Pohl Recreation Center & PEB Natatorium – Swimming & Diving

The Pohl Recreation Center offers an eight-lane pool that serves as the home facility for the Mean Green Swimming and Diving program. There is also an adjacent recreation pool with three more lanes, a lazy river, whirlpool and 29-person spa. Opened in August 2003, the North Texas Pohl Recreation Center offers 138,000 square feet of fitness for students, faculty, staff and alumni. The team also uses the PEB Natatorium, which has the diving well that features two 1-meter and one 3-meter springboards for the North Texas Diving Team, and another six-lane, 25-yard pool that is used for training by the swimmers.

Student-Athlete Academic Center

Located on Bonnie Brae St., the new Mean Green Student-Athlete Academic Center is dedicated to Gayle and Virgil Strange. The new building is three times the size of the former academic center. The Center serves as the cornerstone of the Mean Green Village and is only a short walk from the surrounding sports facilities. The highest priority of the North Texas Athletics Department is to fulfill its mission to provide student-athletes with an excellent education, culminating in a degree in their chosen discipline. In the spring of 2005, Gayle and Virgil Strange reinforced that mission by contributing their talents and treasures to construct a first-class academic center for all athletes. Their goal was to create the Mean Green Student-Athlete Academic Center, a comfortable and welcoming environment filled with resources and technology—a place to study, learn and succeed—benefiting the performance of every student-athlete on every team.

The Super Pit (Coliseum) – Men’s & Women’s Basketball

Officially known as the North Texas Coliseum, the Super Pit honors the Mean Green’s former home, the Snake Pit, which still resides across the street. One of the region’s premier basketball facilities, many of the nation’s top teams have played in the Super Pit, including Oklahoma State, Arizona State, Syracuse, Texas, LSU, Michigan, North Carolina, Louisville, Kansas State, Nebraska, Wyoming and Indiana. The Super Pit served as a first-round site for the 1976 and 1980 NCAA Tournaments and also hosted the 2005 Sun Belt Conference Basketball Championships. The Super Pit contains a great college basketball atmosphere. The Pit Crew is the official student section for North Texas Basketball. Wearing a lot of green, students cheer on the Mean Green from behind the visitor’s bench. Helping cheer on the Mean Green are the dancers, cheerleaders and pep band that attend every home basketball game to help liven up the crowd.
