FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Unmanned Aerial System goes down in Grafenwoehr Training Area

GRAFENWOEHR, Germany (May 2, 2016) - A U.S. Army unmanned aerial system, RQ-7 Shadow, went down May 2, at approximately 1400 in the Grafenwoehr Training Area during a training mission.

The UAS stayed within the established boundaries of the training area at all times. There was no damage to personnel or property, other than to the UAS itself. The extent of the damage to the UAS is still unknown.

The UAS belongs to the 1st Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division, part of the Army's Regionally Allocated Forces for U.S. Army Europe.

The incident is under investigation.
