

New High-Tech Speed Traps on German Autobahns

IAW German media, new high-tech speed traps are being introduced on Autobahns in Bavaria.

Other German states, including Rheinland-Pfalz, have been using this new technology for a while.

The new speed traps are integrated with signs across the Autobahn or in gray poles next to the road, and almost invisible.

They no longer emit a visible flash, so drivers will not know they were flashed until they receive the letter in the mail weeks later.

Maximum Allowed Speed is 80 km/h
