

UNT International, Office of Sustainability, and Division of Institutional Equity and Diversity are excited to announce our end of the year celebration, Celebrating Great Global Citizens on Monday, April 16, 2012 at Apogee Stadium, 7 pm. One of the University's main goals is to help nurture and create excellence in students who can be leaders in a global society. You are cordially invited to join us for this new and unique banquet that will honor students who have done outstanding work at the University of North Texas and embody the university's core values of internationalism, sustainability, and diversity.

Features of the evening include an amazing buffet of food highlighting the top 10 international countries represented at UNT and drumming performances by the UNT Steel Drum Band and Townview High School Drumline . Our special guest of the evening will be Ambassador Harriet Elam-Thomas, Director of the Diplomacy Program at University of Central Florida. Ambassador Elam-Thomas is the former U.S. Ambassador to Senegal. During her four decades of work with the Foreign Services Center, she has demonstrated a life-long practice of bridging cultures overseas in Greece, Senegal, Mali, and France and domestically through her work at the United Nations in New York and Department of State. She speaks Turkish, Greek and French.

Our efforts would not be possible without support from our friends and colleagues all over campus and the DFW area. Through our collaborative efforts, we have created an exceptional synergy for lifelong learning. We ask that you consider co-sponsoring this event. Sponsorship is a great way to recognize faculty, staff, visiting scholars and students in your department who are involved in global efforts.
