Army Topline

- ❖ The two-year Bipartisan Budget Acts of 2013 (BBA13) and 2015 (BBA15) provided limited predictability but did not eliminate future BCA budget spending caps which, barring new legislation, return in FY18.
- ❖ BBA15 funding levels for FY17 required the Army to prioritize near-term operational requirements and readiness at the expense of end strength, sustainment and modernization to meet competing current and future demands

- ❖ BBA15 repeats the seesaw funding of BBA13 extending the time necessary to restore balance between readiness, end strength and modernization.
- ❖ OCO funding is an essential funding source for incremental wartime costs, but its continued use as a supplement for shortfalls to base funding requirements comes at the detriment of prudent long-term planning and erosion of the Army's Base Funding program.

U.S. ARMY

FY 2017 Budget Highlights

The Army's FY 2017 Budget Request provides critical ground force capabilities to defend the Homeland, support the Joint Force, build global security, project power, and win in a complex world.

- ❖ Prioritizes Readiness: Building Decisive Action Capabilities for Potential Major Combat Operations
- ❖ Ensures Deploying Units are Ready for Their Mission
- ❖ Supports Regional Engagements and Global Response
- ❖ Continues the Draw Down of Army End Strength to 990,000
- ❖ Develops Innovative Leaders and Improves Human Performance
- ❖ Sustains Soldier and Technological Overmatch
- ❖ Does not account for the National Commission on the Future of the Army's Recommendations

The Army is key to the EUCOM effort to demonstrate US resolve to assure our European Allies and deter any aggression that could threaten European security

CONCLUSION

- ❖ The Army's number one priority is readiness.
- ❖ Current funding levels constrain the Army's ability to achieve the desired balance between near term readiness for the current environment, and long term modernization required for future security challenges.
- ❖ We cannot equip and sustain the entire force with today's most modern equipment and we risk going to war with insufficient readiness.
- ❖ Near Term. Builds operational readiness for potential major combat operations while also ensuring deploying units are ready for ongoing contingency operations.
- ❖ Long Term. Suppressed defense budgets do not reflect the current global security environment and the velocity of change that requires the Army to be ready now and tomorrow for unforeseen threats to US national security requiring the military instrument of power.
- ❖ Sequestration returns in FY18, jeopardizing the Army's ability to support the National Military Strategy

Support of the President's Budget moderates the risks of current threats to US National Security
