

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

REPRODUCTION OF COPYRIGHTED ONLINE
IMAGERY IN EXHIBITS, DECISIONS, ETC.

(Issued October 3, 2007)

In order to ensure that copyright laws are not violated, parties in Commission proceedings shall be aware of the following requirements:

If an exhibit contains copyrighted material, the party sponsoring the exhibit is responsible for obtaining in advance the permission of the copyright owner to use and reproduce that material in the involved proceeding and in all publications arising from this proceeding, including the Initial Decision of the Administrative Law Judge and Orders of the Commission. In the event that such permission is restricted, the exhibit shall include a legend at the bottom of the first page identifying the copyright date, the copyright owner, and the nature of the restriction. In the absence of such legend, it is assumed that any use of such material in this proceeding is a “fair use” in accordance with 17 U.S.C. § 107 (2000), or is permitted under an agreement with the copyright owner.
