managers to subordinate personnel and, in some instances, directly supervising the activities of exempt and non-exempt personnel. Examples of these kinds of managers are: first-line managers; team managers; unit managers; operations and production managers; branch managers; administrative services managers; purchasing and transportation managers; storage and distribution managers; call center or customer service managers; technical support managers; and brand or product managers.
